

Fraternity Elects McCaskill As N.C. State Director

Reginald D. McCaskill was recently elected the new North Carolina State Director of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc. at the North Carolina State Conference in Charlotte. McCaskill is very excited about his new post. His goals for Sigma in the state is to be a positive and proactive force in the African-American community by providing itself as a vehicle of reinvestment and to maintain the positive relationship with young African-American males in our community through the Sigma Beta Club. Reginald's a 1985 graduate of Winston-Salem State University. He is married to Aimee Z. McCaskill and has one son Christian Alexander McCaskill.

McCaskill is employed by the City of Winston-Salem (Workforce Development Department) as a Job Training Specialist. His position specialize in youth development.

Reginald is a very active member of the new Alpha Alpha Gamma Sigma Alumni Chapter of Winston-Salem where he is a charter member and was president for the last two years. He is a member of the Cleveland Ave. Christian Church where he is the director of the Youth and Adult Choirs.

Gaines Recognized by the Boy Scouts of America

Clarence E. "Bighouse" Gaines was recognized with the Boy Scouts of America's highest national honor for service to youth. The Silver Buffalo, during their May national meeting at the Opryland Hotel in Tennessee.

As one of only nine Silver Buffalo recipients nation wide for 1994, Gaines was recognized for his life-long service to young people through his tenure as Winston-Salem State University head basketball coach from 1946-1993, and through service to youth in many other areas, in both athletics and community service.

The award, which was established in 1925, is Scouting's highest commendation of the invaluable contributions that outstanding Americans make to youth on a national scale both independent of, or directly through, the Boy Scouts of America.

Gaines is only the eight North Carolinian to receive the Silver Buffalo in it 69 year history, and shares the honor with other great Americans that include past President, military heroes, sports stars and civic and religious leaders.

Gaines was presented with the Silver Buffalo by Boy Scout of America President John L. Clendenin and Chief Scout Jere Ratcliff.
