Sharing 35 Stories to Help Tell Ours

"I am grateful to Hospice & Palliative CareCenter that we were able to fulfill my father's wishes of being at home."
— Vonda Henderson

"I love what I do because I do believe it makes a difference. I feel like I am contributing something to the family and to my patients and it is truly an honor."
— Marketia Street, Hospice Aide

"My first experience with Hospice was with my mother-in-law. My wife continued to care for her at home and became exhausted. It was a great respite to have Hospice."
— Rev. Willard Bass

"Her transition was peaceful. It was beautiful. I was supported by the team at Hospice—and my brother and I both felt like we did the best kindness we could have ever done for her. And it was also the best thing we could do for ourselves."
— Claire McNaught

"Our third son, Jacob, died at birth. Losing our baby was devastating. I went to Hospice for grief counseling. I could share all my crazy thoughts with someone, my counselor—and she didn't think I was crazy. I thank Hospice grief counseling for my sanity... I thank them for helping me be a better mother to my kids... I am still here!"
— Nora Kowalcheck

"The earlier you initiate the discussion, the more important it is for the patient and family. They provide the opportunity to touch people physically and emotionally."
— Allen Chamovitz, MD

"Working with a Hospice counselor really gives me perspective on grief—how to deal with my grief, and how to help my sons, all three of them, who are dealing with the loss of their father in a completely different way."
— Laura Hart McKinny
