Sunday's church service concluded the community outreach weekend. Individuals from the community who came out to Saturday's festivities were invited to attend. During the service, the church raffled off gift cards to those who were in need to assist them with groceries, gas or any bills they were in need of paying. Holy Trinity Pastor Richard Miller delivered the sermon during Sunday's service. His message was "The Spirit of the Lord." He wanted to convey to those in attendance that even though we may not understand what is going on in our lives, God's understanding has no limits.

He further touched on the oppression that every person has to deal with on a daily basis but nothing can separate us from the love of God. He closed with a question of "if God is not getting the glory of your life, what good is it?" After the service, those from the community in attendance were given a box of groceries to take home to assist with any

A lot of people don't know where to start, and this is where we want to teach them how to start their emergency preparedness items in their homes," Morris said. "When they visit each of these 16 booths we have here at the fair, they will get an idea of almost every aspect of being prepared."

Along with showing people what to prepare, they brought in the Lewisville and Clemmons fire departments, a local Boy Scout troop, Forsyth

County Sherriff's Department and the Community Emergency Response Team (C.E.R.T).

The fire department showed how to deal with a house fire along with common household fire hazards such as extension cords. The Boy Scout troop displayed ways to build shelters with available materials. Sgt. Robert Burrow of the Sherriff's Department expressed that the police are there to help and want people to know that the police are good. He said everyone needs to be prepared in case of emergency.

The emergency preparedness specialist for the Lewisville ward of the Church of Latter Day Saints, K.C. Lacoma, said he wants people to leave with ideas of how to make themselves and their families prepared for emergencies and to be aware just in case.

The church not only wants people to be prepared physically, they want them to be prepared religiously as well. Jason Brigg, ward mission leader said, "We want the community to know that we believe in a loving Savior who wants all his children to be happy and would love to share that message with everyone."

is scheduled to attend to discuss fire safety tips and give free tours of its fire truck. For more information or to become a vendor, call 336-788-4330.

So go and run free with the angels,
Dance around the golden clouds.
For the Lord has chosen you to be with him,
And we should feel nothing, but proud
Although he has taken you from us
And our pain a lifetime will last,
But make us glad for the time we did have
Your face will always be hidden,
Deep inside our hearts,
Each precious moment you gave us
Shall never ever depart.
So go and run free with the angels
As they sing so tenderly
And please be sure to tell them
To take good care of you (all) for us.
We miss all of you, so very, very, much.

We the Roseboro-Griffin families are happy that you have understood our loss and demonstrated your friendship. You have felt our loss and offered your prayers.

You have seen our need and rendered your love. We are eternally grateful for your gifts of friendship, prayers and love during this difficult period of love and loss.
