Class of 1893

MRS. CLAUD GORE, the former Mamie Brewer and a daughter of the late Dr. John B. Brewer, President of Chowan College from 1881-1896 and 1918-1920 has died. Chowan was notified of Mrs. Gore's death by her daughter, Mrs. Edward R. Tull of Rockingham, N. C.

Class of 1918

MRS. JESSE JONES, the former GERTRUDE TAYLOR, is the author of "North Carolina History of the American Cancer Society," copyright 1966 by the North Carolina Division of the American Cancer Society and published by Irving-Swain Press, Inc., Raleigh. A copy of this volume has been contributed to Chowan College's library by the author, who is noted as "one of the state's oldest and most active volunteers in the fight against cancer."

She organized most of the ACS chapters in eastern North Carolina.

Back in the early 40's when the Cancer Society was the Women's Field Army and cancer was a whispered word, she hauled a projector from town to town and attempted to educate the public about the disease. Mrs. Jones also writes short stories and has won a blue ribbon for one she wrote about Fort Macon. She is the widow of a Kinston attorney and her daughters, Betsy (now Mrs. James Todd of Kinston) and Gertie (now Mrs. R. C. O'Dowd of Winston-Salem) have given her seven grandchildren.

Class of 1957

CHARLIE DELANO BLYTHE was recently named "Jaycee of the Month" by the Roanoke Rapids Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a state director for the Jaycees who was presented the "Key Man Award" in 1965 and is a foreman in the Forestry Department of Albemarle Paper Company.

WHAT'S SO AMUSING?" Patsy Davidson of Alexandria, Va., right, seems to be thinking as she watches Chowan College classmates Jennifer Lynn Parker of Woodland, left, and Mary Lee Griffin of Pittsboro enjoying a letter from home (or him?)

CHOWAN COLLEGE'S SPRING CONVOCATION ADDRESS was delivered by Dr. Jack R. Noffsinger, center, outstanding youth speaker, author and theologian who pastors Winston-Salem's Knollwood Baptist Church. Sophomores discussing his topic with him are Madge Baldwin of Newport News, Va., and John Ward of Gatesville. Dr. Noffsinger contrasted the religious fervor of Communist youth, as seen in China's Red Guards, with the apathy and unconcern of modern young Americans.

Class of 1959

RANDOLPH V. "RANDY" BRITTON, JR., was recently ordained as a deacon by the Menola Baptist Church in an impressive ceremony with the Reverend Henry W. Stough, superintendent of missions for the West Chowan Baptist Association, bringing the "charge." He has supplied leadership for the Board of Directors and other activities of Chowan College's Alumni Association.

Class of 1961

ALLEN AUTRY is a partner in the Investment and Pension Service firm of Autry and Martin of Winston-Salem. He received both his Bachelor's degree and his law degree from Wake Forest and is married to the former Dianna Wilson of Madison, N. C., also a graduate of Wake Forest.

Class of 1963

VIVIAN CAROL MASON is now living in Naruna, Va.

MRS. JOHN H. SANDFORD, the former CAROLE DIANNE LINDSEY, who serves the Norfolk and Tidewater Area Chapters of the Chowan College Alumni Association as President, now lives in the University Garden Apartments at 5817 Frament Avenue, Apartment 201, Norfolk, Va. She and her husband formerly lived at Virginia Beach. A graduate of Lehigh University, he is with the Ford Motor Company. They expect their first child in April.

Class of 1964

WILLIAM BROOKS PRINCE, chairman of the Republican party organization in North Carolina's Washington County, is being listed in the first edition of "Who's Who in American Politics."

GLENN WILLIAM ROLLINS, JR., is now serving in the United States Air Force. His home is in Warsaw, N. C., and he formerly reported sports news for a number of newspapers in that area. While a Chowan student, he was sports editor for "The Chowanian."

Class of 1965

LULA DIANNE FREEMAN and Edward Carroll Evans. They live at Winterville, N. C., and he is a student at Pitt Technical Institute.

Class of 1966

ELLEN LANE CARROLL and James Benson Aycock. They are making their home at Cameron Court, Raleigh, N. C.

MARY CAROLYN EVANS and JAMES WILSON PIERPOINT. They live in Murfreesboro.

WILLIAM HUGH PAYNE of Burlington, who has been active in campus life with the Baptist Student Union, is now serving in the United States Navy.

GLENN LAMAR CLARK, former Most Valuable Player for Chowan's gridiron Braves, is living at Fayetteville. He formerly lived in Lexington. He is a salesman for Reynolds Aluminum Company and his address is 4634 Canterbury Road, Fayetteville, N. C.

JANET RAE LEONARD, former all-around athlete and campus recreation leader, is a varsity starter and high-scorer for Old Dominion College's girls basketball team. Janet's gym-runners opened the season against her former team-mates at Chowan's gymnasium.

Chowan Graduate Reports From Cuba

The former Elsa Miranda, class of 1957, is now married and has three sons: 5½, 4½, and nine months old. She reports that her husband is a Christian and that the Lord has blessed them, but she feels very sad because she believes she will never see her friends in the United States again.

Her address is: Rte. Mrs. Elsa Miranda; Calle 93 No. 2406; Reparte Tulipan; Cienfuegos, Las Villas, Cuba.
