

Chowan Braves Represented on '64 All-Region Ten Team

RICKY DUDLEY

Three members of the Chowan College grid pack have been selected on the District Ten All Region Team. Head Coach James Garrison has announced that Ricky Dudley of Mebane, 6'3", 215-pounder, tackle; John Arendts of Virginia Beach, Va., 185-pound guard; and Tommy Grayson of Lexington, 175-pound halfback. David Whitten of Durham, 185-pound center was given honorable mention.

Dudley, a sophomore, was a standout on both offense and defensive play. He was one of only a few who ran both ways on the Braves team. Reliable sources indicate that Dudley will probably pick one of four senior colleges for his last two years, the University of Richmond, Guilford, Elon College, or Appalachian State. Dudley is a graduate of Southern Alamance High School and played football there and at Mebane High School prior to consolidation.

Arendts, an All-State high school football player graduated from Virginia Beach High School. He was another two-way man for Garrison. Also a sophomore, he plans to attend the University of Richmond. Garrison pointed out that Arendts was one of the fastest men on the Braves Club, thus enabling him to lead the entire team in the total number of individual tackles.

Grayson captured honors as the leading scorer in the District Ten. He graduated from Lexington High School where he played football and plans to complete his last two years of college work in possibly one of the Carolina Conference schools or the University of Connecticut.

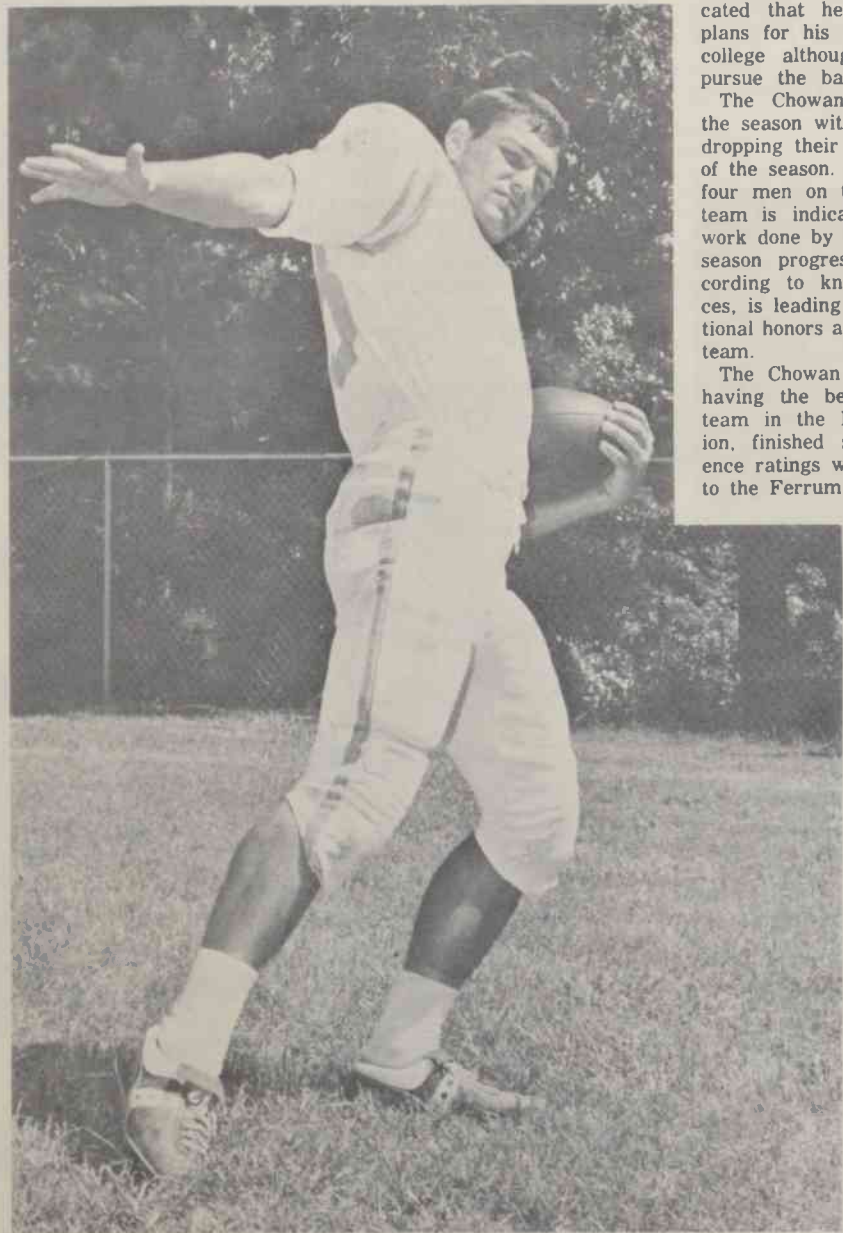

Dave Whitten is a graduate of Durham High School and had the reputation of being the "spark-plug" of the team. He served with Tom Grayson as co-captain for the Braves. Whitten has indicated that he has no definite plans for his last two years of college although he intends to pursue the bachelor's degree.

The Chowan Braves finished the season with 6-3 record after dropping their first two contests of the season. The choice of the four men on the All-Conference team is indicative of the hard work done by the Braves as the season progressed. Dudley, according to knowledgeable sources, is leading contender for national honors as a member of the team.

The Chowan Braves, although having the best record of any team in the District Ten Region, finished second in conference ratings with the title going to the Ferrum College Panthers.
