Employment/Recruitment Manager

"Anyone can have a career in healthcare. You just need the desire and the drive to make it happen."

Do you have what it takes for a career in health care?

◆ Academic record

Grades, extracurricular activities and even attendance really do count. A heavy diet of science and math courses for future doctors, nurses and lab technicians. Lots of English, typing and organizational skills for clerical positions.

◆ Self-image

Be neat. Dress professionally. Be on time for interviews.

◆ Positive attitude and excellent work ethic

The right attitude towards work will take you far.

◆ Sincere desire to care for people

Choose healthcare because you genuinely like helping people -- not because of the salaries.

◆ Willingness to investigate career opportunities

Take the time to find out the education and skills needed for the job that interests you.
