Mighty Stars in concert Friday

Never Easy To Say Good-Bye" on the group's latest CD, and he'll talk to you about charity beginning at home.

"My wife and I noticed Tony's talents when he was about two or three and we supported him," he said. "I challenge all the parents to stick with their children and to pick up on what their child is good at a young age."

Forty-five years in the entertainment business coupled with a strong spirituality has taught Bower a lot. "We're trying to become better practitioners of our craft - which is putting the Lord first and secondly making music that will make you move. Desire has to coincide with the drive. The desire, watch out now, has to be a positive one. Biggie (Smalls) and Tupac Shakur were very artistically talented but their overtone was detrimental. If I tell a man to take a gun to shoot somebody then chances are he's going to do it. We want to raise that type of mind set of a spiritual one which tells people that they can be happy just serving the Lord."

Reminiscent of George Clinton's "You Can't Walk A Mile in My Shoes," "You Can't Tell It" transcends the literal interpretation and promotes a higher spirituality.

"That song is saying that only I know what lifestyle that I was leading before I accepted Jesus Christ as my personal savior. So, let me tell the story. You haven't walked in my shoes. Let me tell the story. Let me tell it." Joining Ronica and the Mighty Blazing Stars will be The Gethsemane Gospel Singers, The Zionettes and Mt. Zion's Young Adults. Starting at 7:30 p.m., pre-Appreciation Day concert will honor Rev. and Mrs. Houston on White Road in Rowan County.
