

Volleyball Awards Given

Alumnus With Rotary Study Group

Chowan College alumnus, Charles Freeman of Murfreesboro is a member of the Rotary District 771 Group Study Exchange Team which is visiting Tasmania, Australia Feb. 15-Mar. 29, 1980.

A native of Portsmouth Va., he attended Ahoskie High School and received his A.A. from Chowan in 1967, his B.A. in business administration and education from Atlantic Christian College, and master's in business education from Virginia State College.

Freeman is a member of the North Carolina Board of Governors for Distributive Education. Under his supervision, the Murfreesboro High School Distributive Education Club has been chosen as the outstanding organization in the state of North Carolina for the last two years.

Freeman has been a high school football official for the past seven years. He is a Sunday School teacher at the Ahoskie First Baptist Church.

The Groups Study Exchange program provides awards for an exchange of groups of young business and professional men between paired districts in different countries for two-month study periods. In alternate years, a district sends a group of five young men to its paired district and receives a similar group from that same district. The Tasmania District 983 Group Study Exchange Team visited District 771 last year.

Class Tours Industries

The Data Processing 271 class, taught by Mrs. Hattie Jones, left, poses before leaving campus for a field trip to Roanoke Rapids, where they toured several industries.

Charitable Giving

THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE:

A Way to make a Substantial Gift by making small gifts on a regular basis.

There is a unique form of charitable giving whereby you can make a substantial gift to Chowan College by making small gifts on a regular basis. The key is a life insurance plan combined with regular tax deductible gifts.

The plan is simple and it works as follows. You apply for a life insurance policy with a company of your choice and designate Chowan College as the owner of the policy and as beneficiary. Your premium payments on the policy become tax deductible gifts and Chowan College ultimately receives the proceeds from the policy.

There are many advantages of such a gift through life insurance, both to the donor and to Chowan College. Most of all, you will experience the great joy that comes from helping young people to grow and learn and of helping to meet needs that can only be met by those who care enough to give.

We will be happy to talk with you about a charitable gift through life insurance at any time. Simply write or call Bobby Cross (919) 398-4101 or send in the form below for further information.
