

Alumni President Active in Community

A young man who is already several steps up the ladder to success, has recently received recognition in three fields in which he has long been most interested.

Allen Glasgow of Roanoke Rapids, a Halifax County native, has recently been elected to a four-year term of the State Board of Directors of the North Carolina 4-H Development Fund, Inc. at North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

He has also been recently named president elect of the Chowan College Alumni having served as vice president last year.

His third area of achievement is a recent promotion to Rehabilitation Supervisor for Halifax and Northampton Counties in the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Also, this young man has been named as a member of the Advisory Council of the Better Life Institute headed by George Campbell in Roanoke Rapids.

The 4-H Development Fund Inc. is an organization headquartered at N.C. State University which supports programs of 70,000 4-H youths across the state. This Development Fund was organized in 1958 to provide financial support to the 4-H Clubs across North Carolina.

Since its establishment, the Fund has raised more than $1 million for 4-H activities.

The 4-H Development leaders are now spearheading a statewide campaign to add $750,000 for capital improvements in 4-H camps, the clubs national program and the national 4-H Center.

Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Glasgow of Route 2, Halifax. He attended Aurelian Springs High School, where he compiled an outstanding record in scholarship, school service and athletics. He is a 1966 graduate of Chowan College.

At Chowan he was president of the Student Government Association, and was co-author of the first Constitution of this association in the 123-year history of the college.

He later graduated from Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, with a B.A. degree with major in English and a minor in Physical Education.

Glasgow has done graduate study in rehabilitation counseling at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Va. and has attended the Prosthetic and Orthotic Institute at Bowman Gray School of Medicine in Winston-Salem.

He served two years in the United States Army as Senior Personnel Specialist and Staff Writer, the Fourth Armored Division Headquarters, Goepingen, Germany.

While he lived in Germany, the German town named him "Man of the Year." He is the only American ever to receive this honor. While there he participated in all of the social affairs, their church and civic life.

There, also, he made the All-Star Soccer team in southern and west Germany. He says that he learned to play Soccer at ACC and in getting to know the German people he was invited to play with the team.

Glasgow's 4-H work as a youth was outstanding, and he has never lost his interest in the 4-H program and what it offers a young person.

His 4-H work record reads something like this:

In 1963, he was National Champion in the 4-H Electric Program and recipient of the Westinghouse Educational Foundation Scholarship (highest honor in the nation). Also, in 1963, he was the State winner in the 4-H Electric program and was the recipient of a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Ill. He was a member of the North Carolina State 4-H Club (highest honor in North Carolina for achievement in 4-H) and his is a lifetime of over 100 awards in 4-H Club work and was the recipient of a scholarship from Virginia Electric and Power Company. He was nationally-recognized for his work in the 4-H Electric Project and his story and picture appeared in 12 national magazines and newspapers across the United States. Also in 1963, he was the recipient of various awards for leadership, including the William Danforth "I Dare You" Award.

He is an enthusiastic member of the Roanoke Rapids Jaycees, and is in demand as a speaker to youth groups, 4-H Clubs and civic organizations. He is a guest lecturer at Halifax Technical Institute.

His range of interests and activities is broad. He is a junior assistant Scout Master, likes all sports, including skiing, and is an avid hunter and Fisherman. He loves the theater, writes, and is preparing a book of poems for publication.

For several years he has been Senior Rehabilitation Counselor for the N.C. Division of Vocational Rehabilitation office on 10th Street in Roanoke Rapids. He was recently promoted to the position of Rehabilitation Supervisor.

The rehabilitation office in Roanoke Rapids is one of 50 across the state where counselors accept referrals from physicians, hospitals, welfare office, schools and many other agencies.

"One of the most valuable parts of our program," Allen says "is that we can assist the handicapped with funds for obtaining college training. The program decreases dropout figures and offers incentive for college education and for making a useful life in spite of a handicap."

Honor Student Reception Held

Fourteen Chowan students were granted membership in Cast 149 of Delta Psi Omega National Dramatic Fraternity Tuesday, February 1.

This organization is recognized in over 200 colleges and universities in the United States. Membership is conferred upon a student who has met certain qualifications concerning various contributions to drama. Chowan College has been an active chapter since 1968.

Students who became new members are Gina Buchanan, Richard Chapman, Pattie Fallis, Debbie Faulkner, Louis Saunders, Howard Way, Ellen Wallace, Olivia Carawan, Ted Dent, Wayne Ferguson, Martha Lynch, Bob Wrenn and Virginia Roberts.

The cast director is Steve Brannon, director of the Division of Drama.

Students Present Fashion Show

Melody Matthews
Roanoke Rapids, N. C.

Jody Litweinowicz
Chester, Va.

Mrs. Gilbert Francis of Boykins, Va., and a professor at Chowan College gives Donna Pullen of Virginia Beach, Va., some pointers prior to her modeling an evening dress.

The Chowan College Women and Wives Club enjoyed a fashion show at their regular monthly meeting, held in Askew Student Union recently. The show, under the direction of Mrs. Gilbert Francis of Boykins, Va., and a professor at Chowan, featured students modeling new attire for spring and summer.

Mitzi Keeter
Chesapeake, Va.

Vera Smith
Como, N. C.