

Sorority's recent youth symposium was a hit

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE
The Theta Mu Sigma Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority Inc. had another successful annual Youth Symposium on Saturday, March 21 at the Kernersville Library.

The symposium focused on teenage pregnancy and prevention in accordance with the sorority's national theme, "H3: It's All About Me - Healthy Choices, Healthy Living, Healthy Generations." Speakers included two people involved with the Forsyth County Detention Center's "Think Smart" program, Shekia Wilburn, a case worker who was a teenage mother, and Jennifer Fogle of the Salem Pregnancy Center.

Teens in attendance were also given information about seat-belt safety and money-saving and banking tips, including guidelines to start a student checking account.

The young attendees included members of the Winston Lake Family YMCA Black Achievers and the LINKS programs. The chapter is extending gratitude to Chick-fil-A of High Point; Domino's Pizza of Kernersville, the Winston-Salem Urban League and Food Lion of Kernersville for their contributions to the symposium.

Upcoming chapter events include kick-off of the "Royal Blue and Gold Raffle" on April 4, the annual March for Babies (Walk

Womanhood celebrated by area Zetas

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority Inc. recently hosted a joint Finer Womanhood Observance at Williams Memorial CME Church in High Point, under the theme "Finer Womanhood in a Year of Change."

Five chapters took part in the celebration: Beta Nu Zeta, Nu Tau Zeta, Rho Zeta, Theta Eta Zeta and Delta Kappa Zeta. The guest speaker was Dr. Barbara C. Moore, the 22nd International Grand Basileus. Moore defined "finer" as,

"accurate and precise judgment, exceptional character and superior in quality." She described womanhood as "a condition of being a woman who shares the responsibility to serve community needs."

Dr. Moore charged Zetas to return to the simple basics of decent dress, good language and respect for self and others and to reach out to young people.

A special highlight of the event was the excellent care given by the men of Williams Memorial CME Church. The women were driven to the door of the church by the men and escorted to their seats. Each chapter presented awards for service. Sorors Neisha Daniels and Aisha Washington were the award recipients of Nu Tau Zeta, based in Kernersville.

Daniels won the Quiet Storm Award, The Winston-Salem State University graduate serves faithfully as representative of Nu Tau Zeta Chapter on the Winston-Salem/Forsyth Pan Hellenic Council. The Zeta of the Year Award went to Washington, a North Carolina State University graduate who works at the Pepsi Bottling Group. Washington was honored for being "an all-around personality" who actively takes care of Zeta business year round.
