

CAMPUS NEWS

Several of the girls and faculty of Chowan went to Woodland to take in the Roanoke-Chowan Fair.

Hope Cottage has been thoroughly renovated and will shortly be used for piano and vocal studies. A Steinway square piano has been added to the equipment of the piano department.

The central heating plant is nearing completion. Last Friday heat was turned in the Main building and the auditorium, to the delight of many shiverers. The Science building radiators will be tried out this week.

Saturday night Miss Elizabeth Hines was hostess to a few of her friends at an informal party. Those present, included Miss Hines and her brother, Mr. Eugene Hines, were: Misses Mary Babb, Elizabeth Watson, Lala Ashley and Meryl Britton; Messrs. Elliott Harrell and Joshua Anderson.

Mr. Perry Morgan from Raleigh, Corresponding Secretary of the B. Y. P. U.'s of North Carolina, visited the Junior B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. He afterwards made a splendid talk during the church service. The special music of the evening was a quartette by Misses Bernice Barrett and Doris Chitty, Mrs. Paul Boyette and Mrs. R. B. Watson.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church wants to know why every body is complaining so of dry weather. They had a big "shower" Monday afternoon; but the so-called "shower" only flooded the new basement kitchen of the Baptist church. The Aid Society gave an elaborate shower, consisting of china, silverware, aluminum, linen, and one large white enameled table for the equipment of the basement serving room. Fruit punch was served to seventy-five guests. Let's congratulate the Ladies' Aid for the great success they had with their kitchen shower.

The following were visitors at the college Sunday afternoon:

Miss Josie Vaughan, Mr. Roland Edwards, Otto Harcum, Bennie and Charlie Darden of Franklin, Virginia, were guests of Misses Irma and Sarah Vaughan. Mr. and Mrs. King Mitchell and Miss Rose White Kenny of Windsor, N. C., were guests of Miss Ruby Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith, Winifred and Alice Smith and Mr. Ragland Hayes of Suffolk, Virginia, were recent visitors at the college.

Mrs. E. G. Martin and daughter, Hazel, and Miss Gladys Stephenson, of Jackson, N. C., were the guests of Miss Ida Mae Martin.

Mr. J. H. Matthews, Miss Minnie Matthews and Miss Esther Wake Gatling of Windsor, N. C., were guests of Misses Inez and Hilda Matthews.

Mr. R. L. Edwards, Mr. J. E. Edwards and son, Mrs. B. D. Stephenson and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hoggard, Miss Lucy Lewter and Rev. E. N. Gardner of Pendleton were recent visitors.

Miss Sarah Hughes White, Miss Nancy Parker and Dr. Weaver attended the Sunday School rally at Mt. Tabor last Friday. Dr. Weaver made an address on the "The Organized Class as an Educational Asset."

Mrs. C. P. Weaver, Misses Nancy Parker and Thelma Draper went to Mount Tabor last Saturday to attend the Associational Meeting of the B. Y. P. U.

Misses Myrtle Holt and Bettie Cooper of Roanoke Rapids, N. C., were week-end visitors of Miss Mary Nellie Holt last week.

Mr. J. D. Babb, of Murfreesboro, a trustee of the college, was in Norfolk last week.

Mrs. T. B. Wynn has been visiting her father in Como, N. C.

Miss Gladys Roundtree, a former student of Chowan College, was in town last Thursday.

Give the Junior and Senior B. Y. P. U.'s three cheers for the enthusiasm they show by singing in the choir every Sunday night.

A Song to Rose

(In the confused modern manner)
I twang a lay of loyal love
That only modern bards can strum;
Eschewed are "dove" and "skies above"
To kingdom come.

Your eyes—I shall not mention "stars"—
Are orchestras of fragrant glow,
Though how to play in perfumed bars
I don't know.

Your mouth, to be original,
Is music smoothly polychrome;
Intriguing buncombe brings, old pal,
The bacon home.

Your charm—I may not speak of "fawns"
That haunt the leafy woodland way;
The "pale-faced moon" and "rosy dawns"
Have had their day.

But this may please the rare elect:
Your charm is musk of fragile buff
Or incense heard in retrospect—
That's mixed enough.

SPORTS

The basket ball season is to open soon. The college is hoping to have the best and strongest team that it has ever had. There is a great deal of pep and enthusiasm manifested among the students in this sport. The college wishes to schedule some very good games with other leading colleges. With a more thorough organization of the athletic association and a more vigorous enthusiasm displayed toward the sports, the season should be a most successful one.

SOCCOR TEAMS MAKING MUCH HEADWAY

New Game Meets With Enthusiastic Reception Among Student Body

The college girls are all "pepped up" over the fact that the soccer season is here, and are already making plans for their work. On Tuesday, September 25, they gathered on the athletic field to learn the first essential of "girls' football", Miss Manson has had the girls in charge and has already organized several teams to start the season off with.

Soccer is a new sport for the girls of Chowan. In fact, it is a new sport for most southern schools, but we feel sure that it will be sponsored and approved by the people of Murfreesboro, and hope that in the near future we may be able to give them some games worth seeing.

With the field now in good shape, and the team practicing every afternoon it will not be long before some exciting contests will be played. As evidence of the fighting spirit already developed in the new game, in a recent practice game the score was 0-0.

Among the candidates for positions on the different soccer teams are the following: Lois Essex, Estelle Carlton, Thelma Draper, Thelma Peterson, Beulah Lowe, Hilda Matthews, Edna Mills, Mary Henry Lewis, Gladys Clary, Minnie Mae Newbold, Mary Nellie Holt, Beatrice Joyner, Eva Overby, Page Morehead, Jewell Askew, Janice Ballentine, Ruth Wilkins, Willia Thompson, Edith Oakley, Jessie Marie Parker, Edna Lassiter, Willie Mae Horton, Catherine Fleetwood, Doris Parker, Lulu Overton, Vida Bryan, Blanche Allen and Ila Leary.
