CHRONICLE STAFF REPORT

The Livingstone College Athletic Department is proud to announce Angelyne E. Brown as the new head basketball coach for the Lady Blue Bears.

The announcement comes after an extensive search for a candidate.

Brown began her coaching career in 1992 at Tuskegee University. She spent two years at Tuskegee as the assistant women's basketball coach, where she helped lead her team to consecutive SIAC West Division Championships.

In 1994, Brown took over as the head women's basketball coach for Clark Atlanta University where she spent eight seasons. Brown had eight consecutive SIAC Tournaments appearances and her team captured the SIAC Championship in the 1998-1999 season. She also served as interim Athletic Director at Clark Atlanta. Brown has also made coaching stops at Stillman College (2006) and Morgan State University (2002-2005), where she worked as the head coach.

The 1996 United States Olympic Basketball Team named Brown as a site supervisor and that same year assisted the American Basketball League (ABL) during try-outs as assistant director.

The Atlanta native earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Physical Education from Clark College. In addition, she has earned the Master of Arts in Education Leadership degree from Argosy University.

ACC honor for Wake's Adams

CHRONICLE STAFF REPORT

Wake Forest senior defender Lyle Adams was named ACC Men's Soccer Player of the Week, as announced by the league office on Tuesday morning.

Adams becomes the second straight Demon Deacon to win the award after fellow senior Marcus Tracy received the honor last week.

Adams enjoyed a successful two game last weekend in the Deacon Fall Classic. Against UCLA, the Orlando, Fla., native scored the game-winning goal on a header in the third minute. Off a deflected shot by Evan Brown, Adams jumped and headed the ball into the net from seven yards out to put the Deacons on top. The goal was Adams' first game-winning goal of the season.

Against South Carolina on Sunday, Adams made a game-saving play late in the contest. With the Deacons up 1-0 in the 86th minute, Stephen Morrissey attempted a header from five yards out that appeared to be heading into the goal to tie the game at one. Adams was able to stop the ball from going into the net, clearing the ball off the line and sending it away from the net.

Through the first four games of the season, Adams is second on the team in goals with two and is tied for second on the team in points with four.

Wake Forest controlled the game statistically, out-shooting South Carolina 12-4, including a 5-2 advantage in shots on goal.

Wake had four corner kicks, while the Gamecocks did not take a corner. Adams and three other Wake Forest players were named to the all-tournament team. Sam Cronin, Akira Fitzgerald and Tracy represented the Deacs on the all-tournament squad.

Wake Forest is back in action on Saturday as the team opens the Atlantic Coast Conference portion of its schedule. The Deacons face Clemson at 7 p.m. at Spry Stadium.
