

4th Annual Bingo for Turkeys at Sims Rec Center is a success

Winners pose with their birds.

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The recent 14th Annual Bingo for Turkeys was an outstanding at the William C. Sims, Sr. Recreation Center starting at 5 p.m. Parents and children were happy to win a free turkey at no cost to enter the contest. "Everybody deserves the right to have a turkey for Thanksgiving when jobs are closing on families every day," said center supervisor Ben Piggott. "We would like to thank Woodrow Davis, the manager at the Food Lion on Waughtown; Gail Fisher, manager at Church's Chicken on Waughtown; Winston-Salem Recreation and Parks Department and Home Moravian Church for being sponsors for this loving event to serve the community," said Piggott.
