

The Sanford Express

Sanford, N. C., July 24, 1930.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

The Castle Construction Company, of Raleigh, has been incorporated to carry on the business of contracting and construction in all its branches. Authorized capital stock, $100,000; subscribed stock, $300.00 by W. R. Makepeace, Mable A. Makepeace, of Sanford, and Sam J. Castle, of Raleigh.

For the next few weeks many Sanford people will be away in the mountains, at the seaside or at other watering places on their annual vacation. Some homes will be closed and the cats and chickens will be looked after by neighbors. They will return by the first of September and things will begin to "pick up" for fall business.

People are constantly passing through Sanford traveling on foot over the highways. They include both young and old men and women and children. Families are some times seen to pass through almost in rags and in destitute circumstances. Mothers pass along leading small children. They seem to be wandering over the country with no abjective in view.

A large aeroplane came over Sanford last Sunday afternoon on its way to Fort Bragg. In distress it was forced to land in a cotton field near Broadway. Upon making an examination the man at the controls found that the oil pipe became clogged and would not function. The plane was badly wrecked, but fortunately the man at the controls escaped without injury. The remains of the plane were loaded on a truck and carried back to Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. York and children, who spent a week with Mr. York's people near Atlanta, Ga., returned the first of the week. Mr. York tells The Express that the best looking crops that he has seen this season are here in Lee county. He says the crops are very short in Georgia caused by the protracted dry weather. He says that it has not rained to amount to anything in some sections of that State since last winter. All crops are cut short.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Jones, who are at the head of Pineland College, Salisbury, have been in Sanford and Lee county for a few days on a visit. Before her first marriage Mrs. Jones was Miss Mollie Roberts, of Carabonton. She is collecting data for the purpose of writing a history of Carabonton, her old home section. A history of Carabonton from the time it was first settled by the early settlers who came into this section back in the days when North Carolina first became a State would make mighty interesting reading. Mr. and Mrs. Jones recently returned from Washington where they called on and interviewed President Hoover.

A few nights ago Mrs. Gordon Riddle dreamed that some one was making an attack upon her. When Mr. Riddle became aroused he thought that a burglar was in the house. Jumping out of bed with a pistol in hand and looking in the kitchen he thought he saw the outlines of a man standing in the shadows. He let drive and when the smoke had cleared away instead of finding a man lying on the floor in the throes of death, he found a gaping hole in the kitchen stove pipe through which a man could almost thrust his fist.

There are now only two Boy Scout Troops in Sanford. The following members of these troops attended the Boy Scout camp near Dunn, in Harnett county, last week: Bill Cook, Wilson Howard, Robert Howard, David Teague, Edward Griffin, Glen Griffin, Dick York. Those who are attending the camp this week from Sanford are: Bill Makepeace, Wilson Howard, Robert Howard, and Dick York. Forty-three boys, representing Sanford, Raeford, Fayetteville, Fort Bragg, Roseboro, Siler City and Dunn were in at Camp Bethune last week. The boys are having a great time putting on stunts and taking part in the daily programs.

Mr. Harvey Clayton, who spent most of the summer here with his family, left Tuesday morning for Douglas, Ga., where, for the next few weeks he will buy tobacco for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, of Winston-Salem. From there he will go to Greenville, this state, where he will buy tobacco for this big concern, and late in the fall the company will transfer him to Greenville, Tenn., where he will represent them on the market. He has been buying tobacco for this concern for a number of years and has the reputation of being one of their best buyers. Mr. Clayton was accompanied by Mr. Virgil Kennedy, who will keep books for a warehouse at Douglas.

The Lee County Fair Catalogue is now being gotten out by the Jones Printing Company. Two thousand copies will be issued and it is expected that they will be ready for distribution by the 15th of August. Some things that were in the catalogue of last year were eliminated and some new features added. Many good premiums will be offered for agricultural products and it will be worth while for the farmers and their wives to begin making preparation for the exhibits that they expect to have at the fair. Let the farmers and the business men co-operate and make this the best fair ever held in the county. Crops are going to be good and there will be no trouble in getting up attractive premiums for the fair. The fair will be handled with more system than ever before.

MONCURE NEWS.

Burglars visited the store of Hanon & Thomas again Monday night about 3 o'clock. They helped themselves bounteously to about $300 worth of the most valuable dry goods which they could carry away, consisting largely of silk stockings, shoes, suits of clothes, hats, and the like. Entrance was obtained by breaking the glass in the rear door and prizing off the latch at the bottom of the door. Boxes and part of the goods were strewn along their route of travel to the Highway in front of Mr. B. G. Utley's home. Sheriff Blair, together with deputies Cal Dezer and Lacy Johnson, are following up certain clues which they hope to lead to the guilty parties.

Misses Dorothy Lambeth and Emma Lee Mann made their reports of their trip to Louisburg Epworth League assembly in an interesting discussion Sunday evening. These girls, as well as Misses Lois Ray and Camelia Stedman, who reported Sunday evening before, are learning to acquit themselves in a very creditable manner, thinking and speaking on the floor without manuscript.

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.
