

Make Planning Your Next Meeting Jennifer's Responsibility.

And You Take All the Credit.

Don't worry, Jennifer won't mind. Whether planning a high school reunion or a professional convention, she's used to making the organizers look good and the meeting proceed nearly effortlessly.

Jennifer is manager of convention sales for the Winston-Salem Convention and Visitors Bureau and a member of the National Coalition of Black Meeting Planners. She can help you in big ways and small – from taking you on a tour of the city to see hotels, venues and attractions, to providing a reliable list of suppliers, to putting you in touch with other members of our staff, who can help with media relations, hospitality and more.

So call 728.4209 now to discuss your next meeting. Just ask for Jennifer.

Wouldn't you like your next meeting or conference to be in your hometown? It can be. Whether your meeting is for a small association or a large corporation, think Winston-Salem – and the Winston-Salem Convention and Visitors Bureau.
