revival stirs

director and members of the film crew crept closer to the deer, marveling at their luck that it was just standing there. There was plenty of noise in the area: the clang of hammers striking metal stakes, the chatter of men sweating in the humid field, working to raise a large red-and-white tent.

Just beyond the activity, the deer stood. A duck wandered by,

attracting the cameraman's

After a minute or two, the City met country as five people producing a documentary

for the Discovery Times Channel came to Wolftown, a tiny burg in Madison County, to film

a tent revival. The New York-based crew's aim: to wade into the unfamiliar waters of Pente-costalism and emerge with an

Part of the "Only In America"

series beginning in September,

the episode on religion features

Pastor Anthony Wynn, who has brought his tent revival to Wolftown from Tennessee for the past 12 years. The airdate

Relations between the independent production company and the country preacher

appeared fine, despite the dif-

The easygoing Wynn, in a mellow Tennessee drawl, spoke with equal kindness of the film crew and the members of

Wolftown Pentecostal Chapel, which serves as host for the

"They just treat us like family," said Wynn, who prefaces

many of the men's names with

The family includes a crowd of 200 or more worshippers, some of whom are from Wynn's Tennessee congregation. The revival was held evenings last week in a field on Route 662, a couple of miles west of Route

Pastor Jeff Shifflett, who

helms the Wolftown church, described a typical tent meeting

as an open-air service with singing, praying, a sermon and an altar call. At Monday night's service, a couple dozen people gathered at the wooden stage covered in red material, some kneeling and others standing with arms raised, ready to ded-

Pastor Justin Payne, Wynn's

nephew and the leader of a church in Pennsylvania, placed his hands on heads and prayed over the worshippers. Giving the night's sermon, he often

"One day, I'm going to walk through a season when I need said, his voice rising. "I need the

A chorus, "I need you, Lord, more than yesterday," played in the background, as members of the congregation said their

the rain of God's mercy," icate themselves to God.

sounded close to tears.

rain of God's love.

Brother

film crew realized the deer was attention.

a lawn ornament.

accurate portrait.

has not yet been set.

ference in backgrounds.

film crew

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WOLFTOWN, Va. -

Tent

RELIGION

Life 1B

What must I do?

Luke 10:25-28

Knowing What To Do (vv.

25. And, behold, a certain lawyer stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal

A certain lawyer or what we could call an expert in religious law attempts to trap Jesus. He wants to see if he can ask a question so difficult that Jesus will become confused or perhaps say something that would put him in trouble with the religious authorities. Instead, the lawyer stumbles across the most important question: What shall I do to inherit

This lawyer is not the only person in the pages of Scripture to ask this essential question. In Mark 10:17 a young man comes to Jesus and asks, "Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" A jailer in Philippi asks Paul and Silas the question, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" (Acts 16:30). Knowing and then following the answer to this question is the difference between eternal life and eternal damna

26. He said unto him, What is written in the law? How readest thou?

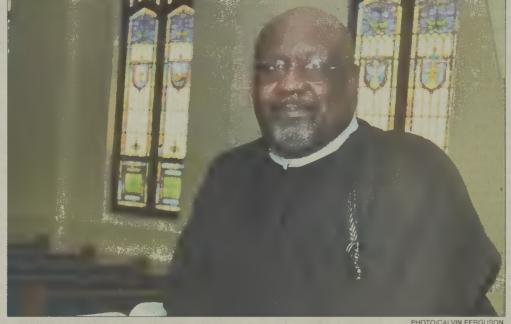

Jesus answers the lawyer's question with a question of his own. In effect the Lord says to him, "What do you think is the answer to your own question?"

The lawyer seems to come to Jesus with an agenda. He's convinced that he does indeed know the answer, but he wants to find out if Jesus agrees with him! In the next verse, then lawyer will proceed to give Jesus his best understanding if how to be

27. And he answering said Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.

The lawyer first goes to the Old Testament for his answer. First he makes reference to Deuteronomy 6:4, 5. These verses are called the shema, which means to hear. Paraphrased, these verses say to love God with everything you have-heart, soul and all your might. With every part of our beings we are to love God. We cannot be divided in

Please see WHAT/7B

The Rev. Robert McGowens comes to Greater Galilee Missionary Baptist Church with a sense of community service. He wants to make the South End house of worship a place where the community will love to visit.

From guest to pastor

Greater Galilee pastor brings sense of community

By Cheris F. Hodges

Maybe it was coincidence or a little divine intervention that brought the former pastor of Galilee Baptist Church in Winston-Salem to Greater Galilee Missionary Baptist Church in Charlotte.

When the Rev. Robert McGowens spoke at the church last year as a guest preacher, taking over wasn't on his mind.

"I came in to fill a Sunday and it all began there. In June I was contacted and told that I was considered as a serious candidate," he said.

He took over the church, which is located in South End on West Park Avenue,

McGowens spent 10 years at Galilee Missionary Baptist Church in Winston-Salem. Not only does he bring two decades of pastoral experience to Charlotte; he also brings a sense of community.

At his church in Winston-Salem, McGowens

Please see GUEST7B

Bishop T.D. Jakes fires back at report

By Maynard Eaton THE ATLANTA VOICE

ATLANTA -The nation's premier preacher, Bishop T.D. Jakes, reacted swiftly and sternly to a published report where the National Newspaper Publishers Association censured him for not advertising with Atlanta's Black Press prior to his hugely successful Mega-Fest 2005, one of the largest religious conferences ever.

"To be called cheap in that article was an insult," said Jakes heatedly to this reporter. "It also upset me that rather than come to me directly for resolution, this matter was discussed publicly in the press.

Jakes was incensed, defiant, and defensive and dismayed with how he had been portrayed. Following his speech to the National Association of Black Journalists earlier this month, he pulled a reporter into the Hyatt Regency Hotel downtown's kitchen corner ordered his security to keep his entourage and others at a distance – and harangued and reprimanded the reporter with a blistering retort to my previous story.

"Every time I don't spend money now I am a bad guy," he asks incredulously? "You don't resolve a business conflict with 'yellow' journalism."

That rebuke brought this retort from Atlanta Voice editor Stan Washington who witnessed, but was not allowed to participate by Jakes' security in the interview: "It's only 'yellow' journalism if it is untrue or it is a deliberate attempt to smear someone. The story was neither. It was the truth. No one is out to slander Jakes or his organization."

In that Atlanta Voice story - which was subsequently re-printed in dozens of black-owned papers across the country - NNPA President John Smith, Sr. lamented that much to his chagrin not one single dime was spent with Atlanta's black press by Jakes' MegaFest extravaganza that

Please see T.D. JAKES/7B

University Park Baptist Church minister Marlo Mathis distributes school supplies during UPBC's Angel Fest, an event where the church provides school supplies to children who have parents in prison.

NEWS CHURCH

The deadline to have church announcements added to the calendar is 5 p.m. on Fridays

Chappell Memorial Baptist Church will open its Clothing Closet to families in need every first and third Saturday of the month. Families can come to the church, which is located at 110 Bradford Drive, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

For more information, call (704) 394-5615. There is no charge for the clothes.

• Plaza Baptist Church, 3321 The Plaza, will host an eight-week video study by Bruce Wilkinson designed to show how the Prayer of Jabez can release God's favor. The series begins nightly at 7 p.m. For more information, call (704) 334-3913.

August 21

Trinity Park Baptist Church will host its summer revival, with the theme of "Wisdom Makes a Difference.

There will be different speakers each night of the revival

Sunday, Bishop George Brooks, Pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Greensboro, service will start at 5p.m.

Services for August 23-25 start each night at

August 23: Rev. George Cook, Pastor of Mt. Sinai Baptist Church,

August 24: Dr. Fred Gibson, Pastor of Greater Providence Baptist Church August 25: Dr. Paul Drummond, Pastor of

First Mayfield Baptist Church. • Silver Mount Baptist Church will host a music festival, beginning at 6 p.m. The church is located at 501 West Arrowood Road.

August 22

Silver Mount Baptist Church, located at 501

West Arrowood Road, will host its annual Fall Revival. Service begins at 7p.m. nightly.

Faith Bible Church presents Children Playing in the Overflow Prayer Conference for children ages 8-12. The Fort Mill based church will host the conference at its location at 3605 Centre Circle Drive. The conference lasts for two days. To register, call (803) 802-2565.

Gethsemane Baptist Church located at 565 Jetton Street, Davidson, will host "05 Back 2 School Break-Out" festival, from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. at the church. This year's themes include: P.A.S.S. - Parents And Students Succeeding and The Paths to Success are God, Education and Fellowship. There will be parent semi-nars, entertainment, games for kids, free food and school supplies. No admission charge. For more details call 704-892-1635.

August 28

Chappell Memorial will celebrate Men's Day with guest speaker, concert at 4 p.m. "Men of Majesty. Serving Outside the Garden" will be this year's theme for the annual Men's Day celebration.

The event will feature some of the region's most dynamic male groups. Although the event is free, each program participant is asked to donate a canned-good or non-perishable item to the church's Food Pantry to benefit and feed those in need.

Rev. Reginald Flynn, pastor of Temple Zion Baptist Church, in Columbia, S.C. and founder of the Nehemiah Project Inc. -a faith-based, non-profit, community renewal and housing

Please see GOSPEL/6B

