

Historic Davie County 'colored school' to hold reunion

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The Davie County Training and Central Davie Reunion Committee is asking all former students to join in the Annual School Reunion, which will begin with hospitality and social activities on Friday, June 17 from 7 - 11 p.m. A banquet will take place on Saturday, June 18 at 7 p.m., followed by a dance at 9 p.m. All events will be held at the Village Inn Golf and Conference Center, 6205 Ramada Drive in Clemmons.

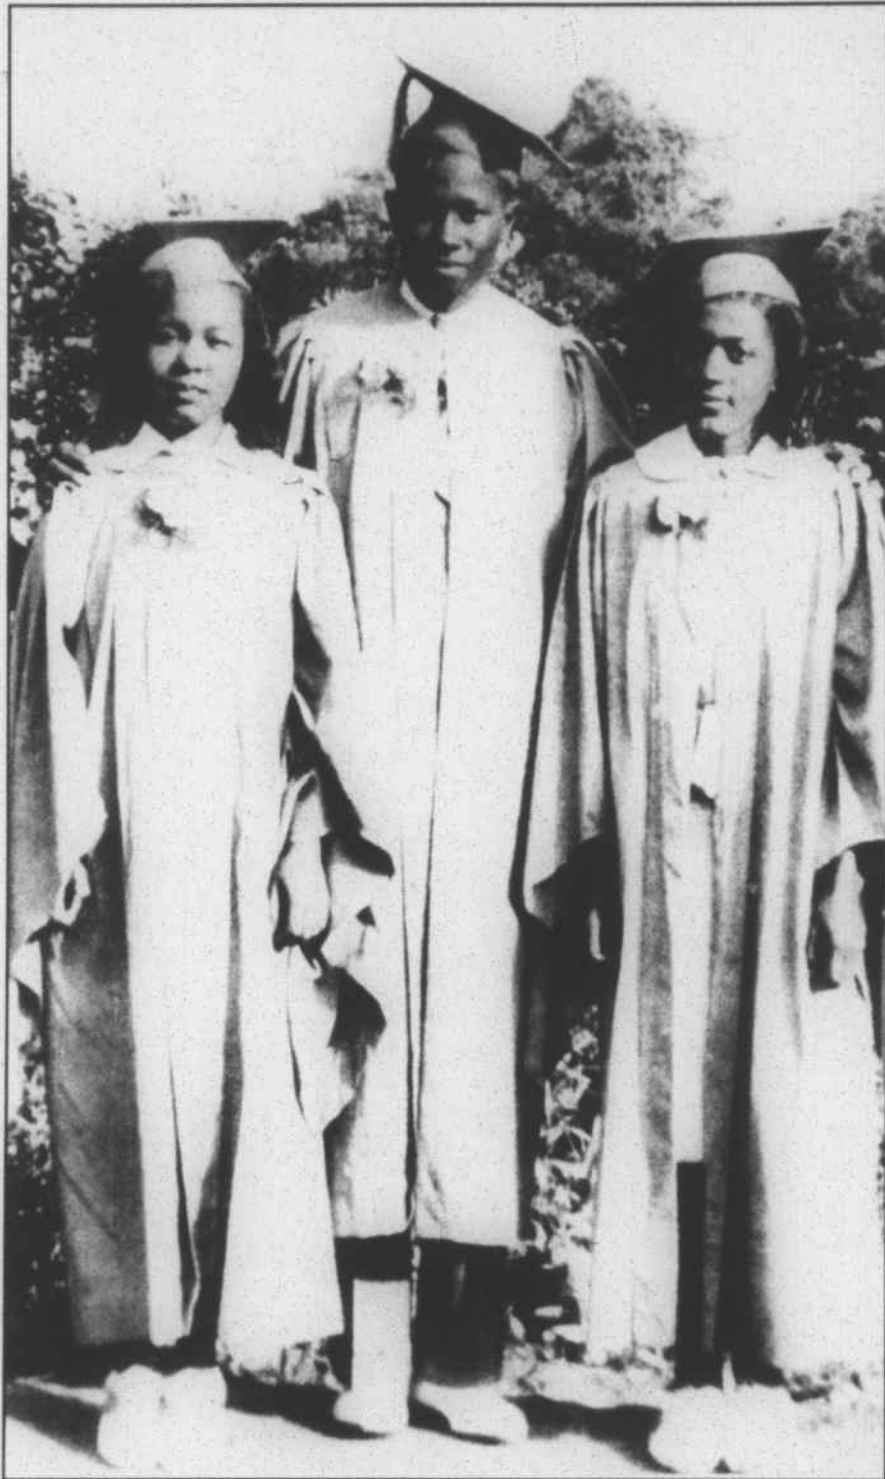

Each year the reunion festivities are directed by the honored 50-year class. So, with this being 2011, the Class of 1961 will direct events. Two important features have been added over the years: the DCTS/CD scholarship, under the administration of the Davie Foundation, and recognition of the oldest living graduate. The Class of 1961 will honor Ida Brown Goolsby of the Class of 1939.

The last class to graduate from the school was the Class of 1967, consequently, alumni will have to think of another way to organize the events after 2017, when the Class of 1967 will be responsible for the reunion.

The school's roots began in 1925, when the Julius Rosenwald Foundation provided the impetus and shared the funding for the construction of the colored school that was then called the Rosenwald School and built on Campbell Road in Davie County. The school was initially for grades 1-8. It had expanded to grades 1-11 by 1934 and to the 12th grade in 1946. The original school burned down in 2002.

Extra curricular activities were limited, books were old and smelly and county and state transportation was not available. These limitations, say alumni, provided a respect for learning and instilled pride.

Alumni were pleased when the Davie County Board of Education saw fit to name a new school gym for Clyde Studevent Jr., a former DCTS student, teacher and coach.

Fashion show to benefit Lupus Foundation of America

CHRONICLE STAFF REPORT

The Triad Chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America is inviting the local community to come out and support Lupus awareness, during the staging of the first-ever Inspirational Flow Charity Fashion Show to benefit the Lupus Foundation of America.

Organizers say the black tie affair, which is slated to be held Thursday, June 16 at the exclusive Revolution Mills Studio in Greensboro, will be an experience that will stimulate all senses of inspiration like no other and a captivating opportunity to educate, enlighten and empower the community about lupus, what it is, what it does and how it affects everyone.

"It's a unique way of really letting people know about lupus," said Ruth Banbury, president of the Triad chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America.

The fashion show was created to challenge other companies, philanthropists and organizations to create more awareness globally about the existence of lupus, and helping to find a cure for it by providing more education and information, as well as hope to all who suffer from this disease. The event is designed to give this silent disease a voice to be heard quickly, so that diagnosis can be determined as early as possible.

Advance tickets are $65 for individuals and $100 for couples, with discounts given for lupus patients.

For more information, visit www.inspirationalflow.com, contact the Triad chapter of the Lupus Foundation of America at (336) 768-1493 or find Inspirational Flow Fashion on Facebook.

EXTENDED REVIEW

The Winston-Salem Urban Area Transportation Advisory Committee, the Piedmont Authority for Regional Transportation and the Winston-Salem Transit Authority have extended the public comment period on the draft 2012-2018 Metropolitan Transportation Improvement Program (MTIP) and the draft Triad Area Conformity Determination Report (CDR)

Incorrect Carbon Monoxide (CO) emissions were entered on the Forsyth County CO Motor Vehicle Emissions Budget (MVEB) Emissions Comparison Summary Table for the 2025 and 2035 analysis years. The Forsyth County CO MVEB Emissions Comparison Summary Table in the Triad Area CDR (page 9) was corrected. The revised Triad Area CDR (dated 6/6/11) is now available for public review at www.DOT.CityofWS.org and at public libraries in Forsyth County and King, each municipal town hall, the N.C.DOT office at 375 Silas Creek Parkway, and the city Department of Transportation, Room 307, 100 E. First St., Winston-Salem.

Only written comments will be accepted. Comments must be received by 5 p.m. Friday, July 8.
