The New Voters

Probably twice as many people will vote in Lee county at the November election as have ever voted at any previous election in the county.

Every voter should resolve in the very beginning, however, that he or she will make his or her party a means and not an end; an instrument to be used and not an idol to be worshipped.

The Paramount Issue

It is now nearly a year since the League of Nations, as provided for in the peace treaty, was officially constituted.

The future of the League as a world government will depend upon the willingness of the United States to come in.

President Wilson says that the League in no way impairs the Monroe doctrine, and that there is nothing in it which in the least interferes with the right of Congress to declare war or not according to its own independent judgment.

The Chatham Record states that $2,500 worth of stock has been subscribed for a cotton warehouse at Moncure.

The Democrats are now waging an aggressive campaign in Lee county. Speeches are being made by leading Democrats in many of the rural precincts.

Everybody will be glad to learn that the temporary throat trouble from which Governor Morrison suffered a few days early last week, was not serious, and that he will be as thick in the fray as ever from now until November 2.

Farmers as a rule are sane and reasonable business men. Some of them are not. If the farmers who are now organizing to protect their own interests can only stay organized they may accomplish something.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

Big Democratic Majority Expected—Get Familiar with the Amendments—Absentee Voters Law—Cam Morrison Shelling the Woods

Correspondence of The Express.

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—The largest and most representative crowd of North Carolinians that ever assembled at the State Capitol once each year is in Raleigh this week in attendance on the State Fair.

The occasion presents a fine opportunity also to newspaper men to learn the humor of the people of the various districts and counties with regard to the political parties and their candidates.

As to Morrison and the State ticket, they all, with one accord, acclaim their admiration for the Democratic candidate for governor, who most of them have come to know better than they did in the days preceding the State primary.

GET FAMILIAR WITH AMENDMENTS

Every voter, as a good citizen, should familiarize himself (and herself) with the merits of the five proposed amendments to the constitution and vote for their adoption.

- 1. Give authority to the State to tax net income from all sources above exemption of not less than $2,000 for married man or widow or widower having dependent minor child or children, and to all other persons not less than $1,000.
2. To limit poll tax to not exceeding $2 for State, and for municipalities, $1.00.
3. To reduce rate of tax on property for general expenses of State and counties from 66-2-3 cents to a limit of 15 cents on each $100 worth of property.
4. To substitute a rule of one instead of two years residence in State and four months in precinct as qualification for voting.
5. To abolish payment of poll tax as qualification for voting.

ABSENTEE VOTERS LAW UPHOLD

In upholding the constitutionality of the absentee voters' law the State Supreme Court was unanimous. The argument of the counsel for the Republican candidate for the State treasurer who brought the suit, was that the soldiers had returned and there was no longer need of the law.

MORRISON BACK ON THE STUMP

Everybody will be glad to learn that the temporary throat trouble from which Governor Morrison suffered a few days early last week, was not serious, and that he will be as thick in the fray as ever from now until November 2.

NEW SCHOOL LEGISLATION

Special Session of Legislature Made New Provisions of Benefit to Schools

Reviewing the work of the recent special session of the North Carolina Legislature with particular reference to school legislation, State Superintendent of Schools C. E. Brooks says:

"The salary schedule adopted by the teachers at the Greensboro conference, providing for an increase in salaries based on efficiency and continued service in the same school was provided when the State tax of 13 cents was authorized by the finance committee. There was absolutely no opposition to it. More over, the counties and the capital tax districts were given sufficient latitude, either through a tax levy or through power to borrow money, to meet the schedule. Therefore, the school term in every district for 1920-21 may be maintained for the same length it was maintained in 1919-20."

"The second important enactment was a law authorizing the expenditure of about $30,000 of the public school fund to aid counties in which there is not a single standard high school. With this fund it will be possible to increase the number of standard high schools in the rural districts when they have complied with the requirements for a consolidation of districts and a levy of a special tax not to exceed 10 cents. Through this provision it will be possible to give substantial aid to several counties and strengthen very materially the high school work. The expenditure of this fund will be wholly in the rural districts of the weak counties where the taxable values are too low for the counties to provide such schools without a very high tax rate. So high schools aided out of this fund must provide for the teaching of vocational subjects such as agriculture and home making."

"The third important action of the general assembly was to authorize the State board of education to secure better supervision of the erection of new school buildings. The State board of education may expend an amount not to exceed $10,000 from the State loan fund, to be used for providing plans for modern school buildings, to be furnished free of charge to districts, for providing proper inspection of school buildings and for giving aid to cities, towns and districts in properly locating new school buildings."

"The State board of education was further authorized to spend not more than $5,000 of the public school fund in securing a better administration of the public school fund in the several counties of the State. Through this provision county superintendents and county boards of education will be given assistance in administering the public school fund and in properly accounting for the same."

French Care of American Graves

It is gratifying to the fathers and mothers of the soldier boys, who lie buried in the national cemeteries of France, to know that the graves are well cared for. A party, which included more than one hundred fathers and mothers of men who gave their lives for their country, who made pilgrimages to the graves of their dead with the intention of bringing back with them the mortal remains, have returned without them, fully convinced that they can receive no better care in America.

"The American graves in France are the most beautiful and touching sights any tourist can see."

The tender and loving care lavished upon the resting places of the American dead in France, is a beautiful illustration of the appreciation of the French nation of the aid that America rendered in a time of extreme peril, and these graves are an everlasting bond of union between the two countries, and few fathers or mothers, sisters or brothers, would care to remove from the beautiful resting places the inanimate forms of their loved ones, if they could but realize the tender care that is lavished upon them by a grateful people.

Yes you can have such a phonograph

Let us show you the Certificate of Authenticity which Helen Clark and Joseph Phillips have signed. This is the outstanding fact which comes to you out of the memorable tone-test recital given September 10th in Sanford.

You can no longer be satisfied with a phonograph that imitates. Now, you want a phonograph that equals the human voice.

You know there is such a phonograph. Mr. Edison made an astounding test with the Official Laboratory Model of the New Edison to prove it. Sanford heard the New Edison Re-Crete Helen Clark and Joseph Phillips' voice. So realistic was the New Edison performance that no one in the entire audience could distinguish it from the artists' living voice.

"The Phonograph with a Soul!"

You yourself can have such a phonograph. Let us show you exact duplicates of the Official Laboratory Model, which triumphed in the tone-test. Let us show you the Certificate of Authenticity, which the artists have signed, after inspecting these instruments, and in which these great artists declare that these instruments are the equals in every respect of the instrument used in the tone test.

Consider The Soy A few years ago the average farmer had never heard of the soy bean. This year some 200,000 acres are under cultivation in a single medium-sized state, says The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN "They grow 'em for seed. They sow 'em in the corn for silage. They feed the hay to the cows. They bake 'em and feed 'em to the children. They roast 'em and eat 'em salted like peanuts. They—" but why not read the whole story as Harry O'Brien tells it? Farmers hereabout seem to be divided in opinion about the soy bean. I've heard some of them say that they've no use for them and never will have.
