Alpha Upsilon honors exceptional high school students

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Gamma Phi Delta Sorority, Inc. held its annual Achievers' Banquet on April 27 at the Hawthorne Inn.

Seventeen students from the various high schools were honored before a packed house of Sorors, parents and well-wishers. This year marked the 11th banquet, a tradition spearheaded by Doris Moultry, a retired educator and charter member of Alpha Upsilon. The occasion seeks to honor at least two students from each high school who have been identified by their guidance counselors for maintaining at least a 3.2 GPA and giving unselfishly to their schools and communities.

Those honored this year were: Khadijah Brown of North Forsyth High School, the daughter of Keeva Clark and Joseph Brown; Lexus Byers of East Forsyth, the daughter of Sonya Weaks and George Byers; Victoria Dowell of Winston-Salem Prep, the daughter of Mike and April Dowell; Angel Hornbuckle of Parkland Magnet, the daughter of Vickie Graham and Sheldon Hornbuckle; Jasmine Hughes of Atkins High, the daughter of Monica Hughes and Henry Miller; Gracia Jones of Carver High, the daughter of Walter and Tangela Jones; Genice A. Lane of Mount Tabor, the daughter of Gerald and Jacqueline Lane; Clarielle Marsh of East Forsyth, the daughter of Clarence and Margo Marsh; Kimberly Mayes of East Forsyth, the daughter of Ricky and Tanya

NWOA holds regional conference

SPECIAL TO THE CHRONICLE

The National Women of Achievement, Inc. held its Southeast Regional Conference on April 21 at Friendship Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. The theme of the conference was "The Art of Caring and Sharing in Our Communities, Open Hearts, Open Minds."

Conference participants included Regional Director Shirley Bray Eaton and Achievers Brenda Galloway, Gwendolyn Thompson, Doris Herrell, Jeannette T. Lewis, Manderline Scales, Gwendolyn Clark, Dianne Piggott, Pat Wynn, Beulah L. Bunch and Willie Kennedy.

The Youth Achievers were represented by Youth Achiever Jeannette Stackhouse, and S. Wayne Patterson, the president of the Winston-Salem NAACP, was the guest speaker. He spoke about the importance of improving the educational system. Attorney Yvette Stackhouse, a member of the NWOA Kernersville Chapter, also spoke.

The group also presented two $500 scholarships. The recipients were Youth Achiever Lexis Beyer, who plans to attend Elon College and Youth Achiever Stackhouse. Other Youth Achievers who took part included India Green, Zakgiah Carter and Marina Asuna.
