National Women of Achievement hold regional conference

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The 19th National Women of Achievement Southeast Regional Conference was held on Saturday, April 25 at Mount Zion Baptist Church.

Achiever Vera Stepp was in charge of the planning of the conference. The Regional Director of the Southeast Region is Achiever Yalarie Harris. Achiever Shirley Eaton is the Assistant Regional Director. Achiever Helen Alexander is the National First Vice President of the organization and is also the President of the Queen City chapter of National Women of Achievement. Several other NWOA members played a role in conference, which featured a workshop on "Politeness, Refinement, Order, Tact, Objective, Courtesy, Obligation and Line Up," a panel on women's health issues, and the presentation of cultural arts awards to local youths, Youth Achievers. The contest winners included Taylor Brandon, Ida Edwards, Jordan Reid, Aston King, Evyon Durham, Ruth King, Douglas Edwards Jr., Jordan Reid, Taylor Brandon and Kenneth Anthony. Scholarships were presented to Avis Hall and Joseph Bryant II and both plan to attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Youth Achievers donate food they collected to a representative from a local nonprofit agency.

Local students earn McDonald's scholarships

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

On Tuesday, May 5 in Greensboro, $40,000 in scholarships were awarded to 40 Triad-area students from Ronald McDonald House Charities recognizing outstanding academic and community achievement. The local scholars are among 200 students from across the Carolinas who received college scholarships from the RMHC of North Carolina.

"McDonald's is very committed to education and as local business owners, it's an honor to help send some of our local students to college," said McDonald's owner/operator Ken Manning who has McDonald's in Biscoe and Troy. "Every one of them has an amazing story that is focused on getting a good education. They've accomplished so much to be so young, and we're excited about helping them achieve even greater success in college."

Scholarship recipients were chosen based on their leadership skills, academic success, community involvement, financial need and a personal essay describing how they intend to make a difference in society.

This year's Forsyth County winners are: Sara Ahmed of Winston-Salem (Forsyth Tech Community College); Younus Ahmed of Winston-Salem (Forsyth Tech Community College); Patrice Edwards of Greensboro (Winston-Salem State University); Montissa Ellison of Winston-Salem (Forsyth Tech Community College); MariClaudia Herrera of Winston-Salem (Simon G. Atkins High School); Eloisa Jimenez of Winston-Salem (North Forsyth High School); Adam Marchant of Winston-Salem (Forsyth Tech Community College); Patrice Tate of Kernersville (Greensboro College); and Rashad Wilkerson of Winston-Salem (Parkland Magnet High School).
