worth noting.

In 2000, the denomination added to its official statement of faith the belief that "a wife is to submit herself graciously to the servant leadership of her husband."

Conservatives cite Ephesians 5:22: "Wives, submit to your own husbands as to the Lord." But the preceding verse 21 directs all Christians to submit to each other, and moderate evangelicals say that overall principle binds husbands as well as wives.

The NIV, ESV and now HCSB all give hard-liners a typographical boost by dividing verse 21 from verse 22 through white space and a new section heading (such divisions are not part of the biblical text). However, the Harper Study Bible by Harold Lindell, now deceased, a staunch Southern Baptist inerrancy champion, puts his section division before Ephesians 5:21 and makes that the topic sentence covering husbands and wives.

The HCSB aims for dignity as opposed to street-level lingo, is unafraid of using fancy theological terms such as "propitiation," and follows literal word-for-word translation rather than the looser thought-for-thought approach of some modern translators.

Jinwright consecration logical Seminary, master of divinity from Hood Theological Seminary, and a doctorate of ministry from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

Jinwright was the youngest pastor in Salem Baptist Church's history, taking over the ministry at age 24.

"He is a man of faith. He has faith in God's word and he stands on it," said church elder Dontae Wooten.

Jinwright said God led him in 1999 to transform the church from a Baptist affiliation to a more evangelical, or nondenominational, church.

"It was the spirit of the Lord that took the church in a different direction. We were more concerned about souls won to the kingdom than being connected to an organization," Jinwright said.

Once Salem started doing things God's way, Jinwright said, the church was blessed and began to grow. Jinwright said the only way to move a church forward is for the community to have interaction with the church outside the sanctuary's walls. Jinwright said church members went door to door, expressing the blessings God had brought into their lives.

"People need to see you outside of these sainted walls," he said. "I'm on assignment. Whatever the Lord wants me to do, I'll do it."
