Braves Take Columbian Prep In Season's Last Game, 16-12

The powerful Cadets of Columbian Prep, boasting a 7-1 record for the season, came to Murfreesboro Saturday night, Nov. 15, to do battle with a fired-up band of Chowan Braves, and returned to Washington on the short end of a 16-12 score.

The good right arm of quarterback Murphy Smith and the trusty toe of Chowan's ace kicker, Ray Cox, put the victory points on the scoreboard, but an alert, hard-charging Brave came in for a full share of credit for the win.

The Cadets completely dominated the first period of play. Chowan had the ball for only six offensive plays during the quarter and ended the first period with a minus rushing yardage.

Paul Dusenberry's 9-yard plunge into the end zone climaxed a 57-yard sustained drive for Columbian's first score. Campbell ran the extra point and it appeared that the Cadets were going to turn the contest into a total rout.

In the second quarter, however, the Braves came to life. They contained the Cadets deep in Cadet territory, and when Columbian quarterback Jimmy Stewart went back to punt, Brave linebacker Luby Boykin red-dogged through and blocked the kick.

With the goal line just 27-yards away, the Indian smelled touchdown. They got it, too, just three plays later when Murphy Smith tossed a 22-yard strike to his former high school teammate, Elton Roberson. Ray Cox tied it up at 7-7 with a perfect placement.

At the end of the half it was still 7-7, and also at the end of the third quarter, but the Braves had a first down on the Cadet 17-yard line when the quarter ended.

Just seconds later with a fourth down situation on the Columbian six, Ray Cox entered the game with his favorite ballholder, Jimmy Moy. The two former Craddock teammates came through. Cox's field goal attempt split the uprights and gave the Braves a 10-7 margin. Their lead was short-lived.

The Cadets put the ball in play from their own forty following the kickoff return, and covered the 60 yards to paydirt in nothing flat.

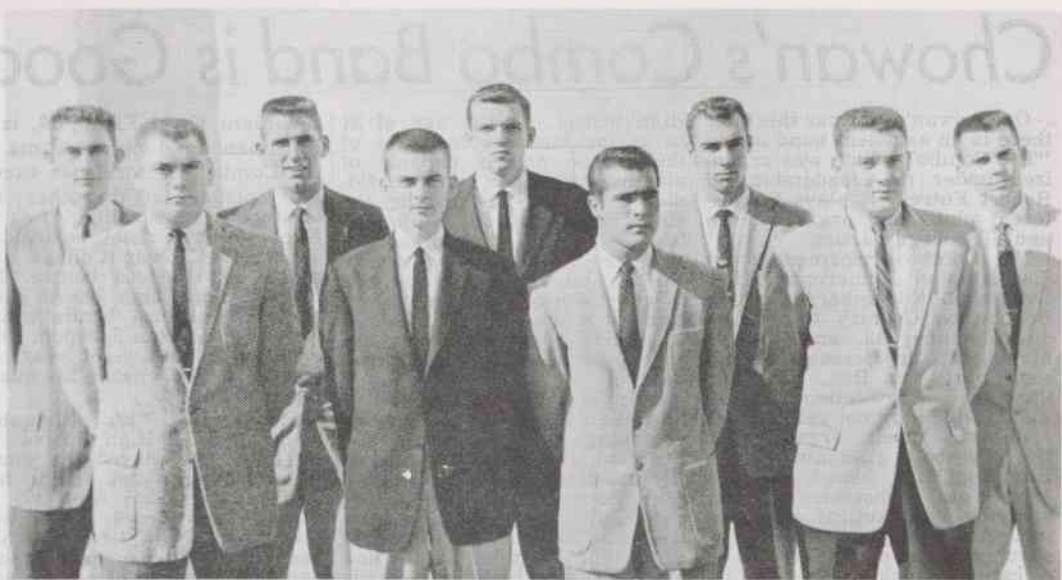

Chapman got 3 yards off tackle. Stewart connected with end Gary Kellner for 37 yards and a first down on the Indian twenty. Then, John Sullivan rambled 20 yards for the TD. Dusenberry ran for the extra point and the score was Columbian 14, Chowan 10.

With about five minutes of playing time remaining, defensive halfback Ken Wise filched one of quarterback Stewart's aerial shorts and returned to the Chowan forty-seven.

On a keeper play from that point, Murphy Smith moved the ball to the Cadet forty-nine. The next play started out exactly as the preceding one, but Smith completely fooled the Columbian defenders when he lofted a pass far down field. Co-captain Lanny Roof, all by himself at the Cadet 25-yard line, gathered in the toss and traveled unmolested into the end zone for the winning touchdown.

The Cadets stormed back and moved all the way to the Chowan 15-yard line. At that point the valiant Brave forward wall saved the day when they jarred the ball loose as the Cadet fullback went into the line. Co-captain Gary Henman pounced on the ball with only 35 seconds remaining and that was the ball game.

The contest was a bruising battle between two well-coached teams and the spectators were treated to an evening of exciting football. The Braves were up for the contest and determined to bring a rather dismal season to a satisfactory climax. They did just that with a team effort which was a credit to themselves and to their coaches, Jim Garrison and Jerry Hawkins.

I would like to recommend Dwight "Country" Compton to anyone who needs a "mohawk" haircut. It seems that when everyone was having their hair trimmed a few weeks ago, "Country" was the head barber.

Quite a few of the students, in order to celebrate their haircuts, decided to have a bonfire and a war dance. The place chosen was two of the speed humps on "Pine Drive".

There was a lot of school spirit displayed at the Homecoming game with Wingate. Despite the loss the Braves suffered, I think it was a well played game. Wingate just had too much bench strength.

I would like to note that the Wingate "Bulldogs" were rated as the number two junior college in the South. They had had only one touchdown scored against them all year, previous to the "Braves" encounter.

Football season is over, and the spotlight invariably turns to basketball. Chowan's chances of having a very fine season looks good. The Braves have nine lettermen returning. Reports have been good on the Freshmen "hoopsters" also.

The football team has tried several things this year as means of winning a game. First they said that no one was going to shave until they won a game, and then they tried the haircuts, but that was to no avail. I'm sure glad that the shaving gimmick worked. We sure could have had some Rip Van Winkles running around on the campus. That is if the girl friends didn't put a stop to it first.

The Braves of Chowan have been playing some mighty exciting football this year, although their record doesn't show it. The boys deserve a lot of credit for their efforts.

There are eight home basketball games scheduled this year. Be sure to come out and support the team.

The school spirit was at its peak just prior to the Homecoming game. We had two of the finest pep rallies that I have witnessed so far this year. The one during chapel was different and unique. Also, I think all of the students would like to thank Mr. Marable for his fine leadership at the bonfire that same evening.

Ten From Last Year's Squad Aid To Braves

Ten Chowan College football Braves wore the blue-and-white moleskins for the last time this week, when the Braves closed their season against a strong Columbian Prep eleven from Washington, D. C.

The veterans, who ended their careers before the home fans Saturday, November 15, are: backs, Co-captain Lanny Roof, Enfield; ends, Jerry Bean, High Point, "Sally" Thomason, Clarksville, Va., and Elton Roberson, Robersonville; tackles, Co-captain Joe Bland, Williamston, Tommy Daughtry, Princess Anne, Va., and Dwight "Country" Compton, Cedar Grove; guards, Co-captain Gary Henman, Norfolk, and Bob Cotten, New Bern, center, Bobby Swineford, Disputanta, Va.

One other senior performer, Weeksville's fullback Clyde "Jughead" Morgan, suffered an injury in the East Carolina game which sidelined him for the remainder of the season.

The Braves record may not have seemed too impressive as far as wins and losses are concerned — three wins and eight losses—but the team played very good ball for the most part all season.

The team made a very fine showing in upsetting the three teams they defeated, and played some very close ball with some of the other teams.

Football season is over, and basketball is wending its way into the sports highlight at Chowan.

The Braves seem to be in very good condition as far as returning personnel is concerned.

However the Braves have a pretty difficult grind ahead of them. They are playing as rough a schedule as any junior college in North Carolina.

This years schedule is as follows:

Date	Opponent	Place
Nov. 28-29	Tournament at Gardner-Webb
Dec. 5	E. M. I.	Home
Dec. 6	U. of Richmond	J. V.
Dec. 11	Wilmington	Home
Dec. 13	Frederic	Home
Dec. 15	Atlantic Christian J. V.	Home
Jan. 9	P. J. C.	Home
Jan. 10	P. J. C.	Home
Jan. 12	Louisburg	Home
Jan. 15	Frederic	Home
Jan. 17	Atlantic Christian J. V.	Home
Jan. 29	Oak Ridge	Home
Jan. 30	Campbell	Home
Feb. 2	Louisburg	Home
Feb. 6	Wilmington	Home
Feb. 7	E. M. I.	Home
Feb. 10	U. of Richmond	Home
Feb. 13	Oak Ridge	Home
Feb. 14	Campbell	Home
Feb. 19, 20, 21	North Carolina Junior College Tournament

A REAL EYE-CATCHER — With such pretty cheerleaders as Bonnie Tinkham of Alexandria, Va., Chowan's basketball team should be pepped up enough to win every game. Yes sir, this is youth at its very best. Go, Braves, Go!
