

Celebrating History in the Making.

Salem Academy and College is proud to celebrate the historic inauguration of the 44th president of the United States, Barack Obama.

We're also proud to be making history of our own. Founded in 1772, Salem is the oldest continually operating educational institution for women in the country, admitting its first African-American student in the 1700s and Native Americans in the 1800s. Today we continue to offer a personalized, affordable and progressive education on our historic campus in downtown Winston-Salem through these opportunities:

- Salem Academy, a college preparatory day and boarding high school for girls in grades 9-12 with a 100% college acceptance rate
- Salem College, offering more than 30 majors and 26 minors to women as well as the Center for Women Writers, the Center for Women in Science and Mathematics and the Center for Women in Business and Economics
- Teacher Education and Graduate Studies, offering coeducational master's degree programs in education as well as teacher licensure
- The Flier Center for Adult Education, offering degree-granting programs to men and women ages 23 and up as well as personal enrichment courses to community members of all ages
