Get Ready for Summer Reading at the Library!

The Forsyth County Public Library has something for everyone this summer including programs, story times and prizes! Kids will count the number of hours that they read or are read to by an adult. After eight hours of reading, they win a prize bag. Adults and teens simply write down titles of books read and are then eligible for gift cards from Borders and other prizes. In addition to great prizes for reading, all of the Forsyth County Public Libraries have programs for the whole family! Best of all, every program is FREE!

The kids' band, Big Bang Boom, will be touring all of the libraries this summer. This parent-friendly band for kids plays classic kid tunes as well as original tunes. Get ready to rock!

Featured performers for the whole family come from the Museum of Anthropology, SciWorks, the NC Zoo, in addition to these terrific performers: Snakes Alive!, The Balloon Lady, Zelnik the Magician, African Storytellers, Birdman Dave and Ranger Rick.

Teens will experience a Metamorphosis @ Your Library with book clubs, jewelry-making, gaming tournaments, movies and much more!

The Summer Reading program starts June 14th and ends July 25th. Visit your favorite library for a complete calendar of the events happening at all Forsyth County Public Library locations.

It all starts with the BIG KICK-OFF. This year's theme for kids is Catch the Reading Bug. The whole family is invited to attend any or all of the kick-offs at three locations on June 14th. We will be at Walkertown Library at 10:00 AM, Central Library at 12:00 PM and, finally, at Lewisville Library at 2:00 PM. We will have skits, games, music and tons of fun!

Lookin' for Something Good To Read?

Have you plowed through everything your favorite author ever wrote and want a new author to read? Are you a teen who likes historical novels but doesn't know how to find them? Have you just discovered a terrific children's series and want to read all the books in order? Do you want to know which picture books have won Parents' Choice awards? Or are you simply looking for something good to read?

Of course, your local librarian is an excellent advisor, but what if a librarian isn't available? Maybe there's a line at the checkout desk and you don't want to wait...or you're at home, not in the library

NovelList is an online tool that will help you find fiction. You can enter authors, titles, subjects, genres, locations, time periods, characters, anything you like. You can also select specific reading levels: adults, teens, older kids, or younger kids. You'll see recommendations for similar books, the books' covers, synopses, reviews, awards won and publication information, and more. NovelList also offers discussion guides, articles, author biographies, newsletters, and more for those who want to go beyond the boundaries of the book itself.

What Do I Read Next is another database that can help you, and it includes both fiction and nonfiction recommendations. As in NovelList, you can search in many ways, and What Do I Read Next has an extensive variety of awards lists, "best of" lists, bestseller lists, and librarians' recommendations. Be sure to take a peek at the "Monthly Highlights," too. There, you'll find profiles of new and exciting books, interesting historical facts about the month, and the latest award winners.

Let NovelList and What Do I Read Next help you find something great to tuck into your vacation bookbag! Just go to www.forsythlibrary.org, click on "Online Resources" and look under "Books and Reading."
