RAAF to host 12th Annual Military Ball

The Retirees Association of the Armed Forces will be hosting the Twelfth Annual Military Ball on Saturday June 15 at the Radisson Marquee Hotel in Winston-Salem. We are an organization of retired Armed Forces personnel from the city and surrounding areas who promote fraternalism and brotherhood.

and support the Constitution of the United States of America and the Sovereign State of North Carolina. Each member of the organization has completed at least 20 years (retired and honorable of service in the Armed forces of the United States of America) We strive to faithfully serve God and our community. Once a year our organization comes together with military retirees from the cities of Greensboro, Durham, Goldsboro and Richmond, Va., to address issues of concern within our communities and ways of enriching the life experience of our youth.

National Women of Achievement sponsor tea

The Clemmons Chapter of National Women of Achievement sponsored a Calendar Tea as part of their Youth Scholarship Initiative. The tea was held at the Winston-Salem Urban League, with 70 people in attendance.

Youth and teen achievers were the main attraction on the program with achievers Jamina Johnson and Chavala Harris singing and rendering piano selections. Tarance and Terron Agnew were young actors in a drama presentation depicting the "Young Life of Martin Luther King." Achiever Cathany Robinson interpreted a poem by Sojourner Truth, "Ain't I a Woman," and Louise Davis entertained us with her rendition of "I ain't Dead Yet."

Achiever Jimmie Sudter capped off the event by involving the audience in a musical round "Make New Friends But Keep the Old; One is Silver and the Other Gold." Clemmons chapter achievers decorated their tables in the fashion, style or commemorative theme of a particular month to which they had been assigned. The judges, Ach. Betty Johnson, from the Pfafftown Chapter, Evelyn Agnew, Elizabeth Jones, Shirley Cheeks and Gail Foster selected the winning tables based on specific criteria. First place was achiever Joanne Agnew, whose month was January. Agnew's theme was a Salute to Martin Luther King bringing in the new year. Second place went to Ricky Wilson and Brenda Colter who used the December Christmas theme. Cathany Robinson took third place with a summer theme taken from the song "June is Busting Out All Over."

Clemmons Chapter NWOA officers include achievers G. Jimmie Sudter, president; Joann Agnew, 1st vice president; Pamela Dockery-Howard, secretary; Julia Banks, treasurer; Brenda Galloway, 2nd vice president; Shirley Eton, youth advisor; and Marilyn Richards, reporter. Other achievers participating in this fund raiser were Shirley Bishop, Maxwell Grier, Velma Hawkins, Gloria Jones, Maxine Lindsay, Betty Pinkney and Octavia Thorton.

Area resident to attend Legislators' School at WCU

Makayla Dixon, daughter of Shirley Dixon of Winston-Salem and Raphael Dixon of Goldsboro, N.C., has been selected to attend the Legislators' School for Youth Leadership Development at Western Carolina University. She attends Northwest Middle School and is a rising ninth-grader.

Makayla Dixon

The Legislators' School for Youth Leadership Development offers some 300 rising eighth-through 12th-graders an opportunity to develop skills in leadership, critical thinking and communication. Located on the campus of Western Carolina University, the three-week residential program utilizes the cultural and recreational resources of WCU and the setting adjacent to the Great Smoky Mountains

National Park. It is operated in two sessions, June 22 through July 12 (eighth- and ninth-graders) and July 14 through August 3 (10th- through 12th-graders), by WCU's Office for Rural Education.

During their stay, students participate in academic and special interest courses in photography, journalism, computers, art, outdoor recreation/education activities and other topics. Community service work and discussions about current issues, led by state and regional leaders, are important aspects of the program. It is funded by the General Assembly. A similar school operates at East Carolina University.
