PLANS ARE MADE FOR WHEAT CAMPAIGN

Machinery is being oiled at State College for the launching of a wheat reduction program affecting 23 important producing counties in North Carolina.

Dean O. I. Schaub, director of the College Agricultural Extension Service has assigned John W. Goodman, district agent, to take charge of the drive with headquarters to be at Salisbury. Meanwhile he said an intensive educational program will be set in motion to familiarize growers with the importance of reduction plan but no definite date has been set for the campaign's beginning in this state.

The adjustment program stipulates that the wheat producer agrees to reduce his wheat acreage as required for the crop years, 1934-35, but not more than 20 per cent of his average acreage during the three year base period of 1930, 31, and 32, in return for adjustment payments.

To sow his wheat in a workmanlike manner, the number of acres that, at his average yield for the 3 year base period, should produce the number of bushels allotted to him and upon which his benefit payments are based. To join the county wheat production control association and meet the requirements of its by laws.

Not to use the contracted 1934-35 acreage for any purposes except summer following; planting to soil improving or erosion preventing crops; for food crop, for home consumption, for feed crops for production of livestock products for home consumption.

Not to use the contracted acreage for the production of any nationally produced agricultural commodities offered for sale.

KEEP GARDEN GOING FOR THE FALL VEGETABLES

Most garden crops must be planted by the second or third week in August if they are to mature sufficiently for food before frost in the eastern and central North Carolina.

"There's an old adage of take a vacation yourself but do not give the garden one," says E. B. Morrow, extension horticulturist at State College. "There are a number of standard crops which might be planted now to provide fall vegetables and where the spring garden was hurt by dry weather it would be wise to make plantings as early as possible. A good fall garden is always possible in this state and should be planted."

Among the crops recommended by Morrow, snap beans have first place. They should be planted every three weeks up to within sixty days of the date of the first killing frost. This means that beans may be planted as late as September 1st in some parts of the State.

Beets prefer cool weather but may be seeded in August. The Early Wonder and Crosby Egyptian are two varieties which will mature ten days earlier than most of the others.

The Copenhagen Market and Jersey Wakefield are two nearly varieties of cabbage which may be set with reasonable assurance of a crop even at this late date. The cabbage must be grown rapidly, however, with applications of nitrate of soda given to promote growth. Cabbage worms cause trouble at this season and may be controlled by calcium arsenate or lead arsenate.

Cowpeas and turnips are two good old "standbys" in the fall garden. Success with turnips depends on a good seed bed and the land being heavily coated with well rotted manure. Give the main crop varieties, such as Purple Top Globe, 10 to 12 weeks to mature, Morrow advises.

TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED AT STATE COLLEGE

Question: Should all breeding birds in my poultry flock be tested for white diarrhea?

Answer: Yes. This testing is most important and should be applied to every bird possible. The disease is costing poultrymen of North Carolina thousands of dollars each year and every precaution should be taken to check its spread. Due to the large number of flocks to be tested applications for the work should be sent in as early as possible. Applications should be mailed to the state Veterinarian, State Department of Agriculture, Raleigh.

Question: Should pine lands be light burned to keep down the undergrowth of hardwoods?

Answer: No, these hardwoods act as an understorey for the pines and should not be destroyed. They will produce a crop of sound, straight hardwoods which will make a future harvest. If these are burned the undergrowth will be just a thicket of sprouting clusters, vines, and shrubs that use soil fertility without producing any marketable crop.

Question: When can cotton farmers sell the cotton taken under option from the government?

Answer: This cotton may be sold at any time before December first, providing the selling price is 9 1-2¢ a pound. After that time the cotton may be sold at any time regardless of price. The option expires on May 1, 1934, but may be extended upon application before that time and the payment of 40 cents a bale for each month the cotton is held after that time. This charge is to pay for storage and insurance.

BRIEF NEWS ITEMS

Twenty-five Catawba County farmers attended a terracing school held by the county farm agent last week to demonstrate the building of proper terraces.

Sales at the newly established curb market at Lenoir, Caldwell county, have averaged about $500 a month and are growing steadily.

T. T. Foster, of Blanche, Route 1, has dug his first trench silo for Caswell county and will use it to feed ten cows this winter.

Wilkes farmers are keeping cows and selling milk to the local cheese factory and say they would not give up dairying for any other kind of farming at present.

The recent rains in southern North Carolina have vastly improved gardens and the corn crop.

Litter on the forest floor blunts the teeth of erosion, helps to build up the fertility of the land, and is an argument against allowing fires to escape into the woodland.

H. C. Jones, emergency negro agent in Winston-Salem, reports the planting of 3,160 gardens by negroes of the city. The gardens have been well cultivated and the surplus vegetables will be canned.

W. Kerr Scott, of Haw River, was elected president of the North Carolina Farmers' Convention for 1934, and Mrs. Gordon Reid, of Union, Mills, Rutherford County, was elected president of the State Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs.

TWO NEW BULLETINS AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Two new bulletins, "A Study of North Carolina Dries," and "Sanitation Controlling Stomach Worms in Lambs," are ready for distribution by the Agricultural Experiment Station of North Carolina State College.

Prof. E. H. Rogers, associate agricultural economist of the college and author of bulletin 288, "A Study of North Carolina Dairies," points out that it is possible to conduct a dairy profitably in this state. Economical feeding and the use of labor are discussed at length.

Total costs and comparative tables are given in the bulletin.

"Sanitation as a Method of Controlling Stomach Worms in Lambs," bulletin 287, is written by Profs. Earl H. Hestler and John E. Fester, of the State College Animal husbandry division. The work was conducted on the State Experiment Station farms.

The authors concluded that: If the lambs are permitted to graze on permanent pastures that is infested with stomach worms throughout the growing season in the Piedmont region a large per cent will die if not drenched regularly.

Tables illustrate this study. Ewes that had access to winter grazing, Abruzzi rye and crimson clover, maintained their weight during the lambing and nursing periods while those kept on permanent pasture or in dry lots showed a slight loss in weight.

It is unnecessary to drench lambs that were grazed on permanent pastures, before June 1, however, from

CHEVROLET STILL AHEAD IN FIELD OF REGISTRATION

Registration of motor trucks in the first six months of this year, with only four states missing, show that Chevrolet has materially improved its position in the field as compared with previous years, according to H. J. Klingler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Co.

In the first six months of this year, Mr. Klingler states, Chevrolet had totaled 43.7 per cent of all truck registrations, as compared with 35.8 per cent in the same period in 1932 and against an average of 30.4 per cent in 1929, 1930 and 1931 combined.

"The increase in Chevrolet truck business is due to several causes," said Mr. Klingler. "One of the most important factors is the tendency of retailers to turn to lighter delivery equipment, which probably accounts for the very large increase in the sale of one and one half ton units. These comprise about one third of our volume. With lighter trucks the retailer's fleet can travel faster and at the same time effect considerable economies in costs, which has become very necessary in these competitive days.

Then, too, the merchants realize the advertising advantages of delivery equipment traveling in all parts of the country.

"The brewery revival has also been instrumental in bringing up considerable business. We have sold many units for both barrel and case delivery. Some of the fleets used for the latter purpose are in every way as pleasing in appearance as department store jobs.

"Because of multiple taxes on heavy equipment, truck operators are changing over to lighter units. They have found that Chevrolet trucks stand up in this service. The result is that they cost less and effect important economies. To sum the situation up, there is a general trend toward the light, strong, fast, economical truck unit."

In commenting on the rising proportion of Chevrolet truck registrations, in comparison to total registrations in the first six months, Mr. Klingler said that they were in keeping with the dominating position of Chevrolet car sales and registrations, which are far ahead of competition in its price class.

CHEVROLET'S JULY PRODUCTION LARGEST SINCE 1929

The largest July production since 1929, nearly doubling the output for the corresponding month last year, was achieved by Chevrolet when the company built 80,250 new cars and trucks in the month just ended, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced today.

This compared with 32,281 built last July and with 81,562 in June of this year, which was the highest production month since early in 1931, Mr. Knudsen said. The current July was the fourth largest July in the 21 year history of the company.

Not since 1929 has July production come as close to June as this year, Mr. Knudsen said, attesting to much less than seasonal slack, now being experienced by the company.

While some seasonal let up is bound to be felt in August, Mr. Knudsen said he hoped that the sustained high level of retail sales would enable his company again to effect a normal average decline from July into the coming month.

For the first seven months of this year the company produced more than 458,000 new cars and trucks compared with 394,000 for the full twelve months of 1932, the Chevrolet executive said.

MARINE RECRUITS

The Savannah Marine Corps Recruiting Station, located in the Post Office Building, will have vacancies for graduates of high school or from institutions of higher learning during the months of August and September, according to an announcement by Lieutenant Colonel A. B. Drum, Officer in Charge.

Men accepted will be transferred to Parris Island, S. C., for a few weeks intensive training before being assigned to some school, ship or Marine Barracks for duty.

The Marine Corps offers many educational advantages both scholastic and scenic. Some men are selected for aviation, radio and clerical work upon completion of preliminary instructions. Many are assigned to ships and stations in the United States, and a few to foreign lands.

Applications will be mailed high school graduates upon request.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:

Cost and Production Superintendent (Shoe Factory), $2,000 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1-2 per cent; Federal Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kansas. This examination is announced for the reason that an insufficient number of applications were obtained from the previous examination, which closed recently.

Steward (for filling the positions of Steward at $2,600 a year and Assistant Steward at $2,300 a year, less deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1-2 per cent; Federal penal and correctional institutions throughout the United States.

Junior Director of Social Work (Junior Warden's Assistant), $2,000 to $2,500 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1-2 per cent; Federal penal and correctional institutions throughout the United States.

Assistant Director of Social Work (Warden's Assistant), $2,600 to $3,100 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1-2 per cent; Federal penal and correctional institutions throughout the United States.

Full information may be obtained from W. L. Seawell, Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

KELLY FAMILY REUNION

At the home of the late Captain J. O. A. Kelly near Broadway a family reunion was held last Friday. It was the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Mr. Kelly who served with distinction in the Confederate army.

Mrs. Ned McLeod presided. She is president of the Kelly organization and presented a sketch of the early history of the family. C. P. Kelly, of Lillington, delivered the address on memorials. The McNeill quartette furnished the music and a most sumptuous picnic dinner was served. S. P. Kelly is the oldest member now living.
