Republicans Form Club At Chowan

Early last month, the Young Republican Club of Chowan College and Murfreesboro was founded. Several projects of major eminence were placed on the agenda of the club for the academic year 1964 - 1965.

Since the Club's organization, they have worked in connection with the recent National elections. This included: poll watching, passing out of literature and attending rallies and dinner meetings.

During the remainder of the year a series will commence on the "in and outs" of American politics! On Nov. 9, Mr. Conger returned to speak on the John Birch Society. He spoke to the student body on Oct. 23 in Chapel.

The officers of the club are: Ray Haynie, President; Moses Whitcher and Phil Pearson, Vice Presidents; Sue Seigel, Secretary; and Mary Sue McDonald Treasurer. Professor Ted W. Goodmen is the club sponsor.

Art Exhibit Displayed Here

The Chowan College Public Entertainment Committee secured for display here last month, the work of advanced art students of East Carolina College. The exhibit featured a collection of ten oil paintings, and was sent to Elon College to be placed on exhibit.

Mr. Eugene Williams, chairman of the Public Entertainment Committee, said "we are extremely fortunate in securing this work of art for display at Chowan College."

UNANIMOUS VOTE

George Washington received a unanimous vote of the electoral college both times he became President of the United States.

LUNG WEIGHT

An average adult's lungs weigh approximately three and one-half pounds.

Please, Just a Coke!

Steaks and mashed potatoes seem to be the dream of every female student in Girls' Dorm B! In reality, it is peanut butter on crackers and a coke.

After living on campus for about two months one would think the stomach could adjust to not having a coke and a sandwich at 11:30 P.M. This may appear to be such a trivial matter that it does not sound like a problem at all. It is a problem; however, when the drink machines are placed on the other side of the outside door, and those doors are locked at 10:00 P.M.! If this is not enough, the machines must have the correct change inserted!

Realizing that time is slipping by, and it is 9:30, a student feverishly searches through her pocketbook for a dime. Discovering there is none, she snatches out a bill. The jet-like speed, which is obtained while running down the hall to the drink machine, is immediately halted with a screech of bedroom slippers.

Hysterically looking down at her hand, she sees that the bill is a five and not a one. Now, all girls know that if they are holding a five dollar bill in their hands, they have gone into the wrong pocketbook? Speed is resumed once again — only this time in the opposite direction; back to her room — and time passes!

A dollar is found and another game begins. The name of the game is "Who on this hall has change for a dollar." We can

Letters Welcomed

The Chowanian welcomes letters from its readers. The briefer they are, the better the prospect of publication. Letters should be kept to a maximum of 350 words. They should be legibly written and only on one side of the paper, please. They should be typewritten if possible.

They should also be of general interest. All are subject to editorial consideration and should conform to the standards of decency responsibility for statements made.

now see our subject dashing madly about the hall from one room to another, trying desperately to find change for that ever haunting dollar bill.

The energy, so vividly displayed earlier, is declining rapidly as the clock ticks away the minutes. Finally, after much searching, a dime is borrowed. It was found on the third floor. The drink machine, naturally, is on the first floor!

Off she races again with the bounding speed of a gazelle, only to run down two flights of stairs; fall over the girl on hall duty; to find a locked door! Alas! Here she stands, gaping at the rectangle of wood, knowing that behind it is — a coke and happiness!

There are many realities in our dorm, this has been one of them.

The people who tell you not to worry about the small things have never slept in a room with a mosquito in it.

How True

Mankind has improved everything except human nature.

Old Quote?

Grandpa used to know it as wine, women, and song. Today it's just Metracal, same old gal, and Sing Along With Mitch.

Trouble Shooter . . .

An expert is a person who is called in at the last moment to share the blame.

There aren't enough crutches in the world for all the lame excuses.

Spastic Epitaphs

In a Wilmington, N.C. cemetery one can read:

"Here lies the body of John A. Brown,

Lost at sea and never found."

In a New England Cemetery you find:

"Here lies an atheist, All dressed up and no place to go."

Sign in a Norfolk office: Keep your mind on your work, your nose to the grindstone, your shoulder to the wheel, and your hands to yourself. (And I sure feel funny in this position.)

Math majors take note:

Sign on a math class door: "Let no man ignorant of math enter this room."

A closer look revealed the room empty.

What?

The dictionary on my editor's desk says that the words "exodus" and "Friday" are interchangeable at Chowan.

Ouch!

I was reported that during the recent national campaign

Florida and California for more Goldwater! (more orange-juice)

Now Here this

A memo from a local boss to his employees reads:

Notice to all employees: It has come to my attention that employees have been dying on the job and are either refusing or neglecting to keel over. This practice must stop.

Any employee found dead on the job, whether in an upright or prone position will be immediately dropped from the payroll.
