Summer School June 13-July 22

The 1960 Summer School session at Chowan College will be held from June 13 through July 22.

According to Director of Admission Ross Cadle who made the announcement, course work will be offered on three levels: high school, college, and graduate.

For college students, Chowan will offer classes in English, mathematics, biology, history, business administration, and graphic arts (printing), as well as other courses for which the demand is sufficient. The college will also offer certain courses for high school students.

East Carolina College will operate an extension center on the Chowan campus and offer, during the same dates, course work which may be used for the renewal of teaching certificates and for advanced degree credit.

Cadle also stated that a second six-weeks term would follow the June 13-July 21 session provided there is sufficient demand for it.

The four student cottages on Chowan's campus have been moved back to make way for the new men's dormitory, which is expected to be ready for occupancy by the fall term beginning in September, weather permitting.

In a recent interview with The Rev. Oscar Creech, director of Chowan College's development program, he said the four cottages had an interesting beginning. They were built in the spring of 1949. This was the year that Chowan reopened after having been closed in 1943. Rev. Creech went on to say, the cottages were built to offer additional accommodations for boys. People of Murfreesboro furnished the money to build the four cottages.

The cottages have five rooms with two students to a room. Two cabins have been moved behind the Mixon dormitory the other two will be behind the new dormitory.

Mr. George Rogister from Scotland Neck is the house-moving contractor.

Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker said the new dormitory will have 11 beds. Each room will have built-in furniture similar to that in the girls dorm. Each boy will have his own wardrobe, desk, and study light. There will be no lavatory facilities in the rooms. The new dormitory will be equipped with an automatic washer and a dryer.

There will be a combination recreation-lounge area, and the dorm will have an efficiency apartment for the Dean of Men or a house-mother, as the case may be. There will also be a guest room with private bath. An inter-com system will also be installed.

Committee On Endowment Has Planning Meet

A luncheon meeting of the Chowan College Endowment Committee was held in the blue room of the College cafeteria, Tuesday, January 5.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Gilbert Stephenson of Pendleton, one of the nation's top authorities on wills and trusts.

A discussion was held on preparing a mailing list composed of people who are interested in helping to build the college. The college will also send out, quarterly, to those on the mailing list, a series of leaflets concerning the endowment program.

It was decided that the chairman of the Endowment Committee will appear before the Chowan Board of Trustees in March to inform them of the actions of the committee. The committee approved the term, "Builders of Chowan College Endowment", to apply to each person who makes gifts by will to the college for its endowment.

The long-range plan is to secure an endowment of two million dollars.

IF YOU THINK of a good line, and then somebody else writes it and gets paid for it, you get mad at yourself.

SOME FACES ought not to be taken in broad daylight.

VERY MUCH MISSED — Miss Patsy Delaney, for three years assistant to Miss Arelia Adams, college bursar, resigned in December. She is now secretary to her father at the Woodland Casket Co. Everyone on the college campus—student, faculty and staff—wishes for Patsy everything that is good. This attractive and efficient young lady is already missed by her many friends at Chowan.

NEW ASSISTANT TO BURSAR — For several years Miss Arelia Adams (right) has been the efficient bursar at Chowan. In her office all financial records are kept up to date, with much detail work in handling the affairs of the college, such as student payments, other incomes, paying bills, inventories, and so on. To assist Miss Adams, and replacing recently resigned Miss Patsy Delaney, Mrs. Elaine S. Cooke (left) was recently appointed by the administration. Mrs. Cooke, the wife of Highway Patrolman Bruce Cooke, previously was employed at the Planters National Bank, Ahoskie.
