THE SANFORD EXPRESS

FRIDAY, October 25, 1919

LOCAL BRIEFS

Some very good tobacco has been put on the Sanford market this season by planters who never tried to raise it before this year. They took chances on curing it. They were surprised at the good prices they got for it.

The Sanford Milling Company, of this place, has been incorporated for the conduct of a general grain and mill business, authorized capital stock, $100,000 and $10,000 paid in by Messrs. E. A. South, C. H. Torgue and J. W. Byrly.

A regular express and mail train was put on the Seaboard last Sunday. The north-bound train passes Sanford at 10:16 a. m. and the south-bound at 8 p. m. This train is made up of eight express cars and three mail cars and carries no passengers.

Why should farmers in this section continue to be renters if they can raise enough tobacco in one year to pay for a good farm? This has been done this year in Lee county. Are you surprised that the price of land is advancing where this can be done?

Mr. Hugh Jackson was relieved of $18.00 by a pickpocket here Wednesday. He was on his way to the bank to deposit the money when the pickpocket got in his work and saved him the trouble. We understand others lost money the same way.

Mr. J. M. Reed, who bought a 70 acre tract of land near Camden about a year ago, sold a barn of tobacco on the Sanford market Friday for $680. This tobacco was from one acre and some of it brought $1.00 per pound. Mr. Reed expects to more than pay for his farm with money he will realize from nine acres of tobacco.

Mr. William H. Coy, who has been making his home with his son, Mr. W. Henry Coy, in this place for the past two years, has returned from New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts, where he spent the summer. He is 83 years old and made the trip alone, the return trip by boat to Norfolk. He reports having a fine time and is in good health.

The announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Annie Fred Foushee and Mr. Lowery Stafford, both of Greensboro, has been made. The marriage of this popular young couple will occur on November 25th. The bride-to-be is pleasantly remembered in Sanford where she has visited her aunt, Mrs. J. W. Cunningham, on several occasions.

The Express is informed that the farmers of this section were not planning for a big crop of wheat this year as they did last. Some will put in as wheat as they like. The high price of cotton and tobacco has no doubt caused them to reach this decision. They think it is cheaper to raise cotton and tobacco and buy all the flour that their families will consume. Time will tell whether or not this is the wise course to pursue.

We are informed that a number of the farmers in this section are planning to form themselves into a cooperative labor problem has caused them to do this. They say that it is almost impossible to employ labor. They say, it is so high that it is not profitable, even at the high prices of products, to hire a crop made. Some farmers are renting out all their land except the number of acres that they can cultivate themselves.

A citizen of Sanford said to us the other day: "Why don't you advocate a standard reaper for Lee county? Most of the counties in the State have them and they are a protection to the public." The business of a standard reaper is to correct and properly regulate all scales and measures. When he finds that scales give the wrong weight it is his business to see that the owner stop using them until they are corrected. You can readily see how important this thing is. The honest businessman should invite a test of his scales and measures and the dishonest business man should not be allowed to use them without being tested. The office is an electric one and pays about $150.00 per year. Scales and measures are tested some three or four times a year.

Mr. E. G. Norman, general agent for the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company, of Greensboro, is in Sanford arranging for the opening of offices here to handle the territory embracing the counties of Lee, Randolph, Chatham, Moore, Montgomery, Harnett and the northern half of Cumberland, embracing Fayetteville. Accompanying Mr. Norman is Mr. Wm. H. White who also locates in Sanford as a representative of the company.

The John Robinson circus gave performances here Wednesday afternoon and night. A great throng of people from all the surrounding country saw the long parade of horses, show animals, bands etc., as it made its way through the streets soon after the noon hour. It is claimed that the big tent will be probably 10,000. When the performance started in the afternoon all the seats were occupied except those in part of one section. There were probably 8,000 people under canvas, the largest number of people to attend a show here in years. A great sea of faces looked down on the arena from all sides. Although it cost $1.50 to enter and get a reserved seat, thousands of people did not hesitate to pay it. They were show hungry and were willing to pay any old price to see it.

It cost some families from $3.00 to $10.00 to see the circus, but they had the money and were out to spend it. The circus was good and all seemed to enjoy it.

Death of Mrs. M. B. Measamer. Mrs. M. B. Measamer died at the Central Carolina Hospital of this place last Friday at noon. Her remains were carried to her home three miles west of this place, in the Cool Springs section. The funeral services were held at Cool Springs church Saturday afternoon, Rev. Walter M. Gilmore, her pastor, officiating.

Besides her husband, four children survive her, two of them being twins a day old when she died. Mrs. Measamer, who was a native of Union county, was thirty-five years old. She was a devout Christian character and was greatly esteemed by all who knew her.

Much Real Estate Changes Hands. There has been more land sold in this section since about the first of last June than ever before in the same length of time. For weeks almost every passenger train has brought people to this section prospecting for land.

Most of these prospectors were from the eastern and western parts of the State and were hunting tobacco lands. Many bought land and will move in before a time to pitch their crops. One real estate man tells The Express that his cash sales of land since the middle of the summer were greater than all the sales he ever made up to that time. People are anxious to buy land with dwellings on it so that they can move in without having to go the trouble of building. It is now hard to find land in this section with dwellings on it. If people who have land for sale will erect dwellings on it they can sell the property at a great advantage. The demand for homes is about as great in the surrounding country as in Sanford.

Mr. Gus Womble was hostess to a company of friends at a most delightful announcement party at the Sanford Hotel Saturday afternoon from 4 to 8 o'clock. The color scheme was red and green, carried out in Halloween effects. A spirited contest—the Kitchen Romance—was indulged in. Miss Retha Moffitt won the prize, a nut dish. In it was found a card on which was the following initials and date: "C. E. W.—W. C. B. 10-30-19."

This was the method taken to announce the approaching marriage of Miss Clara Wicker to Mr. William Clyde Burns. Miss Moffitt graciously presented the prize to the bride-to-be. Dainty refreshments consisting of cream, cake, coffee and nuts were served.

A Birthday Gathering. Very nice all our little neighbors came to us at Rosedale Farm, Saturday afternoon to help us make merry on Frances McNeill's tenth birthday. We played for two hours in the big grove, then we washed our hands, and gathered on a screened porch picnic style around a long table. In the center of the table stood the two-story white birthday cake crowned with ten little pink candles. After being served with an abundance of creamed chicken in ranking, old fashioned pound cake, jelly-roll cookies, and white and pink ice cream, the cake was cut and a search was begun for the dime it contained. Edison McNeill received the lucky slice containing the dime.

Lester McGilvray also won a book in one of the little contest games. After cut down when we bid the last of our big and little neighbors goodbye and stood watching them go down the road, there swept over us a flood of thankful happiness that there were so many little children in our world. Lemon Springs, N. C.

Will Employ 80,000 People. The Director of the Census, Hon. Samuel L. Rodgers, announces that 80,000 enumerators will be needed to take the next census. The work begins on January 2 and will last about two weeks in cities, and a month or more in rural districts. Rates of pay will vary, depending upon the locality and character of the district to be canvassed. The average pay per enumerator at the census of 1910 was about $70. At this coming census it will probably be not less than $100.

Sanford Business College. Beginning next Monday night at 8 o'clock, the Sanford Business College will be open three nights each week—Monday, Tuesday and Friday. Instruction will be given in Shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Arithmetic, Commercial Law, English and Penmanship. Mr. Rogers is well equipped for the work. His school is located over the Lee Hardware Company's store.
