Zeta Amicae gives back

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

In recent months, the Zeta Amicae Chapter of Rho Zeta Chapter has contributed 20 gift bags to Today's Woman Health Center, containing items for patients who may not be able to afford personal necessities. Today's Woman's goal is to reduce infant mortality and premature births, especially within the city's African-American community.

The ladies of Zeta Amicae also contributed 23 pairs of eye glasses to the Winston-Salem Lions club. The glasses will be given to the people throughout the United States and other countries. The project was part of the Z-hope (Helping other people to excel) project.

Omegas embrace social action role

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

November denotes a very special time for members of Psi Phi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. In conjunction with taking time to remember the founders of the fraternity, members of the chapter's Social Action Committee begin to organize several efforts to provide food assistance during the holiday season to families in need. The committee was reminded of the importance of their task this year due to the effect the economy has had on local neighbors and friends.

Social Action Chairmen Brother Mark Oliver and Brother Kenneth Racker coordinated efforts to purchase and collect food items to be distributed during Thanksgiving. Brother Oliver stated that he was overwhelmed by the show of support from the chapter members and others in the community.

The committee is also responsible for organizing the preparation of food baskets that are delivered by members to widows of deceased brothers and also to some brothers who have been sick during the year. Psi Phi Chapter members say they embrace the opportunity to show their gratitude to those that have supported their most important endeavors throughout the year. Basileus John P. Card Jr. stressed the responsibility that brothers have to remain connected with loved ones our deceased brethren leave behind and to brothers who may no longer attend meetings due to declining health.

The chapter also held a gospel concert on Dec. 12 at Shiloh Baptist Church to raise funds for its college scholarship program. The event was well-attended, and the contributions of those attending helped make this inaugural event a success. The Basileus, on behalf of each member, wishes to thank everyone who performed and/or provided his or her wonderful talent to assist the chapter in this most noteworthy endeavor. Brother Eddie Bines was instrumental in coordinating the talent for this event.

The next social action project planned by the chapter is its Community Action Coat Drive. All items collected will be distributed to the homeless. In the past, this event has experienced tremendous support from the community. It is the hope of the committee that the dismal economy will not prevent a successful turnout this year.
