

HOLD MEETING HERE—Foreign language teachers from the state's seven Baptist Colleges pose for a group picture while meeting at Chowan College on Oct. 9 and 10. The group's president is M. Eugene Williams, chairman of Chowan's language department. He is seated second from the right on the back row. Collectively they instruct French, Spanish, Latin, German and Russian.

Foreign Language Teachers Meet

Foreign language teachers from the state's seven Baptist colleges met at Chowan College Oct. 9 and 10. The president of the group is M. Eugene Williams, chairman of Chowan's language department.

Activities included registration at 4 p. m. in the faculty lounge of McDowell Columns and dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the President's Room of Thomas Cafeteria. The first session was held at 8 p. m. in Marks Hall auditorium and featured an address by Dr. Douglas William Alden, professor of French Literature and chairman of the department of modern languages at the University of Virginia. A reception followed at the home of Williams.

Two general sessions were planned for Saturday morning in Marks Hall. At 9 o'clock problems peculiar to language departments were discussed in open forum. Following 30-minute discussion groups, a second session was held at 11 with participants grouped according to subject matter: French, Spanish, Latin, German and Russian.

Lunch and an optional tour of the campus at 12:30 p. m. completed the program. Other Chowan professors serving as officers in addition to Williams are Dr. Morris Carson, vice-president, professor of Spanish; and Mrs. Betty Batchelor, secretary, English.

Alumnus Joins B&W in Ohio

Jack J. Williams, a 1968 graduate of Chowan College's School of Graphic Arts, has been named a public relations assistant at The Babcock & Wilcox Company's power generation division headquarters, Barberton, Ohio.

Williams, a native of Waycross, Ga., was named to the position after prior service with the Waycross Journal-Herald, where he served as a reporter with the publication as a foreign correspondent in Vietnam, as well as local news upon his return.

Besides his formal education at Chowan, he also attended the Rochester Institute of Technology, Rochester, N.Y.

Up until the date of his appointment, he was employed as a United States Capitol Policeman in Washington, D.C., under the patronage of U.S. Senator Richard B. Russell.

Babcock & Wilcox's power generation division is one of the largest suppliers of conventional and nuclear steam generation systems for electrical power, industrial process and marine service. It also is a major producer of hollow forgings; pressure vessels; nuclear reactors; heat exchangers; tubular oxygen-converter hoods for use in the steel industry; filter, wet scrubber and gas absorption systems for air pollution control,

Chowan Grad Heads Arkansas Printing School

Vernon J. Hall of Jonesboro has joined the Southern State College staff as director of printing, according to Dr. Imon E. Bruce, president of the college.

A native of Stokes County, Hall graduated from Seagrove High School at Seagrove before earning his A.A. degree in printing from Chowan College and his B.S.E. from Arkansas State University.

He has been employed with "The Herald" at Ahoskie, the "Courier Tribune" at Asheboro and the "Jonesboro Sun" and has been a member of Circle K, student affiliate of Kiwanis, and the Graphic Arts Club.

Hall is a Navy veteran, having served at San Diego, Calif., Great Lakes, Ill., and Washington, D. C.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hall of Asheboro, he is married to the former Faye Hill Hall, daughter of Virgil Hill of Asheboro. The Halls have one daughter, Tammy Tero,

Over $500,000 Aid Is Available

Realizing the impact of college expenses on students and their families, Chowan College administers an extensive aid program to deserving students in need of financial assistance. Chowan's total program exceeds one-half million dollars.

It is estimated that about one out of every three students attending Chowan College receives some type of financial aid. In addition to scholarships, help is given through grants-in-aid, student employment and loan programs.

Chowan's Competitive Honor Scholarship program awards twenty-three competitive scholarships each year amounting to $12,000. There are also several other scholarships ranging from $100 to $1,000 which are made available by the college and friends of Chowan. Athletic grants-in-aid are awarded to promising athletes in football, basketball and baseball.

Approximately 100 job opportunities are available on campus to students through the college Self Help Program and the Federal Work Study Program. The hours that a student works are arranged so there is no interference with the class schedule and study time. A student may work up to 15 hours per week and is paid on an hourly basis. Chowan also participates in the PACE and STEP Programs so that students may find jobs during the summer vacation to help defray the cost of the next year's education.

Chowan College participates in the National Defense Student Loan Program and the Educational Opportunity Grant Program. In the National Defense Student Loan Program a student may borrow up to $1,000 per year based on financial need. No interest accrues on this loan while the student is pursuing a full-time education and there is a nine-month grace period after the student terminates his education. Ten years are allowed for total repayment one-tenth of principal plus interest each year.

A limited number of Educational Opportunity Grants are available to students attending the college. Grants range from $200 to $1,000.

Government insured loans under the Higher Education Act of 1965 are available from College Foundation, Incorporated. A student may borrow up to $1,500 per year from College Foundation, Incorporated.

Chowan Well Represented At Baptist Meeting

Chowan College was represented on the program of the annual meeting of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina, which met recently in Greensboro, by two women who are faculty members.

Mrs. Edith Larson, drama director, directed a play, "Diamonds and Deeds," presented Tuesday afternoon. The drama depicts the story of the beginning of the Kennedy Home in Kinston, one of the state's Baptist Children's Homes.

The chairman of the religion department, Mrs. F.O. Mixon, spoke Wednesday. Also participating in the meetings were Dr. Bruce E. Whitaker, president; Dr. Hargus Taylor, chaplain; and Bobby Cross, director of development.

Chowan Grad Award Winner

A Chowan College medical secretarial intern at Duke Medical Center, Susan Clark, was named recipient of the Seventh Annual Florence Manning Secretarial Science Award during the 1969-70 year.

Open to national competition, the award consisted of $100 and a certificate for outstanding achievement.

Miss Clark finished her nine-month internship in May and received her associate in arts degree.

Alumni News

1968—Mr. & Mrs. W. N. Taylor, Jr., announce the birth of their son, William Nathaniel Taylor, III, on July 10. Mrs. Taylor was the former Maggie Hasty who was a student in the Graphic Arts Department.

1967—Michael Gentry of Roxboro, N.C., was killed in Viet Nam on October 6, 1970.

1965—Mr. & Mrs. Clifford L. Oakes announce the arrival of their adopted son, Russell Scott Oakes, on October 23, 1970. Both are alumni and Mrs. Oakes was the former Patsy Edwards. They now reside in Upper Marlboro, Md.

1951—Colon Jackson has completed a tour of duty in Japan as a Navy chaplain and has been reassigned to the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Tex. He was formerly pastor of First Church, Fayetteville, N. C.

CAMPUS TOUR—Clarence Williams, Chowan's associate director of admissions, is surrounded by Royal Ambassadors while conducting a campus tour during recent R. A.

Day (Sept. 26). The boys were also guests of the college for a football game won by Chowan 26-0 over Potomac State of Keyser, W. Va.