

Mrs. Rosa Mason Is Doing Something "Worthy"

By Karen Parker

Mrs. Rosa Mason believes working in the Churchwoman of the Year Contest is an opportunity to do something worthy for her church and community.

"I attend Mayfield Memorial Baptist Church and I really love it," Mrs. Mason stated with sincerity. She has been a member there since its doors first opened, 15 years ago. Participating in various organizations and events is almost custom for Mrs. Mason. Whatever she can do to demonstrate her church is concerned about the community, she will.

By participating in the Churchwoman of the Year contest she will familiarize many people in Charlotte and surrounding areas with The Charlotte Post.

"I'm also participating in the contest because I've been elected the Woman of the Year at Mayfield Memorial," Mrs. Mason revealed. She received the title one week after Mother's Day. The church membership selected Mrs. Mason by secret ballot. Part of winning is probably based on Mrs. Mason's desire to devote many hours to projects within her church.

To name a few, she teaches in the Junior Department of the Sunday School. Mrs. Mason is also a member of the Pastor Aids and an assistant with the church's Junior Girl Scout troop.

Sunday morning worship is the best of Mrs. Mason's involvements at Mayfield Memorial. "When I hear the pastor say, 'If you have your Bibles will you turn to...' then I know I'm about to hear a wonderful sermon," Mrs. Mason continued.

Rev. Harold Diggs is the pastor of Mayfield Memorial located at 700 Sugar Creek Road West. Mrs. Mason's participation and enthusiasm is welcomed in the Post contest.

Free Peer-Counseling

"This is WomanReach - a free peer counseling center for women who want an understanding ear and want to explore their options for coping more effectively. Phone and drop in hours are Monday through Friday, 10-4 p.m.; Saturday, 10-1 p.m., with appointments upon request, and support groups scheduled throughout the week. We need each other, so please take care—you're the only one of you we've got."

That is the after-hours message a woman hears when she calls WomanReach, a women-helping women, United Way volunteer service that is getting "rave reviews" from its participants.

"I was really scared and depressed about the future. I felt worthless. I needed someone to listen. A WomanReach counselor did this; plus she helped me to realize that I was a worthwhile person with abilities and potentials to utilize."

Another participant stated, "WomanReach has shown me how good it feels to share thoughts and my life with other women who care."

"...What a relief to know where to go to be heard."

Concluded another participant, "It's like walking into a warm room from a dark, stormy night, you are eased of your cares and given the opportunity to ease the cares of others."

Family Dollar Stores Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Special To The Post
Family Dollar Stores, Inc., a discount store chain operating 741 stores in a 15 state area ranging as far North as Pennsylvania and Ohio, South to Florida and West to Arkansas and Louisiana, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of its operations with a Store Managers' Convention in Charlotte, N.C., Sunday, June 24. More than 700 store managers from the 15 state operating area will be in Charlotte for a day-long series of special events and entertainment.

James A. Seagraves, Senior Vice President of the company, commented that, "The Store Managers' Convention is a first for Family Dollar, and a momentous event in our history. We want each store manager throughout the chain to recognize that he or she is a key member of the Family Dollar team, and has the total support of every person and resource we have at our Executive Offices and Distribution Center. Since the opening of the first store in Charlotte in 1959, Family Dollar has come a long way, and the talents and dedicated efforts of our store managers have been a most important factor in the rapid and profitable growth of our company."

During Family Dollar's current fiscal year, 106 new stores have been added to the chain, including the first stores in Pennsylvania and Ohio, to bring the number of stores in operation to 741. At least 20 additional stores are expected to join the chain before the end of the fiscal year in 1984.
