Former ESR client gives back

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Winston Salem resident Herbert Graham – with the help of his sons Marcus and Alessio Graham – generously volunteered his time last week to build a retainer wall at Experiment in Self-Reliance's (ESR's) Spring Street location.

Graham is a former client of ESR, which helps local working low-income and chronically homeless individuals and families. He said volunteering his services was a way to "give back to ESR for everything they've done for me. They helped me at a time when I needed it the most."

Graham even went so far as to purchase some of the supplies for the project himself.

Karen Spaugh, the resident manager at Spring Street facility, remembers when Graham used to be a resident there.

"Mr. Graham was an excellent tenant and a good housekeeper too! I hated to see him go, but we are happy to celebrate in his success," she said.

Graham is now a homeowner and has been employed by the Goler House in Winston Salem for nearly two years.

Wake law students raise money for recreation center

Money will support youth programs at Hanes Hosiery

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

Wake Forest University School of Law and School of Business students recently had their second annual JD/MBA 3 on 3 Basketball Tournament – Hoops & Hearsay – on the school's campus. Law School students Kelly Amell, Nigel Vanderford, Matt Toldero and Matthew McCellan organized the event.

The tournament raised $255 for the Hanes Hosiery Recreation Center. Hanes Hosiery Director/Coach

Art Blevins was delighted and humbled by the kindness. "They're a special group, and I sincerely admire and respect every one of them," said Blevins. "The law students have been helping me here at the center by tutoring and coaching basketball in our youth leagues for seven years now. I'm truly blessed to have their support and friendship."

The money will go to the Hanes Hosiery Youth Fund, which helps buy trophies, jerseys and supplies for kids. The Center has also recently received generous donations from Pam Willard, Tim Bryant and Weston & Associates.

"God has truly blessed me to have wonderful friends to help our kids," says Blevins.
