

Ebenezer's Annual Revival Places Emphasis On Evangelism, Revivalism

Each year the Ebenezer Baptist Church hosts a sparkling revival with spiritual music, prayer, teaching and preaching. This year is no different from the past except in one respect.

Equal emphasis will be placed on both evangelism and revivalism. There will be something for everyone in the light of spiritual enlightenment.

"This revival has a bilateral tune," stated Rev. A. B. Sutton Sr., revival host and pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church, located at 733 Trade St. "We plan to revive the church members and evangelize and witness to the unsaved."

Rev. Frank Ray, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church of Memphis, TN, will be the guest speaker May 20-24, 7 p.m. nightly.

A great preacher and recording artist Rev. Sutton had nothing but praise for the gifts Rev. Ray has received from God. "He has three special gifts," Rev. Sutton added, "he is a singer, preacher and prayer."

Many of his talents have filtered down to his son, Frank Sr. At 19 years of age he has already realized his calling into the ministry. He is presently minister of music at New Salem Baptist in Tennessee.

This Old Fashioned Revival will feature night devotion services by various hymn choirs of the city. Musical choirs will be in concert each night as well.

For instance, on Monday St. Paul Baptist Church Hymn and Musical Choirs will be featured and express joy and humbleness to God through song. Rev. Dr. Paul Drummond, pastor.

Tuesday, Shiloh Institutional Hymn and Musical Choir will declare Jesus as Savior through song and praise. Rev. Tommy Davis is pastor of Shiloh.

Other churches expected to attend are too numerous to name. "So we simply invite the public to attend. We are praying and looking for a great time in the Lord," Rev. Sutton concluded.

The revival is open to those who want to be revived in the word and those looking for the impetus to find salvation.

Volunteers Needed

The Senior Center, 426 N. Tryon St. wants to start a telephone re-assurance program for shut-ins. A volunteer leader and a group of callers are needed. Call 334-3053 for more information or to volunteer.

Other volunteer opportunities for older residents include a variety of tasks at the Senior Center, from teaching a class to helping with refreshments or monthly mailings.

Charlotte Memorial Hospital needs volunteers for many situations. Call Kay Grasty at 331-2105.

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) also has many volunteer opportunities. RSVP's phone number is 372-7170.

Mable Reid was recently celebrated as "Mother of the Year" for 1985, by the men of First United Presbyterian Church. A corsage was pinned on Mrs. Reid by Jane Wilson, last year's "Mother of the Year," and a plaque was presented to her by Samuel Reid, president of First United Men. The special service for Mrs. Reid also featured inspirational reading by Roy Henderson and a solo by Harry Ezell. Mrs. Reid's daughter, Joan Antrum, son-in-law, Charles Antrum, sister, Geneva Lindsay, and many other family members and friends were all present for the very happy occasion.
