

Circle K Sweeps Convention By Winning Three Awards

Chowan College's Circle K Club swept three awards at the Carolinas District 10th Annual Convention held March 5-7 in Winston-Salem. With 10 members and the faculty sponsor in attendance, the club captured first place for club achievement in the bronze division (less than 15 members) and tied with N. C. State for mile per man award. The club also received a certificate in recognition of services rendered during the last year.

Among the distinguished guests at the convention were Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz, chief of the Women's Division of the U. S. Department of Labor; Anisley C. Wayne, governor of the Carolinas Kiwanis District; Carl Hyatt secretary of the Carolinas Kiwanis District; Lloyd Hardesty, president of Circle K International; and Kiwanis International Trustee Jim Brooks.

Chowan club members, President Steve Marlowe and Vice-president Larry Hale attended the convention as voting delegates.

Circle K is a college service organization sponsored by local Kiwanis clubs. Chowan's club is sponsored by the Ahoskie Kiwanis Club. Among some of the many service projects undertaken by the clubs of the Carolinas District included the building of a school and collecting food for needy families at Thanksgiving.

Commenting on the convention, Marlowe said, "Our attendance at the convention was made possible by help from the Ahoskie Kiwanis Club through Mr. Milton Flythe, chairman of the Circle K Club committee."

George Hazelton, the faculty advisor, said, "It is very encouraging to know and work with a group of young college men who will take time away from their studies for something other than personal recreation. The college and the Ahoskie Kiwanis Club can be proud of this group of men. I have seen too much in the news about college students trying to burn things and clamoring about injustices. Here is a group of students who are also concerned about the world they find themselves in but unlike so many others, they are trying to do something about it in a constructive way. It is my observation that this group of men, Circle K International, will grow in influence and action on our college campus."

The members from Chowan who attended the convention in addition to Marlowe and Hale were: James Burnam, secretary; Frank Snyder, treasurer; Sidney Young, Paul Howard, Jack Leatherwood, Bruce Young, Jim Hunter, and Larry Lupoli.

Chowan Players Present "Pure As Driven Snow"

The Chowan College Players presented Paul Loomis's melodrama "Pure as the Driven Snow" as their spring production March 3, 4, and 5 in McDowell Auditorium on the Chowan campus.

Presented in its 1890 setting, the play included vaudeville numbers, a villain, a heroine, and a hero.

Students portraying roles in the play included Martie Twiddy, Deth Richey, Meredith Kennedy, Toni Kamp, Linda Moyer and Betsy Smith. Other students seen in roles include Marlene Miller, Mary Joyce Bowen, Skip Holland, Thomas Patt, Ronald Dunn, Joel Rose, and Derwood Gallop.

Featured in musical numbers were Andy Carroll, Hugh Clark, Ted Grissom, Ted Minatel, Derwood Gallop, Thomas Patt, Betsy Smith, Faye Bellamy and Martie Twiddy.

Publicity for the play was handled by Robert Mulder, Howard Perkins, and Charles Gregory. Artists were Scott Watson and Bill Kutz. Student director for the production was Judy Thomas and stage manager was Jeff Burkhart. Other production staff included Ted Minatel and James Frazier, lighting; Frank Butler and Ray Johnson, props; Dan Harrison and Sara Day, scenery.

Costumes and make-up were handled by Betsy Smith, Teresa Abbott, Shirley Croom, and Carol Gray.

Usherettes for the production included Ellen Dilday, Ann Vincent, Martie Lynch, Susie Wilson, Elizabeth Fitchett, and Brenda Woodfin.

Edith Larson, drama coach at Chowan, directed the production. Howard Perkins was pianist and Undine Barnhill, house manager. Both are professors in the English Department. Dr. Morris Carson, professor of Spanish, was in charge of tickets.

SCULPTURE EXHIBIT—The sculpture of Yates Miller, now on exhibit in the Chowan College Art Gallery, is the object of interest of Debbie Dibling, sophomore from East Brunswick, N. J. Miller is an Ahoskie, N. C. native who is presently teaching at Hampton High School. He won the purchase award in the 1970 James River Juried Show in Newport News. A reception was held for the artist March 14. The gallery is open daily from 9 to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 p. m. Sunday hours are from 2 to 5 p. m.

Yates Miller Sculpture On Exhibit In Gallery

The sculpture of Ahoskie artist, Yates Miller, is presently featured in the Chowan College Art Gallery.

Miller is a graduate of Ahoskie High School and attended Atlantic Christian College, Virginia Commonwealth University and Madison College. He is presently working on his master's in art, while teaching at Hampton High School. He plans to teach as a career.

The young artist is rapidly developing a reputation for his creative works. He won the purchase award in the 1970 James River Juried Show in Newport News. His sculpture was also on exhibit in the North Carolina Artist's Show the past two years.

Craig Greene, director of art at Chowan, labels Miller's work "refreshing." He adds, "Miller's statements are always simple and direct. He uses a variety of materials ranging from welded steel to papier-mache.

Greene is impressed with Miller's creativity and versatility. "It is refreshing to see a artist in the process of developing his style. Such is the case with Miller," Greene stated.

He predicts that the sculpture will not evoke any neutrality among visitors to the gallery. "It is exciting and interesting work," Greene concluded.
