NEW COURSE WILL BE BEGUN BY DR. WEAVER

Course in Journalism To Be Given; Dr. Weaver To Organize Press Association

A course in Journalism is to be added to the college curriculum under the direction of President Weaver. Students displaying particular talent in this work will be admitted to the class. Training for practical newspaper writing will be Dr. Weaver's aim in the course, for he intends to organize through the class a press association to furnish news of the college to state papers.

A preliminary try-out has been conducted in the English department and twenty students have been selected for the work in journalism. A number of these students are having practical experience as reporters for the Chowanian.

CHOWAN REPRESENTED AT STUDENT COUNCIL

Miss Estelle Carleton represented the Student Volunteer Band of Chowan at the fall officers' council meeting of the Student Volunteer Union of North Carolina held at Guilford college, October 12-14. The other colleges represented were Carolina, Davidson, Flora McDonald, G. C., Lenoir, Meredith, Mars Hill, N. C. C. W., Oxford, Queens, and Rutherfordton. The executive committee and the chairman of the various phases of work were also present.

The representatives of the different colleges controlled the sessions. Mr. Perian Hudgius, of Davidson, acted as leader of the band leaders' meetings. Different band problems were discussed and many helpful suggestion received. The executive committee and the band leaders held one general meeting together. Plans for the year were discussed.

"Did you know somebody at every college in the State before you went to Guilford?" This was the question asked Miss Carleton when she returned from the council meeting and told who represented the various colleges.

Special emphasis was put on getting acquainted with every representative at this meeting. The local volunteers entertained the visitors at an informal reception Friday evening. "Zip Zap" was one of the many interesting games played. This enabled the students to get acquainted with each other and to connect the name of the person with that of the college represented. The parlors were artistically decorated with autumn leaves, and the reception was carried out in a very unique manner.

Before the business meeting opened Saturday morning another "get acquainted" game was played. After this game the president gave an oral test in order to see if the delegates really knew who represented the different colleges.

Dr. Carleton, a returned missionary from India, entertained the volunteers with his pictures, songs and stories of Indian life.

Mr. Stauffer, the Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer movement, brought a message from the headquarters in New York. He emphasized the importance of each college's sending a delegation to the Ninth International Convention of the Student Volunteer movement, which is to be held in Indianapolis, December 28 to January 2. This convention comes only once in a student generation. It is hoped, therefore, that every college in North Carolina will be represented. The Y. W. and Y. M. C. A.'s are urged to send delegates who are not volunteers.

Some of the leading features of this convention will be addresses, discussion groups and forums, inter-collegiate and international friendships, and the enrichment of spiritual life. Dr. Mott will give a spiritual address. Dr. E. S. Woods, of Cambridge College, England, is also one of the speakers. Some of the themes which will be discussed are "Present

Day Social and Intellectual Unrest", and "International Problems and the Christian Way of Life."

After Mr. Stauffer put the convention before the students, they discussed plans of securing finances for the delegates.
