

Alumnus Active In Newspaper Groups

Kenneth Wilson, far left, is pictured as he addresses members of the Eastern North Carolina Press Association during the spring meeting in Rocky Mount. Wilson was a member of the Class of 1963, and began his newspaper career with the Zebulon Record. Until recently, he was assistant publisher of the Riverton (Wyoming) Riverton Daily Ranger, and now serves as publisher of the Mount Olive Tribune. Wilson's address to the ENCPA newspaper group was to compare newspapers of the far west with those of North Carolina as to philosophy and methods of production.
