Forward March!

Still we grow and there is good reason for our steady and satisfactory growth. The fact that we have not only held our business, but practically doubled it with all competition, indicates that the public mind has not lost sight of the essential requirements that make a bank sound and safe. The principles of conservative banking that have governed our development in the past will shape our future policy.

"Whatever a man soweth that shall he also reap."—Galatians VI. 7.

The chief result of experience is clearness of view in discerning the fertile soil on which to plant that part of today's harvest set aside for tomorrow's betterment. The wise planting of pennies and dollars in a savings account where the growth is certain, is making a virtue, or necessity.

Planting therefore becomes not merely an economic virtue but the "symbol and instrument" of a man's independence.

We offer the security and convenience of this bank for your acceptance.

$40,000 FOR ROADS.

Available for Experimental Road Building in North - Part of $500,000 Appropriations by the Government.

The $40,000 plum for experimental road building in North Carolina, long forecasted for this State, is now a reality. Says a Washington dispatch of the 2nd of May:

Senator Simmons, Secretary Houston and Secretary Burleson reached an agreement today whereby the States in the Union have been divided into eight groups, each group comprising States of similar physical characteristics. One State in each of these eight groups has been selected for experimental road work provided for in Senator Simmons' $500,000 appropriation bill, which was incorporated in the postoffice appropriation bill last year.

North Carolina receives the $40,000 allotted the South Atlantic group of States. The money is available just as soon as Governor Craig decides what road is to be constructed under the plan.

Whatever amount the Federal government spends on the road must be doubled by the locality in which the road is built, on a basis of one third and two-thirds. The road will be built under the direction of the division of public roads, Department of Agriculture.

Senator Simmons expresses the hope today that Governor Craig instead of building one road of twenty-five to forty miles in length arrange for the construction of two roads, one in the east and the other in the west. The more speedily the road is completed, the better Senator Simmons will be in a position to enlarge the plan.

The Senator hopes to "show Congress at its next session that the plan justifies more than a half million dollar appropriation.

Secretary Bryan Delivers Part-

Secretary of State Bryan concluded his mission to the Governor and Legislature of California Saturday afternoon with a message of farewell. To an open joint session of the two houses, attended by the Governor, he gave renewed assurance of the friendly interest and co-operative attitude of the National Administration toward the peculiar problems of California, transmitting the President's latest criticism of the alien land act passed last Friday night by the State Senate and rehearing again those objections already made public. In reply, Senator Gates, speaking for the State, said:

"This Legislature appreciates the honor which has been done to this State by the visit of the Secretary of State. We realize that this coming to cooperate with us marks an era in American politics. It brings the Federal Government into close touch with the individual States."

Mr. Bryan suggested that if a bill such as the President thinks inadvisable be passed that be limited in its operation to 2 years in order that diplomatic efforts might have opportunity to bring about the desired results without fiction.

President Reverses Precedent and is on Side of Constitution.

Anent the objections of Senators to President Wilson's plan of making appointments a Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says other Presidents have not conceived it to be their duty to make appointments upon their own initiative, then ask members of the Senate whether or not they agreed as to the appointees' qualifications. Senators as a rule have regarded it as their right to make appointments, when in political accord with the administration, and then ask the President to give his consent.

The constitution provides that the President shall make appointments "by and with the consent of the Senate," and President Wilson thinks the appointments should be made at the White House and the consent should come from the Senate. It is this reversal of the old practice that has irritated many Senators and has caused them to protest to each other against an innovation that follows the letter of the constitution in handling patronage questions.

Horrible Condition in the Fortress of Scutari.

Conditions in the fortress of Scutari on Wednesday last, when Essad Pasha, the Turkish commander, surrendered to the Montenegrins, were appalling. The Turkish troops and the whole population were in a state of such extreme exhaustion from lack of food that Essad Pasha had been threatened with death unless he agreed to capitulate. When the victors entered they were surrounded by half-starved men and women clamoring for food.

The hospitals also were in horrible condition. Unburied and semi-decomposed corpses were lying about in the streets and in the houses many people were found dead or dying of exhaustion. In the last few days of the siege, whenever Essad Pasha appeared in public he was followed by groups of desperate, famished natives demanding "bread or surrender."

The Montenegrins alleviated the distress of the stricken population by their own supplies were scanty. Kirk Nicholas of Montenegro dispatched three boats to Scutari laden with provisions and medical and sanitary supplies.

The World's Hardest Schoolmaster.

President Wilson, in presenting an American flag to a delegation of 47 schoolboys from San Francisco, gave expression to a bit of philosophy about schoolmasters and school days.

"I dare say you think," said the President, "that schoolmasters are often a bit hard on you in requiring you to do things in order that you may pass the tests of the school, but I want to warn you that when you get out of the school, you are going to have harder schoolmasters than you had before. For the world requires that we make good, no matter what happens, and the man who does things, unthinkingly, wishes he had done things and who promises he will do things. The men I am sorry for are the men who stop to think that they have accomplished something before they stop at the grave itself. You have got to have second wind in this world and keep it up until the last minute."

North Carolina Boys' Corn Record the Finest.

Raleigh-Times. To show what North Carolina boys can do it may be stated that one of them has broken the world's record for corn production, and that this year Prof. I. O. Schaub, who is in charge of the "Boys' Corn Club" in North Carolina, expects to break the high record already established. He says that in 93 counties the clubs have been organized with a membership of 2,500, all of whom have signed the certificates that they will plant the required area, cultivate it in the most approved manner and enter the great competition for the current year. Last year, the leading boy was George West of Kinston, 188 bushels on an acre; in 1911, Charles Parker, of Woodlawn got 235 bushels; in 1910, Ernest Starnds, of Hickory, 147 bushels; and in 1909, John Phillips of Randolph county 131 bushels.

Professor Schaub says that last year 54 per cent of the boys who registered were in the final competition; this being a much larger percentage than in any other state in the Union. He expects this year to far exceed this fine record and that practically every boy will be in the finals.

The Women Have Some Rights Now.

Anonymous. A man can't sell his house and lot without his wife's consent, but he must pay her bills, whatever they are. If he deserts her, she can jug him; if she deserts him, he has to take his medicine. If he jilts her, she can maul him for breach of promise; if she jilts him, he only gets the laugh. If he dies, she gets the property; if she dies, he gets the funeral bill. If he whips her, he gets a worse punishment; if she hits him with a skillet, the world concludes that he deserved it. And still, women demand their rights.

The North Carolina Federation of Women Clubs is in session at Newbern this week.

SUMMARY OF NEW LAWS.

Twenty Acts of the Last Legislature That Are of General Interest.

Progressive Farmer. In addition to the general laws enacted by the recent North Carolina Legislature, a number of less general importance were passed of special interest to the farmers of the State. Among these measures are the following:

1. Authorizing county commissioners and county boards of education jointly to employ a county health superintendent, and his pay coming from the school fund and half from the county funds. This applies only after a six months' school term has been provided for in each district in the county.

2. Authorizing any county with less than $15,000 school fund to join another county in employing a county superintendent for the two counties.

3. Providing that the farm life school appropriation may be used by any county for farm life school work in connection with the regular public high schools of the county instead of for establishing a separate farm-life school.

4. Authorizing women to serve on school committees.

5. Providing that any hog, immediately upon taking hog cholera shall be confined so as to prevent it from getting access to any running stream and so spread the contagion.

6. Authorizing a special committee to ascertain the advisability of having the State publish school books for the children of the State and furnish them to the people at cost.

7. Requires hunters, wagoners, campers, etc., to extinguish all fires.

8. Authorizing a judge to summon a jury from another county instead of moving the case to another county.

9. Authorizing the board of in each county, provided he agrees to farm or teach agriculture two years.

10. Prohibiting any one from lighting a child under 12 years old use a pistol, gun, or other fire arm, loaded or unloaded.

11. Prohibiting the promise or acceptance of any money, office, or political support or influence or reward of any kind in exchange for votes.

12. Making stricter the law prohibiting the sale or gift of cigarettes to persons under 17.

13. A wise measure authorizing counties to do away with the useless office of county treasurer and employ a bank or banks, acting under bond, to serve as treasurer to the county without compensation or salary. Applies to Moore, Beaufort, Montgomery, Rowan, Union, Madison, Mitchell, Granville, Hyde, Polk, Chatham, Perquimans, Carteret and Cherokee. The legislators of these counties should be commended, while the representatives from the 86 other counties who would not allow it to apply to them, ought to be looked after by their constituents. The needless salary paid the county treasurers should be spent in giving the people better schools and better roads.

14. Authorizing county commissioners to prohibit circuses from showing at the same time a county fair is being held.

15. Authorizing any township to vote not more than $50,000 in bonds without waiting for a special act of the Legislature.

16. To establish the "Alliance Union Farm Life School" on the Farmers' Alliance property, at Hillsboro, provided the Farmers' Alliance will donate the site, and the Farmers' Union appropriate $10,000. The State then to give $7,500 annually, and Orange county $2,500 annually as a maintenance fund.

17. Requesting the North Carolina Representatives in Congress to support measures to provide a uniform system of laws on cotton and thus save the farmers the vast amount lost by the present complicated system.

18. Providing that four members of the State board of Agriculture, four trustees of the A. & M. College, the president of the college, and the State Commissioner of Agriculture shall constitute a "joint committee for agricultural work to prevent duplication of effort by the college and the department and promote the efficiency of both."

19. Authorizing the State Board of Agriculture, in case it finds it advisable, to establish lime plants for furnishing agricultural lime to farmers at cost.

20. Providing that school committees shall be elected in July, one for one year, one for two years, and one for three years, instead of all for the same term as heretofore.

What Members of Congress Think of Themselves.

Statesville Landmark. What members of the Sixty-third Congress think of themselves became public when the Congressional Directory was issued a few days ago. This volume contains biographies of Representatives and Senators, prepared by themselves.

Lawyers, as usual, form the bulk of the legislators. Sixty-nine attorneys are in the Senate and 270 in the House. In the Senate there are eight editors, six farmers, five business men, five bankers, two doctors and one soldier. The House contains 79 business men, 33 editors, 10 teachers, 18 farmers, 9 mechanics and workmen, 6 bankers, 6 doctors, 1 author, 1 soldier, 1 preacher and 1 lecturer.

The directory lists in the Senate 51 Democrats, 44 Republicans and 1 Progressive. In the House there are 290 Democrats, 127 Republicans, 7 Progressive Republicans, 9 Progressives and 1 Independent, with a vacant seat caused by the death of Representative Legare of South Carolina.

The House roll call, which for several Congresses has been led by Representative Adair of Indiana, is led in this Congress by John W. Abencrombie of Alabama, a new man.

The new Senator from Kansas, William Howard Thompson, in discussing his future, says: "It is acknowledged by all who will not only bring credit and honor to himself but to the State and the nation as well."

Generally the biographies in the new directory are remarkable for their brevity as compared to former publications. Many of the members confine themselves to simple statements of their political records.

The shortest biography is that of Representative Lundberg of Minnesota, who describes himself simply as "Republican, of Little Falls."

Mr. Kindred of Colorado, discusses his activities against "discriminative railroad rates" and says that the vote of his district that elected him "proves conclusively that the people of Colorado are wide awake to the needs of fair and equitable transportation."

Representative L'Engle of Florida, says he "studied in the public schools of the State and is still trying to get an education," while Representative Hinebaugh of Illinois "was educated in the school of 'hard knocks'."

Mr. Bremner, of New Jersey, declares he never "ran for office until, against his will, he was practically unanimously nominated for the Sixty-third Congress."

Dr. Lyman Abbott, of New York was removed from the list of vice-presidents of the American Peace Society Saturday because he signed the appeal of the Navy League for large naval appropriations.

The wool schedule was passed without amendment by the House Thursday in its consideration of the Underwood tariff bill. In went through with little excitement, its passage causing scarcely a ripple on the smooth waters of the Democratic tariff program.

Announcement has been made at the White House that George W. Guthrie, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the Democratic State committee of Pennsylvania had been offered and accepted the Ambassadorship to Japan. Mr. Guthrie will succeed Lutz Anderson, of Washington and Boston.
