

Dellabrook Presbyterian Church to celebrate its 45th anniversary

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Dellabrook Presbyterian Church, 115 Dellabrook Road, invites the public to join in the celebration of its 45th anniversary at the 11 o'clock service on Sunday, Oct. 21. The guest minister will be Pastor Moses L. Edwards Sr., pastor of Ephesus Seventh-day Adventist Church. The service will be followed by a potluck dinner. Rev. Dr. Carlton A.G. Eversley is the pastor.

Edwards graduated from Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala., with a degree in theology and social work. He received a master of divinity degree from Andrews University in Berrien Springs, Mich. He has worked as a hospital chaplain and a prison chaplain, and has pastored churches in North and South Carolina. He is a stewardship specialist, and marriage and family counselor. He is currently a candidate in a doctorate of ministry program.

Dellabrook Presbyterian is a small, family-oriented church that has a 45-year history of service to the community. The church's purpose statement reflects the source of its commitment as being called by God to educate people to discover God's purpose for their lives, empower people to manifest the glory of Jesus Christ, embrace African and African-American heritage, and engage, as the Holy Spirit leads, in ministries that seek justice, health and free-

The church has acted on these ideals through various programs and activities. Over the years, the church has been active in such community concerns as NAACP Education Caucus, the Civilian Police Review Board, the Darryl Hunt Defense Committee, Winston-Salem/Forsyth County School Board issues and the anti-apartheid movement.

The church has worked to serve the community through an after-school tutoring program, Students Making a Real Transformation (SMART), a day-care center, and ecumenical efforts such as the Resurrection Day Camp and Vacation Bible School. The church has also been involved in the Presbyterian Interracial Dialogue from its inception.

The church offers a series of three courses for new members and the public focusing on Biblical Faith and Black Americans, Black and Presbyterian, and Disciplines of the Spirit. The church has also designed a Rites of Passage program for middle and high school students that includes those classes and a section on human sexuality from a biblical perspective. The Rites of Passage program lasts 18 months and culminates in a program in which graduates project their plans for five, 10 and 15 years into the future.

Dellabrook hopes that everyone will come on Oct. 21 and help celebrate the history and heritage of the church. For directions, call 725-4274.

New Hope AME Zion Church to celebrate Family and Friends Day

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Rev. and Mrs. Alvin E Damon of New Hope AME Zion Church, 7000 Shallowford Road in Lewisville, invite your fellowship in the celebration of the church's annual Family and Friends Day on Oct. 21. The pastor and members are planning a glorious day of praising the Lord with family members and friends. We solicit your prayers.

The day will begin with our very own pastor, Alvin E.

Damon, bringing the 11 a.m. message.

After being fed with the word from a man of God, guests, members and friends will enjoy a feast that has been prepared by the women of this great church. It will be served around 1:30 p.m. At 4 p.m., New Hope will receive Rev. Dr. Bernard Sullivan with his choir and congregation from St. Stephens AME Zion Church in Gastonia for the afternoon service.

Minister Laney will speak at Women's Day 2001 at Mount Zion Baptist Church

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Minister Bonnie Ruth Laney, an associate pastor at Mount Zion Baptist Church in Winston-Salem, will speak at Mount Zion's Women's Day 2001 at 11 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 21.

She was licensed to preach, at Mount Zion, Aug. 15, 1999.

Laney was the first female to receive a license in the 111-year history of the church. She is a native of Whiteville, N.C., the daughter of the late Joseph C. and Willie Belle Troy. Laney is married to Edward C. Laney Sr., and the mother of Charles Jr., Charlene and the grandmother of Breona Noel.

Minister Laney earned a certificate in biblical studies from Bethel Bible School, a bachelor's degree from Salem College, and currently attends Shaw University Divinity School. She serves as chairman of the Executive Board for the Women's Auxiliary to the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention; the executive director at Alpha Pregnancy Support, Lexington, N.C.; and director of the young adult singles ministry at Mount Zion.

She was involved in several ministries before attending Mount Zion. She was a board member and youth coordinator at the Eastern Baptist Association; volunteer at the YWCA; and president of the General Missionary Society, Mount Lebanon Baptist Church in New York. She is the founder of Laney Associates, Image Consultant Services, and was employed as director of health education at Salem Pregnancy Care in Winston-Salem.

She has received various honors and awards, including the YWCA 1991 Woman of Distinction Award, the U.S. National Achievement Collegiate Award, Pi Gamma Mu International Social Science Honor Society member, vice president of the Mortar Board, and the Senior Class of 1988, recipient of the Martha Hinkle Floor Prime Times Scholarship and Academic Achievement, at Shaw University Divinity School.

'Empowering the 21st Century Woman' National Conference to be held Oct. 26-27

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The National Mass Women's Network is sponsoring a national conference that centers around "Empowering the 21st Century Woman." This year's activities include workshops and talks that will address the needs of today's woman - whatever her age - and her multifaceted lifestyle.

The conference will be held Oct. 26-27 on the campus of St. Peter's World Outreach Center, 3683 Old Lexington Road in Winston-Salem. This is the National Mass Woman's Network's second conference.

Workshops include: Living Single; The Successful Homemaker; The Professional Woman; Eating Healthy on the Run; Life After Retirement; The Blended Family; Teen Workshops; Financial Management and others. Special guest speakers include Donna Houpe of Kansas City, Mo., and Sarah Utterbach of Nanuet, N.Y.

"We are expecting 1,500 ladies this year," said Gwendolyn Dervin, director of the National Mass Women's Network. That is three times last year's attendance, which exceeded 500. There will also be space for 100 vendor booths. Conference registration is $35 for adults and $15 for youths, and includes meals, admittance to all the workshops and to the business/vendor area. Vendor booths are available for $100.

This event is sponsored by St. Peter's Church and World Outreach Center and the Satellite Network Church Alliance. Dr. James C. and Joyce Hash are the founders.

Call (toll-free) 1-866-JC-HASH-1 or 650-0200 for more information and to register.
