

For August 1975

"Miss Black Teenage World Pageant" Set

1975 will mark the Fifth Anniversary of Pageants Unlimited Inc. and the Third Annual Miss Black Teenage

World Pageant. PUI is the non-profit producing company of the Pageant that brings together black teenagers 15 to 17 years old from around the World. The 1975 Pageant will be held during the month of August in a yet to be named site.

Personal Development Seminar where the contestants are exposed to the social graces, modeling and personal hygiene necessary in a well rounded life.

The current Miss Black Teenage World, Miss Chauncey Douglas of Goldsboro, North Carolina will perform during the Pageant.

Persons interested in entering, before the June 1, 1975 contestant deadline may write PUI, P. O. Box 1139, Danville, Va. USA 24541. Persons interested in producing a State Pageant may also write before January 15, 1975 deadline.

The producers noted that in excess of $58,000 in College Scholarships and Prizes were awarded in 1974, with plans to top this in '75.

Channel 3 viewers will be taking another ride DOWN HOME WITH THE CAROLINA CAMERA on Sunday night at 10:30 P.M. on December 15, as host C. J. Underwood visits a man who constructed his own "Christmas Village" of white rock at his home in Prospect Hill, N. C.

to build a miniature mill and water wheel in his side yard, using white rock from his own rock quarry. One thing led to another, and today Mr. Warren's roadside village consists of more than a dozen rock structures. Each has a colorful story behind it, told in "down home" fashion by Mr. Warren.

Camera characters will be featured in this half-hour Christmas-time special, Sunday night, December 15th, at 10:30 P.M. on Channel 3.

Oscar "Rocky" Donahue III of Kansas City, Mo., named Outstanding Youth Ambassador by The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

Oscar Donahue Named Youth Ambassador

Oscar "Rocky" Donahue III of Kansas City, Mo., was named National Outstanding Youth Ambassador today by The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"Rocky is the 'Pied Piper' of all March of Dimes youth volunteers," said Louise Roy, director of youth activities. "He has a lot of energy, drive, and commitment where the March of Dimes is concerned and it's contagious."

Through his enthusiasm, many more young adults have caught the March of Dimes action bug in Kansas City and surrounding areas. But his influence has also been nationwide. Since returning from a March of Dimes national youth conference last year, he has kept in touch with youth volunteers across the country on projects aimed at prevention of birth defects.

In addition to keeping March of Dimes youth in motion, Rocky has given a lot of time to getting support from other youth organizations.

An honor student, Rocky earned a full four-year scholarship to Baker University in Baldwin City, Kans. He was also named Vice-Student Mayor and Outstanding Senior in Kansas City.

Tulsa Publisher To Address CCC Meeting

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, Tulsa Tribune editor and publisher, will be the principal speaker at the 95th Annual Meeting of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce Friday, January 17th. The luncheon meeting will be held in the Sheraton Center Omni at 12:30 p.m.

Jones is nationally known through his syndicated column which runs in 150 daily newspapers. He is a past president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, past president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and recipient of the William Allen White Award in 1957.

He began his news career in 1933 as a reporter for the Tulsa Tribune. In 1936 he was appointed managing editor and in 1938 became associate editor. In 1941 he became editor of the newspaper but set aside his peacetime duties to volunteer for the U. S. Navy. As a communications officer, he took part in both the Iwo

Jima and Okinawa campaigns aboard the U. S. S. Makassa Strait.

Three of his major national speeches have been made into television programs. In the late 1960's, Charlotte's WBTV produced "Weep For The Innocent", "Who Is Tampering With the Soul of America" and "Uncle Sam Stands Tall". The three programs received television exposure in all sections of the country and one of them was shown to the U. S. Senate in Washington.

Charlotte Chamber of Commerce annual meetings date from 1869 when the first Charlotte Board of Trade was organized. Shortly after the turn of the century, a new organization, the Greater Charlotte Club was formed and in 1915, a new charter was issued to the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.

I.W. HARPER

It's what bourbon is all about. It's his drink... make it yours.

Application forms are being mailed to teenagers throughout the World. The competition is divided into four segments, Sportswear, Creative Expression, Talent and Eveningwear-Projection.

Teenagers may enter the Pageant either as a winner of an official State Pageant or as an At-Large-Contestant from those States where no State Pageant is produced. PUI points out that the Miss Black Teenage World Pageant is not affiliated with any other group or Pageant. The major emphasis of the MBTW Pageant is on talent, poise, charm, articulation and creativity. One highlight of the week long Pageant is the Per-

Livingstone Plans Meeting For Students

The Charlotte Chapter of the Livingstone College Alumni Association is inviting interesting junior and seniors from Charlotte-Mecklenburg and surrounding counties to attend a program at the Greenville Community Center from 3 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Students and officials from the four-year institution, located in Salisbury, will be present. Among them will be Dr. F. George Shipman, President of the College, Virgil Lattimore, President of The Student Government Association and also a Charlottean, along with other members from the Livingstone College Family.

Information concerning the curriculum, financial aid, sports and other co-curricular activities will be discussed with interested students and their parents.

Miss Shirley Johnson, President of the Charlotte Alumni Chapter, urges all interested students to come and talk with the representatives. Greenville Center is located at 1330 Spring St. near the intersection of Statesville and Oaklawn Ave.
