DR. LEWIS TELLS OF THE COLLEGE
Spoke at Methodist Protestant Church in Interest of M. P. School

An encouraging audience greeted Dr. T. H. Lewis at the First M. P. church last night in his address on denominational schools, in which he made a plea for the Methodist Protestant College at Westminster, Md. The college is the leading educational institution of the denomination. It is 50 years old, and has an enrollment of 230 students. The college property is valued at $406,000.

The value placed upon the institution by the State of Maryland is shown in the fact that the State appropriates $14,800 in scholarships to the college, and that it also gave $13,000 towards the erection of the new classroom building costing $50,000 and known as the T. H. Lewis building, being named after Dr. T. H. Lewis, who has been president of the institution for more than 25 years.

Dr. Lewis has put the very best years of his life into the institution, having stayed right with it notwithstanding the fact that he has received flattering offers a number of times. Just recently, he was elected president of the University of Maryland, but declined the honor to remain with the institution that he has had so large a part in building up.

In his message last night, Dr. Lewis made a strong plea for the institution, saying that the North Carolina Conference give the college its greatest possible support both in money and in students. It is the largest educational enterprise of the Methodist Protestant denomination, and the president requests and pleads for the hearty possible support. It is now touring the State in an endeavor to arouse greater interest in the work of the college.

He leaves this morning on the 11:30 train for Greensboro, where he will speak in the M. P. church Sunday. He will speak at other points in the State this week.

ABOUT WOMEN

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, claims that only 1 per cent of the women in the United States are suffragists. Five Mexican women are now in the United States, where they were sent by President Carranza to study our system of compulsory and democratic education. Manila has no woman's club. Pennsylvania has over 600,000 working women. California has a professional woman boxer.

Mixed marriages are forbidden in Washington. Indiana has over 30,000 women employed in its industries. Russian Cosack boots for women are all the style now. Anti-suffragists in the United States number nearly 200,000. Oregon has two women contractors and two female stone cutters. The University of Pittsburgh will have a course in motherhood. New Mexico is the only State in the Union which has no suffragist organization.

Fifteen women to every 100 men in Minneapolis own their living by labor. Mrs. E. J. Clinton of Portland, Ore., is considered an expert on card filing systems. Women very often do farm work in Sweden while their husbands sit back and smoke. If New York State grants equal suffrage nearly 3,000,000 women will share in the franchise. Missouri has over 60,000 women workers, of whom about 10,000 live away from home. A bill to give women the right of suffrage has been introduced in the Legislature of Hawaii. Chinese are now offering their daughters for sale in the districts suffering from floods. Stangulava Orlyuska, an 18-year-old Polish girl, has won three stars and a medal for bravery in battles. Although she is 86 years of age, Mrs. Thomas Whaley is still running a farm.

Messrs. J. A. and C. E. Bennett Secure Verdict for $2,250 Against W.S.S.Ry.

The jury in the case of Messrs. J. A. and C. E. Bennett vs the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway Company returned a verdict yesterday in favor of the plaintiffs for the sum of $2,250.

The plaintiffs were suing for the sum of $5,000, growing out of the collision of a bridge across Bank street. The bridge caused a depreciation in their property, loss of rent, and was an unavailable business site belonging to them.

All of the allegations were denied by the defendant. The plaintiff was represented by Mr. Louis M. Swink, and the defendant company, by Messrs. Watson, Buxton and Watson.

By consent of parties in the case of Mr. J. H. Hastings, administrator vs Lewis Galt, deceased, vs the Norfolk and Western Railway Company, it was ordered that the plaintiff recover the sum of $500 in full settlement of the claim arising from the death of the plaintiff's testate.

The damage suit of L. G. Garner and wife, Mrs. Annie Garner, vs Dr. E. F. Strickland, a damage suit growing out of Mrs. Garner's being run over by an automobile owned and driven by Dr. E. F. Strickland, was continued for the defendant.

The case of the Moffitt Iron Works vs W. T. Poindexter and E. C. Bailey was continued and set for trial the first case on Tuesday of the March term of Superior Court.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT STORE OF FLETCHER BROS.

Fletcher Bros.' Clothing Store on Trade street is undergoing some extensive improvements, the principal part of the work being done on the interior. Skylights have been put in, and the inside is being given a new coat of paint as well as the woodwork of the show windows. The shelves in the store are being removed, and will be replaced by new and modern hat and suit cabinets. The shelves in the shoe department are being remodeled, and rolling ladders have been put up. The new improvements are being made to better handle the spring stock of goods, and add greatly, not only to the appearance, but also to the convenience of the store.

JUDGE NEIL TO VISIT THE CITY
Originator of Mothers' Pension System Will Arrive Here at Early Date

Judge Henry Neil, originator of the mothers' pension system, will visit Winston-Salem at an early date in connection with his campaigning tour in North Carolina.

Millions of dollars that once went to public children's asylums will this year be paid directly to mothers. This statement was made by Mr. Neil, who is making a national tour. Twenty-two States in which it has been adopted are proving that the child poverty can be abolished.

"Never before in history has any people accomplished such a reform in so short a time," he says in review of the strides made by the mother system in its contest with the asylum system. "It is a great proof that the people of this country really want all the children fed, clothed, sheltered, schooled and cared for by their own mother in their own home. No one can raise children in asylums or homes. To try it means failure. Mothers were made by nature to take care of their own children. The best we can do is to improve the individual home and aid the mother. Mothers and their children must not be disgraced by charity. The pension is no more a charity than the public school system is a charity."

"Three years ago it was the common custom to tear children from their mothers' arms by process of law and in the name of kindness, just because the family was poor. Now this outrageous business is pretty well stopped. Only a few organized charity societies now are in the field against the new plan and they soon will be completely routed. The time is almost here when there will not be a poverty child in the United States."

"The search for child-poverty will be as relentless as was the search for the typhoid fever germ and poverty," said Judge Neil, "in so far as it affects children, will be exterminated completely."

Judge Neil receives no remuneration at all for this work. He has spoken in hundreds of cities.

BUSINESS SHOWS IMPROVEMENT NOW

Manufacturers Report Better Collections and Orders Are Picking up
High Point, Feb. 17.—Manufacturers report that the collection of old accounts which were carried over from last fall is improving every week, and while the influx of orders is now rapidly increasing it is certain new orders will follow close on collections. Some of the traveling salesmen out of the Burlington City, especially those who have been on the road for the last six weeks, are optimistic concerning the improved and improving conditions all over the country. While the manufacturing business looks up, the town's carpenters, painters and plumbers are preparing for an unprecedented building campaign this spring. In addition to a new wood-working factory and two stores, some eighteen splendid dwelling houses will be erected before the summer, the prices ranging from $5,000 up. A few of these will be a factory in West End; Helgeson store on Campbell street; W. E. Price, a dwelling on Roland Park Circle; Dr. Austin, a dwelling on the Circle; Bascomb Hoskins, dwelling on Ardmore Circle; N. H. Newschlag, dwelling on Ottotway Avenue; Carney Briggs, dwelling on the Circle; Joseph Weaver, dwelling on the Circle; E. L. Crouch, dwelling on Ottotway Avenue; Frank Sizemore, dwelling on Ottotway Avenue; E. A. Wells, dwelling on Roland Park; B. C. Foxland, dwelling on Roland Park; M. L. Davis, dwelling on Ardmore Circle; Joseph Cox, dwelling on Roland Park.

It was reported some few days ago that the police officers, while searching a through freight train for a store-breaking thief skipping to another town, suddenly flashed their light into a box-car containing sixteen hobo's huddled together, lightless and warmthless. But yesterday something like thirty or more were thus discovered journeying southward toward, or perhaps from, a job. High Pointers rejoice their city is not a terminal where these wingless birds of passage might roost.

Whether the Piedmont section of North Carolina is healthy or not is no subject for debate. A recent Randolph visitor to High Point recalled some remarkable statistics, lately divulged by the registrar of vital statistics in one of Randolph's townships. For the year 1914, there were twelve adult deaths, ten of which averaged 78 years, with the ages of these ten being 780 years. The ages of the twelve were 69, 71, 80, 65, 106, 80, 86, 89, 72, 37, and 32. Sixty out of the twelve averaged 85 years and four months. One died of tuberculosis and one of typhoid fever; the departure of the others was due to old age. If such health prevails in an ordinary backwoods township known as Buck Creek, what must it be in such places as Charlotte, Asheville, Durham, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, and High Point?

OPENING ISSUE HOME CHRONICLE
First Number of Publication Issued at Children's Home is Splendid

The current issue of the Home Chronicle, the monthly publication of the Methodist Children's Home here, was issued yesterday from the press of the Winston Printing Company. The publication is a neat four page paper, and fairly bristles with news items of interest about the activities of the Home, together with short articles signed by the children, editorial comment, and special articles. It is the purpose of the trustees to establish a printing shop at the institution as soon as possible with a view to teaching the children something of the typographical art. The opening announcement of the paper follows:

With this number the Children's Home adopts a new name for its paper which enters upon a new, and we confidently trust a prosperous, era in its history. Believing that the mission of the Chronicle is to acquaint the churches thoroughly with the essential facts and conditions of the work they are doing here, it shall be our purpose to make it conform as far as possible to that ideal. We shall accordingly make it a vehicle of useful and interesting information to the churches whose cheerful giving makes possible the maintenance of this home for the fatherless, and also devote liberal space to the chronicling of the amusing and pathetic incidents of everyday life at the home.

It is no part of our purpose, at present to make the Chronicle a source of direct profit to the institution, for we propose to provide our subscribers a full equivalent of paper's worth for their money's worth, but we expect large returns in the increased liberality of our people, the natural result of their enlarged knowledge of conditions, and of their deepened sympathies. The Methodist churches of the conference have undertaken a great work in the founding of this home for the homeless, and the blessing of God "which maketh rich" has already brought it to fair proportions, but the many appeals for its protecting shelter which have to go ungranted for want of room in "the inn" make it clear that God's purposes for these "little ones" are not yet all fulfilled. It is not necessary to argue the need of increased liberality for the proper care of all our orphans unprovided for, nor for urging upon the churches the duty of providing for them.

All that is necessary is to acquaint our people with the facts, and the means will be forthcoming. Help us to put the Chronicle into every Methodist home in the bounds of the Western North Carolina Conference, and trust the hearts of our people for the result. So far as we know there has been no determined and sustained effort to give the Home paper just the character and circulation that we have in mind, other matters of more urgent need preventing, but the time has now come when the demand for larger accommodation must be met. The only way to this to lay all the facts before the people and leave the rest to them. We hope to make the Chronicle a channel for the commendation of the home life here with that of the homes of all our people in the Western North Carolina Conference, a family bond founded upon the love of God and His handwork, and a means of conveying just that intimate knowledge of conditions and circumstances in the Home that means so much in the establishment and strengthening of bonds of interest and affection.

It will be no difficult matter to make the Chronicle an interesting paper. Everything connected with the daily life of an institution such as this is full of human interest, especially to the benevolent hearts in the homes—from which comes the means of its support. We can make the Chronicle desirable and well worth reading, but we must depend upon the faithful services of the preachers, the Sunday school superintendents and active laymen to give it circulation, and we believe we shall not appeal in vain for their help to realize our dream of "A Copy in Every Home."

When we have our own little print-shop fully in operation, which we expect to have within the present, or at most, the coming quarter, we expect to print the Chronicle twice a month without increasing the subscription price, which is fifty cents for one year to individual addresses, or $1.75 for five copies to one address.
