

Mt. Sinai Full Gospel Deliverance Center holds youth summit

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Members of the youth department of Mt. Sinai Full Gospel Deliverance Center - 2721 Manchester Street, where Pastor Yvonne H. Hines is senior presbyter - went to a summit to proclaim that they are "shackle free."

The summit, under the direction of Youth Minister Tamarian McIntyre, convened July 12-14 with power-packed services on the thematic emphasis Shackle Free from Galatians 5:1.

Rebekah L. Hines presided over the Friday night service and was assisted by youths (Jessica Lowery read Scripture, Cedarius Orr gave the invocation; and Ian Julian gave the welcome). The Spartan Spirituals from Mt. Tabor High School and the St. John United Holy Church Youth Choir sang, and the Sinai Steppers showed their exciting footwork.

Youthful and dynamic Elder Devin Pickett of St.

John United Holy Church in Burgaw, N.C., delivered the sermon. Pickett told the youths that "none can put you into bondage except that you allow them. If you trust in God, your shackles are released and you are free, but you are not free to do as you please. You must submit to God and those in authority over you."

Saturday was an all-day outreach for the youths, and they later communed at a picnic.

Sunday morning, Tiffany Pankey stated the thematic emphasis for the youth summit. The summit was blessed with the voices of the Mt. Sinai Youth Choir and the straightforward teaching of Hal Hiatt, the Central Area representative of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Hiatt spoke from Matthew 6:19-24 and shared these principles: the things of the world are temporary and those of God are eternal; if you are in darkness, the only escape is through Christ; your treasure is where your heart is, and you cannot serve God and the world system.

After the morning service, Hiatt entertained questions from the youths involved or thinking of becoming involved in athletics.

The summit concluded with the Sunday evening service. Jason L. Hines presided, with youth support from Thomas Poole, who read Scripture; LaTonya Pankey, who gave the invocation; and Aaron Hughes, who gave the welcome. The Youth Dance Troupe did a liturgical dance, declaring war on the devil.

Mt. Sinai was blessed with the vocal ministry of songstress Stephanie White, which led to the climax of the evening - the message of Elder Charles Johnson from The River, of Raleigh. Johnson enthusiastically preached that being shackle-free is being free from other people's opinions. He referred to Nehemiah 2:20; 1:2-3. He also said that what God is doing in your life is between you and God.

After the message, Pastor Yvonne H. Hines gave remarks and the benediction to close the youth summit. The youths left the service knowing that in His power they can be shackle-free.

Choir to hold first live recording

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

On July 27, the mass choir of Uncompromising Word Fellowship Church will hold its first live recording in concert. The CD is titled "The Hour Has Come and Now Is."

This project is the vision of Pastors Bobbie and Gerdine Jones and Minister of Music Anthony G. Jones.

Pastor Bobbie Jones said, "The purpose of a recording is not for the ministry to boast that we have made a CD, but God has commissioned the music ministry of UWF to not only spread the Gospel through song, but to transfer the glory of God that saturates our services." Jones, writer and producer of 12 songs on the project, said, "The songs on this project were birthed out of experience. Some songs were born out of head-to-head battles with the enemy while others were inspired from intimate encounters with the Holy Spirit."

This project includes high-powered songs of praise, prophetic songs of praise, prophetic songs of encouragement, love songs of worship to the Holy Spirit. It promises to have something for every believer to be enriched, inspired, and to enjoy.

This historic event will begin at 6 p.m. Doors will open promptly at 5:30 p.m. All seats are free and open to the public. Uncompromising Word Fellowship is at 2800 E. Sprague Street.

Church supplies more than food

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Not everyone has the luxury of waking up in the morning, deciding what to eat or even when to eat it. There are human beings that wake up in the morning with no idea where their next meal is coming from, but Goler Memorial AME Zion Church has decided to stand in the gap for those public entities that do not cater to the homeless and needy.

The King's Table is a breakfast served every Saturday at 7 a.m. to homeless and hungry people in Winston-Salem. The vision was given to Pastor Seth O. Lartey after Goler's soup kitchen ended about a year ago. As always, though, when God speaks, people and things begin to move. In this case, people are moving to feed men, women, and children that might not otherwise have a meal.

The King's Table provides a free, hot breakfast to those who desire to come to the corner of Seventh Street and Patterson Avenue. The menu usually includes eggs, bacon, fish, doughnuts, hash browns, coffee, tea, juice, or any food that cook Carl Black is blessed with to prepare a healthful meal. Volunteers help serve the meal that ensures there will be a full stomach by the time the guest leaves the basement of Goler Memorial. Every attempt possible is made to try to keep in touch with the persons that do come to the breakfast so that other accommodations can be made for them. Some are in need of clothes, among other necessities.

Matthew 4:4 says, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." Not only do the homeless and hungry have the opportunity to fill up with nutrients, but they are replenished with God's word before every meal. This fact distinguishes Goler's King's Table from other soup kitchens and shelters. Oftentimes, those who attend, welcome the spiritual uplifting just as they welcome the good food. Thus far, about 50 people have been making their way to hear ministers speak the Gospel, which gives strength to continue the path that God has planned for each of us in life. Those being fed do not just come eat and listen; many of them offer to help clean tables, empty trash and clean the floor.

One gentleman said he welcomed the opportunity to fellowship with others. He emphatically expressed that he enjoyed talking to someone that would listen. The conversation reinforces that all people are equal and deserve a chance to have the best in life.

The King's Table provides a place where the needy can come and feel good about themselves and be encouraged to give life and God another try.

Ultimately, it is an opportunity for those who are a little more fortunate to help other people going through storms in their lives feel like kings.

Church holds basketball tourney, raises money for scholarship fund

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Word of Truth Ministries sponsored a three-on-three basketball tournament July 13 at St. Peter's World Outreach Family Enrichment Center. The tournament proceeds will benefit the Word of Truth Before and After School Scholarship Fund. Three scholarships will be awarded annually.

Word of Truth was recently awarded a grant through the Winston-Salem Foundation to start a school-age care program.

Participants in the tournament included youths from area churches and summer programs. The winners were: Team Slade (6-9), Word of Truth (12-14) and Word of Truth (14-16).

All of the participants were awarded medallions, and a trophy was awarded to each championship team.

Smith Stokes Chrysler-Dodge-Jeep and Smith Stokes Chevrolet-Cadillac-Buick in Reidsville sponsored this event.
