WASHINGTON, N. C., OCT. 19, 1909.

LET THE NEWS FOLLOW.

Part's leaving town should not fail to let the News follow them daily with the news of Washington fresh and crisp. It will prove a valuable companion, reading to you like a letter from home.

MUST BE SIGNED. All articles sent to the News for publication must be signed by the writer, otherwise they will not be published.

When wealth is lost, nothing is lost; When health is lost, something is lost.

When character is lost, all is lost. —German Proverb.

Behind words lie deeds; behind deeds qualities; behind qualities intentions, and the distinction between one man and another is the innermost ambition and the chosen attitude of the soul.

John Gould was a poverty-stricken, emaciated, shrunken man. He was a bookkeeper's errand boy at a salary of four dollars a month.

In a very small health villa, there were two beds, one on the same street. One boarded his carriage as he passed, and the first people to play on the lawn.

Public School Term. On the 19th of October, 1909, the public schools in Washington, N. C., will open.

Education is the very foundation of American civilization. Without it we can never hope to attain that high standard of citizenship we should.

The rural districts, as well as the towns, are fully alive to the need and have at last realized the grand work it is accomplishing.

to the front, believing a community to go forward, must be an educated community. The horizon seems freighted with sunshine.

There is one best paper in nearly every town. Several papers may be published there, but one will lead.

The fate of every community is more or less inevitably bound up in its leading newspaper.

The opportunities of some towns are greater than those of others, but within their possibilities there is no agency that can accomplish more for their advancement than an active and earnest newspaper.

The capacity of the local paper for accomplishing these desirable results is to a very large measure dependent upon the support accorded it by the community and especially by the business interests.

But advertisers should rid themselves of the notion that this support is in any degree a work of charity.

The live newspaper always gives the live advertiser value received.

A DAKOTA STORY. I was talking with a Dakotan the other day.

"Wonderful!" I repeated. "Good," he said, "I saw a Dakotan lately who had a dog."

Preventing baby clothing for autumn is one of the first duties that must be attended to when the summer is over.

When baby is ready to go out of doors, a careful mother will give special attention to his garments.

Even during months, care need not be laid aside immediately summer still begins if a close little lining of silk is used.

Out last night? Headache and nervous this morning? Hicks' Capoline is the thing to fit you for business. Close the deal.
