LIVESTOCK TRAIN STRATS AUGUST FIFTH

Sanford Will Be Visited on the Seventh Day—Tour to Last Three Weeks.

Every encouragement should be given the Atlantic Coast Line livestock development train that will make a tour of Eastern Carolina during the month of August, says Newell G. Bartlett, secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, who recently visited this section. There is no doubt about the amount of good that this train will do the section as a whole in convincing the average farmer that a few cows, chickens and hogs will add to his net earnings.

The train will open the schedule at Selma, Tuesday morning, August 5, at 9 o'clock, and will be in Sanford from 2 P. M. to 6 P. M., August 7th. At least 5,000 people should see the train at this point. The train will be equipped with amplifiers and loud speakers so that these speakers can be heard by 10,000 people out in the open. The best exhibits obtainable will be on the cars, and every phase of the educational side of well-balanced livestock program will be urged by the speakers. The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce is intensely interested in the success of this movement, and 100,000 is the goal set by the Officials that should see this train at the 37 points visited in Eastern Carolina. The train will go from Sanford to Red Springs and then on for three weeks covering two towns per day, closing the tour at Tarboro, August 26, at 6 o'clock P. M.
