THE Y. M. C. L. TOMORROW
 Mr. B. F. Finney Will Be the Speaker—Meets at 3 O'clock.

Those who contemplate attending the Young Men's Christian League tomorrow afternoon, at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, have a rich treat in store for them, as one of the South's gifted platform speakers is to address the League, in the person of Mr. B. F. Finney, Southern Secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. The League is to be congratulated on securing his services.

Remember the hour of meeting is changed to 3 o'clock, instead of 4, as heretofore. The exercises will be in charge of Prof. N. C. Newbold. The music will be furnished by the M. E. Church choir. The following program will be rendered:
 Anthem.
 Hymn No. 291.
 Prayer, Mr. C. G. Morris.
 Hymn No. 139.
 Scripture reading.
 Collection.
 Vocal duet, Miss Ada Rhodes and John A. Arthur.
 Address, Mr. B. F. Finney.
 Prayer, Mr. C. F. Bland.
 Hymn No. 147.
 Benediction, Rev. J. A. Sullivan.
 All the citizens, both ladies and gentlemen, are cordially invited. Remember the hour, 3 o'clock sharp.

Noted Speaker at St. Peter's Church

Mr. B. F. Finney, of Savannah, Ga., southern field secretary of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, left the city yesterday afternoon for Greenville, and will return today. Mr. Finney will speak at the 11 o'clock service at St. Peter's Church, on Sunday, and in the afternoon will give an address in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 3 o'clock.

Everybody should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear Mr. Finney tell of the work of this great organization.

Dr. Beaman Gives Up Work

The many friends of Rev. R. C. Beaman, D. D., formerly pastor of the First Methodist Church, this city, will regret to hear of his continued illness. He has been afflicted with rheumatism and is suffering to such an extent he is compelled to relinquish his work as pastor of Centenary Methodist Church, New Bern, until he fully recovers.

The A. C. L. Should Move Freight Quicker

The Atlantic Coast Line authorities should make efforts to handle their freight received at this depot quicker. It seems that freight arriving here at the noon hour, especially if there are several car loads, is not ready to be delivered to the merchants and business men until the next day. This is not only a great inconvenience but a hardship as well. If the railroad people are short of help they should put on additional clerks to meet the demands of their business. The idea of freight being received here one day at noon and not delivered until the next is a most ridiculous thing. There is no excuse for such a procedure, especially by a railroad as large as the Atlantic Coast Line.

This condition of affairs does not occur every day, but when it happens that several cars arrive loaded with freight for the merchants, one man has to do the checking, sign all the bills of lading and deliver the freight—an utter impossibility it seems to The News.

The Coast Line has always been prompt in delivering freight to the depot at Washington and they are entitled to better service.

FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 2.—Albert C. Wharton, one of the most prominent citizens of Forsyth county, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the head.

He left home about 1 o'clock and walked into a field nearby. Falling to return after an hour or more, the family began a search and found him lying in the field with a revolver by his side. He had been suffering from melancholia for several weeks. He was one of the most prosperous farmers of the county and a former member of the Board of County Commissioners.—News and Observer.

The deceased was the father of Mrs. Julius D. Grimes of this city, she accompanied by her husband, left for Winston-Salem this morning to attend the funeral.

JUDGING FROM APPEARANCE.

International Bible Lesson for Oct. 3, '09. (Acts 21: 17-22: 19).

FOR SOME years, while Paul was on his itinerant preaching, his foes were not able to do more than drive him from place to place by stirring up the populace against him, but at length their hour of vengeance came. Paul returned to Jerusalem, and as his custom was went into the temple itself to worship his God and the God of his fathers.

A Temple Mob. Now it was well known that Paul had taught that the Jewish rite of circumcision was no longer binding on Christians, that it amounted to nothing one way or the other, and on this visit to the city of Jerusalem, he had as associates some men who were known to have refused to submit to it. This was enough to kindle their smoldering wrath into a flame. Consequently when these zealots recognized Paul in the temple, they jumped at the conclusion that he had brought his companions into that Holy Place for the express purpose of showing his contempt for their faith and disregard of their feelings. Instantly the worshipping congregation was transformed into a howling mob. With shrieks and curses they rushed upon the peaceful intruder with the intention of assassination then and there. In their zeal for their religion they would have split the blood of the apostle upon the sacred pavement itself. But the Roman guard, embodied and authorized law, charged the howling rioters, rescued the prisoner, and dragged him away from the would-be lynchers to a place of safety. It was a narrow escape, and it was all the more dramatic from the fact that there was not the slightest reason for it; the whole thing was based on a misconception of the truth, a supposition merely. The enemies of Paul put this and that together, drew certain inferences, came to certain conclusions, and the mob was the result. Appearances were against him, that is all.

Mean Suspicions. But Paul was not the only man who has had to suffer through the mean suspicions of others. Since the world began, and society was organized it has been the lot of man to be subject to criticism, unjust and foundationless. Hearts have been broken, homes have been disrupted, and communities scandalized, by suppositions stated as facts, suspicions reported as verities, appearances, where evil is taken for granted, the evil existing only in the perverted mind of the disturber of the peace.

The writings of Christ and the apostles contain numerous warnings against unjust and baseless conclusions. "Judge not from appearances." "Do not judge by the eye, nor by the ear, nor by the flesh, for ye are not judged." "Charity thinketh no evil." With such warnings as these the Scriptures abound. Without any thought of the serious consequences likely to follow, reputations are torn into tatters, characters are blackened, and life-structures destroyed. It is not necessary to repeat a tale of suspicious appearances. A shrug of the shoulder may be all that is necessary, a wink of the eye or an arching of the eyebrow may be as damaging as an affidavit. When the avalanche is poised just off the balance a single movement may send it into the valley on its errand of destruction.

Quilted Woollen Cloth. In Paul's case, there was absolutely not a grain of truth in the accusation of his enemies. It was made out of whole cloth. He had not done, nor had he the least intention of doing, what they charged.

It was wholly manufactured. He was simply under suspicion, and being such his most devout acts were open to criticism and the subject of misinterpretation. His enemies were bound to impute evil to him whatever he did, and they only waited the favorable moment to fire the train which led to the prepared explosive. And though entirely innocent this temple riot resulted in putting the apostle under arrest, and making him a prisoner probably for the balance of his life. From that hour, he was in the grip of the Roman law, a grip which did not relax its hold until the headsman's axe liberated the spirit of the dauntless missionary of the cross. And it all came about, because, while this man was in the line of duty, some unknown, sneaking, suspicious, fanatical Jew started a cry one day in the temple at Jerusalem, that he had been polluting that holy place by bringing into it some unclean Gentiles.

Paul on the contrary was engaged in performing an old-fashioned, orthodox Jewish vow, for the express purpose of disarming suspicion and relieving the minds of those who had already begun to judge him by appearances.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Washington Homes.
 Hard to do housework with an aching back. Bring your hours of misery at leisure or at work.
 If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.
 "I would save much needless woe," Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.
 Washington people endorse this: Mrs. J. A. Arthur, 528 W. Second street, Washington, N. C., says: "For some time I have been suffering from dull, aching backaches and pains through my loins that I was hardly able to get around. There was a soreness across my right kidney and the least movement caused sharp twinges to pass through my body. It often seemed as if a knife were being thrust into me. My kidneys were disordered and greatly added to my distress. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box at the Washington Drug Co. and in a very few days their use gave me relief. I continued to improve until the pains through my back and the
