Alpha Phi Alpha To Observe Annual Founder's Day

The local chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha will be observing the annual founder's day of the 79-year-old fraternity, on Sunday, December 8, beginning at 5 p.m. The observance will take place at McDonald's Cafeteria.

The national fraternity was founded on the campus of Cornell University. Beta Nu Lambda, the local chapter was founded in 1939 by eight Charlotte fraternity men, of whom Eugene Potts is one.

In celebrating founder's day, the local chapter will present as its guest speaker, former general president Lionel H. Newsom. Dr. Newsom, president emeritus of Central State University is well known in the Charlotte education and business communities where he served in higher education at Johnson C. Smith University and Barber Scotia College. Having addressed the conditions of minority Americans in their quest for freedom and dignity, Newsom is expected to rekindle the fire within the fraternal brothers to continue to lead in social and economic developments for the betterment of human kind.

Reservations are required by December 3 for the dinner and reception. The cost for the event is $12 per person. For more information contact committee chairman, Preston R. Allison.

CPCC Honor Society

Twelve Mecklenburg County students were inducted into the Phi Theta Kappa national honor society at Central Piedmont Community College this month.

New members include Yim Ming N. Chan, Rise M. Crifz, Marian Ellen Davis, Caroline M. Fron, James E. Hefner, Geoffrey P. Holden, Peggy S. Kistler, Cynthia M. Lovings, Pamela R. Marks, Davilla F. Perry, and Rochelle C. Wilson, all of Charlotte; and Ricardo Angel-Elinan of Pineville.

Also inducted were Amy J. Furr of Monroe, Jeffrey Verhey of Denver, and Beverly A. Argenio of Fort Mill, S.C.

CPCC's Phi Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa recognizes and encourages scholarship among community and junior college students.

Of the 1,221 community colleges in the U.S., CPCC recently won recognition as one of the top five community colleges in teaching excellence and student success.

Santa Has Arrived

Holiday activities are in full swing at Freedom Mall Shopping Center. Santa has arrived and will be on hand to talk to youngsters from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and from 1-3 p.m., Sundays.

OUR TOWN, a model railroad and village made to resemble Charlotte is now on display through December 28. Donations given will go to the Braille Foundation.

Beverly Hoey

"While my god father is the person I most admire, my mother is my favorite person," remarks Beverly. Her mother, Beulene, is a "terrific mother," claims this week's beauty. "I look up to her and can talk to her. If I have any problems she'll understand."

And her mother will be happy to know. Beverly is gladly looking forward to high school and even more so, college. "College will probably be a little better than high school," surmises this young lady. "I'd like to go to Harvard."

From the academic progress she's made so far, Beverly seems to have a good chance of making it in to that prestigious university. In the seventh grade she was offered to test for a Duke University summer program and scholarship in Language Arts and she has participated in her school's Olympics of the Mind program. Beverly shyly denies that she is brainy. "I'm pretty good," she demures, "above average." She does admit, "I have a good head on my shoulders for my age. I concentrate on doing well. As soon as I come home I do my homework and study and don't worry about other stuff."

Beverly, who says she also likes singing, recently joined Shiloh International Baptist Church and says she'll probably join the choir.
