

JOYNER, EDWARDS NAMED KING, QUEEN

Play Cast is Named

"Come Out of the Kitchen," chosen as the senior class play, is a three-act comedy with a colonial setting. The plot centers around a southern family who are forced to lease their home to a northern family in order to raise money. The lease calls for a staff of four white servants, but since it is impossible to get them, the children are forced to disguise themselves and act as servants. Complications arise with the arrival of the guest of Burton Crane, the lessee.

Appearing in the play cast are Mary Alice Wade as Olivia Dangerfield, alias the cook; Jack Peele as Paul Dangerfield, alias the butler; Braxton Davis as Charles Dangerfield, alias the handy boy; Jane Ellen Jernigan as Elizabeth Dangerfield, alias the upstairs maid; Ellen Downs as Mandy, the colored servant; Pervist Miles as Burton Crane; Barbara Thomason as Mrs. Faulkner, a society matron; Margaret Futtelle as Cora Faulkner, her daughter; Colon Jackson as Solon Tucker, Crane's attorney; John Moore as Randy Weeks, a real estate agent; and Thomas Blowe as Tom Lefferts, a poet.

Rehearsals were started last Monday under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Brown. Practice will be held three or four times a week starting the first of April. The play will be presented May 19th.

Council to Meet Here

The Council on Christian Education will meet with Chowan College on April 27. The Council is composed of 48 members who are appointed by the North Carolina State Baptist Convention. The duty of the council is to visit the seven different Baptist colleges in North Carolina and make a study of each of the organizations and its financial needs.

This is the first time that the council has ever met as an entire group at Chowan and large plans for the future of the college are expected to come out of the meeting.

Hoey, Cordon to Feature Program Set for April 19th

Two noted North Carolinians, Senator Clyde Hoey and Norman Cordon, will appear on April 19 at Chowan College, which has been chosen as the center of great activity for about five hundred women of the surrounding area. On that date, the 23rd district of Home Demonstration Work will have its meeting in the college auditorium with Mrs. Lydia M. Booth, president of the Home Demonstration Clubs in Hertford county, presiding.

Mrs. Booth has recently moved from Jackson where she held the same office in Northampton county.

The members expected to attend are from Northampton, Hertford, Bertie and Gates counties. The meeting will begin with the opening of the business session at ten o'clock in the morning, after which the women and their guests will have the opportunity to see and hear North Carolina's Senator Clyde R. Hoey, known to most people as the "Silver-Tongued Orator." After the Senator's speech, the meeting will adjourn until two o'clock in the afternoon. During this intermission, the ladies will be served lunch in the college cafeteria.

At promptly two o'clock, Norman Cordon, North Carolina's Metropolitan singer and the head of the Appreciation of Music Department at the University of North Carolina, will speak. His topic will be "Appreciation of Music."

April Fool's Party

Climaxing a week of mid-term quizzes the students and faculty enjoyed a delightful time at an informal April Fool's party at the Beechwood Country Club on Saturday evening April the first. The students and faculty were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cason of Murfreesboro.

Music for the occasion was furnished by an orchestra composed of Ahoskie and Murfreesboro musicians.

College May Double Rolls in Three Years, Says Bunn

By B. D. BUNN
President of Chowan College

Murfreesboro.—On March 23 a decision was made by a committee of the Southern Baptist Convention which will have a greater significance for Chowan College than anything which has happened in a half century—namely establishing the Southeastern Seminary at Wake Forest, N. C. Of the seven Baptist schools of North Carolina, that leaves, when Wake Forest is moved to Winston-Salem, Chowan and Campbell as co-ed Baptist schools to serve the eastern two thirds of North Carolina.

From a geographical standpoint 29 counties are nearer Chowan College than any of the other Baptist institutions. In these 29 counties there are 165 public high schools. From these 165 high schools about 2300 graduates go out each year.

Our Virginia neighbors have shown a definite interest in Chowan College. In this southeastern area of Virginia there are 40 high schools which send out about 700 graduates annually. We give you these figures to show the possibilities of our constituency.

If philanthropists could only visualize the possibilities of this place and provide housing facilities for boys, a physical education building and a student center, Chowan should easily enroll 250 to 300 in three years. "Without a vision the people perish." It is our hope and desire that every interested person get the full significance of our central school being moved west and how it enhances our possibilities at Chowan.

Graham Chapel Hour Speaker

"I don't believe that the youth of this nation are resigned to the inevitability of a third world war" was spoken by Senator Frank Graham in an address to the students of Chowan college at the chapel hour.

Senator Graham was introduced by Dr. Tom Brown, former Director of Agriculture Vocational training at State College. The address was heard by a number of people from Murfreesboro and Hertford County as well as the students and faculty of the college.

After a short discussion of Chowan College and its historic association with Murfreesboro and Northeastern North Carolina Senator Graham told a number of anecdotes about when he was a Marine in World War I.

"Cooperation should be our password." Only by cooperation between the church, schools, stores and the institutions of a community; cooperation between the counties of the state; between the states of the nation and between the nations of the world can there be peace, said the Senator.

Rabbi Stern to be Here

Rabbi Malcolm Stern under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua Society of Cincinnati, Ohio, is to appear at Chowan on April 24-25.

Rabbi Stern will talk during several of the class periods during his two days' stay. He will appear before the classes of Messrs. Staples, C. V. Williams, Jarvis, and Martindale.

For the chapel program Monday, April 24, he will speak on "Presenting Your Jewish Neighbor" and for Tuesday's chapel hour he will talk on "Where Judaism and Christianity Meet and Separate."

Mr. Stern will have a full schedule on both days. His activity will start at 8:15 a.m. and extend through 8:00 p.m. each day.

Visiting Speakers to be Here for Religious Emphasis Week

"Religion is Reality". This is the theme for religious emphasis week which begins at Chowan College, Monday, April 7. Mr. Austin Staples, head of the Department of Religion at the college, has made arrangements with four outstanding speakers for the week of April 17-21.

The speakers are the Reverend James Ray of Raleigh, the Reverend W. W. Finlator of Elizabeth City, the Reverend Warren F. Taylor of Murfreesboro, and the Reverend Boyce Brooks of Albemarle.

Mr. Ray is the secretary of the Baptist Student Union of North Carolina. He will speak in the Murfreesboro Baptist Church April 5.

Mr. Finlator is the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Elizabeth City, and formerly pastor of the Walden Baptist Church. He served on a committee of fifteen to make a special study for the Baptist Convention, investigating use of federal funds for Baptist institutions. Mr. Finlator spoke to the student body earlier in the year.

Mr. Taylor, pastor of the Baptist Church of Murfreesboro, has spoken at the college several times previously.

Mr. Brooks, formerly of Roxboro, moved to Albemarle April 1, as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Albemarle. He is a trustee of Wake Forest College and a one-time member of the General Board of the North Carolina Baptist Convention. Mr. Brooks is a brother-in-law of Mr. Leon Spencer, business manager of Chowan College.

Mr. Ray will speak in chapel Monday, April 17, on the subject, "Believe You Me". Every evening, from 7:00 to 7:45, Mr. Finlator and Mr. Brooks will conduct a seminar on the subjects, "Love, Courtship, and Marriage", and "What's Right? What's Wrong?" At 8:00 Monday evening, Mr. Finlator will speak on the subject, "Wanted—a God not too Personal".

Tuesday morning, Mr. Finlator will have charge of the chapel service. His subject will be "What's It to You?" That evening, Mr. Ray will speak on "Youth Seeks a Master".

Mr. Brooks will take as his subject, "Beautiful, But", for the regular chapel period on Wednesday. For the evening services, Mr. Brooks will speak on, "Christ Looks at Youth".

"Strictly in the Grove" will be the subject for the Thursday morning chapel service, which will be conducted by Mr. Taylor. That evening, Mr. Taylor will speak on "How Big is Your World?"

Friday morning, Mr. Ray will speak on the subject, "Don't Catch the Wrong Bus". Mr. Finlator will complete the week's activities Friday night, speaking on the subject, "Its the Follow Through That Counts".

The public is invited to the evening worship services. The speakers will live on the campus and will visit with classes during the week. The B. S. U. of the college will arrange two or three social hours after the evening services.

JIMMY RAY
State Secretary of Baptist Student Union

Joyce Ann Joyner and Billy Edwards, both of Murfreesboro, will reign over Chowan's May Day festivities as Queen and King, respectively, on May 19.

Joyce Ann and Billy were elected by student vote. Two other nominees for Queen will be members of the May Court, Betty Glenn Griffin of Ahoskie as maid of honor and Frances Peele of Woodland as an attendant. Betty Glenn was runner-up for queen, and Frances was in third place.

Fred Parker of Murfreesboro will be Prince, having placed second in the balloting for King. Third place winner is Jimmy Dula of Williamsburg, Va., who will be an attendant to the King.

Other members of the Queen's Court are Jane Ellen Jernigan, Ahoskie; Nina Turner, Smithfield, Va.; and Barbara Jean Archer, Jackson. In the King's Court will be Colon Jackson, Hertford; Buddy Bass, Roanoke Rapids; and Donald Vann, Murfreesboro. The attendants were selected also by ballot. Nominees were chosen at a student body meeting several weeks ago.

Complementary to the royalty will be Williams Wiggins of Gatesville and Frances Joyner of Scotland Neck in the role of the proverbial court jesters.

Children in the festivities will be Mildean Layton, Jane Hill, Kathie Fisher, Marion Williams, Ely Whitehead and Walt Lackey, all of Murfreesboro.

Mary Jennings of Elizabeth City and Ruth Taylor of Suffolk, Va., will combat for the Queen.

The traditional May Pole Dance as well as the dancing of the polka, minuet and waltz will be featured in the celebration. The maid of honor and prince will crown the Queen and the King.

Miss Jo Keeter, director of May Day, states that the Queen's attendants will wear pastel colors but that the materials have not been selected yet.

The May Day event will be held on the campus and will be followed the same evening by the Senior Class play.

A large number of high school seniors and visitors will be expected to be present for the day's events. All indications are that the campus will be in a holiday mood and the day will be a red letter one for Chowan students.

Chapel Programs Outlined

The Rev. Austin Staples, Bible teacher of Chowan college, has invited a list of notable speakers for the chapel programs for the coming weeks.

The following have been invited to speak:

April 5—Mr. Charles H. Jenkins of Aulander.

April 12—Reverend Julian Hopkins of Suffolk, Va.

April 14—Mr. Willis Smith, a candidate for U. S. Senator.

April 26—Rev. Heath Tadlock of Ahoskie, N. C.

April 28—Dr. T. H. Dawson of Hertford, N. C.

Mr. Jenkins, the Reverend Hopkins, Mr. Smith and Mr. Tadlock have not accepted the invitation yet, but Mr. Staples is expecting to hear from them any day.

Mr. Staples says he hopes "the students will enjoy the speakers that have been invited."
