Joseph Green Named CMS Safety Director

Joseph E. Green, assistant to the principal at Hawthorne Junior High School, has been named new safety director of the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Schools (CMS).

Appointed by recent action of the CMS Board of Education, Green will assume his new duties when a replacement is found for him at Hawthorne.

He will develop, organize, implement and coordinate a continuing program of safety emphasis in the school system aimed at employee and public safety, including students and the general public while on school property or involved in school-sponsored events.

He will coordinate CMS safety efforts with those of workmen's compensation, insurance companies and federal, state, county and city departments with particular emphasis on the requirements of the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

Green will administer job safety training, recommend safety standards and equipment, inspect facilities, work with various safety committees, maintain safety accident records, disseminate safety information, and work with supervisors in evaluating safety programs.

The new safety director's position was created in November when the Mecklenburg County Commission approved a Board of Education request for funds for the position.

Since November, Green has served as chairperson of a Safety Curriculum Advisory Committee made up of administrators, teachers, students and members of the community. The committee has been studying ways to promote a greater safety awareness in the school system.

Green has been employed by CMS since 1962. He was a teacher at J.T. Williams Junior High School until being named assistant to the principal at Hawthorne this past summer. Before coming to Charlotte, he was an elementary teacher in Murfreesboro, Tenn., for two years.

A graduate of Fisk University, Green holds the master of science degree from Indiana University.

Durham Hosts Annual NAACP Convention

(Continued From P. 1) to live in another time of crisis." It will be chaired by Eric Turner, Memphis, Tenn.

There will also be a workshop dealing with housing, "Decent, Safe & Sanitary Housing in Another Time of Crisis," which will be chaired by Sam Pendleton, Florence, Ala. The nuts and bolts of America are said to center around politics, therefore the most interest will be shown in politics. The workshop on that phase is styled "Political Action in Another Time of Crisis." It will be chaired by Mrs. Maxine Smith, Memphis, Tenn.

The Life Membership Luncheon, the motivating event of any NAACP convention will be held at 12:30 p.m., with John H. Wheeler, Durham, presiding. Kivie Kaplan, Chestnut Hill, Mass., national president, will speak to the diners. The address will be given by the Honorable Clarence Lightner, Mayor, City of Raleigh. Mrs. Jeanette Smith, Hattiesburg, Miss., will present the awards. Workshops and committees will continue through out the evening.

The Friday night session is expected to be the crowning event, when the Freedom Wards Dinner will be held at 8.

Food Town Opens 20th Supermarket

Food Town Stores opened its twentieth super market unit Wednesday, (March 13) in Kannapolis.

Located in the Cabarrus Shopping City on Cannon Boulevard, the 15,400 square foot unit will be the second Food Town Store in Kannapolis.

Food Town, termed one of the fastest growing super market chains in the Southeast, has seen sales grow from $5 million in 1967 to over $71 million in 1973. The super market generates its sales volume through the use of "over 5,500 every day low prices, most at or near wholesale cost," according to Food Town president Ralph W. Ketner.

Four additional stores are scheduled to be opened during the year: Albemarle, Greensboro, Gastonia, and Charlotte.

The company's warehouse in Salisbury is being doubled to 266,000 square feet, and the former warehouse is being converted to a distribution center for dairy, frozen foods and produce. 66,000 of the building's 84,000 square feet will be placed under refrigeration.
