STATE NEWS

Condensed Items of Interest Happening Throughout the State.

United States Marshal Dockery has returned from Elizabeth City and Washington, where Federal courts were held. There was only one important case on the docket, and this was continued. It is a case in which the charge is made of using the mails for a big scheme for swindling, ordering goods sent, giving bonus references, etc., like the Rivenbark case some months ago. It will be remembered in the latter case that young Rivenbark was convicted and sent to the Atlanta penitentiary, where he is now. Another man, named Russell, who gave fraudulent references, using the name of a well-known Raleigh firm, then in business, was also convicted and sent to Atlanta for a couple of years, served his term and recently died in Virginia. Raleigh correspondence.

W. D. Shaw, the white man, who was sent to the road here for two years for the murder of a woman in this city for a murderous assault on his wife in last May a year ago, is today a free man, having been freed on Sunday as the result of a pardon granted by Governor Kitchin on Saturday. The pardon was granted as the result of a petition signed by the wife and a number of residents of this city, who requested his release on the facts that he was necessary to the support of his family and several other reasons. The man was serving a two-year term and had about six months longer to serve. Once during his confinement he attempted his own life by cutting the arteries in his arm.—Raleigh Record.

John Way, the escaped convict, who voluntarily gave himself up to Sheriff Jones last Thursday with a request that he be allowed to serve out his unexpired term, is now "hard at work" upon the Guilford county roads, serving a compromise sentence of 30 days. Way was sentenced in 1902 for twelve months, but escaped after serving six months of the time, and after wandering from one end of the country to the other he settled down, got religion and decided to do the right thing, so gave himself up.—Greensboro News.

The Glenwood Knitting Mill, owned by Mr. C. M. Bernard, located in Glenwood, was entirely consumed by fire yesterday morning. The mill, which was a small one in a frame building, was engaged principally in the making of hosiery. How the fire started is not known. The property was valued at about $2,000, and it is learned that the loss was almost entirely covered by insurance. When the place was discovered to be in flames it was impossible to check these and the entire plant, was burned.—News and Observer.

One of the most unusual phenomena which we have ever seen occurred Sunday afternoon near the corner of Hancock and Pollock streets. In a space of about one hundred feet around the corner, rain was falling out of a perfectly clear sky. Nowhere else in the vicinity was there the least sign of any rain and fall. This is one of those unexplained elemental disturbances which sometimes happen for which there is no explanation.—New Bern Journal.

Early Saturday night a man asked Lawrence Norcott, colored, to go with him to the express office to get a package which he wanted delivered. Lawrence went with the man as requested, the package, which contained a gallon of liquor, was turned over to him and he started away to deliver it at the place designated. It seems that somebody overthrust for a drink saw Lawrence leave the express office with the package and followed him. When around on Cotnach street going toward Third street, Lawrence was almost stunned by a brick striking him on the head and cutting his head severely. He turned around to see why he was thus attacked when he saw a man a short distance away throw another brick at him, who aimed his shoulder. Lawrence got out his pocket knife in the effort to defend himself when a third brick struck him a heavy blow on the side, cutting off his breath and causing him to drop the package. His assailant grabbed the package and fled.—Greenville Reflector.

DEATH AT PINETOWN.
Pinetown and community were saddened Sunday afternoon when the news went forth that the death angel had visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hoyt, and snatched from their midst their son, Adlai, aged 17 years. He was loved by all that knew him; kind, sweet disposition, a smile and pleasant word for all; he will be greatly missed, not only by the grief stricken family, but by the entire community. "Tis sad to lose one so loved, and at such a time even religion often fails to give consolation, but soon the agony passes and the blessed thought comes to comfort us that the one who has vanished from mortal vision has only gone before, to wait and welcome you to the heavenly home, where the circle of love and kindred shall never be broken, where no death chill shall be felt, where no farewells shall be taken, but each shall live for each throughout the ages of eternity. The deceased leaves a father, mother and a number of brothers and sisters.

Guard Negro to Prevent Lynching

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 18.—Two hundred soldiers and policemen are guarding the city prison here to prevent a mob from seizing and lynching Charley Goodwine, who shot and killed Mrs. George Harris, the wife of a cotton broker last night. The negro declares the shooting was accidental, but immediately after Mrs. Harris fell on a crowded street, fatally hurt, a mob seized Goodwine and started to lynch him. Twenty policemen, summoned by a riot call, took the negro from the mob before he had competent leaders. The black mob is held in the strong city prison and every policeman in town, with two companies of State militia and the adjutant general, were placed to guard him. At 5 o'clock this morning the negro was taken to the city jail. After Mrs. Harris died, a mob of the men attempted to get the negro by strategy. The soldiers prevented onsets and the order was shouted to charge any persons crossing the line.

Goodwine declares that he was aiming at a negro who had taken his woman. Mrs. Harris died early this morning.

I am the only merchant in the town who gives an Insurance Policy with every suit I sell. That Insurance Policy is issued by The Royal Tailors of Chicago and New York. It is made out in your name, signed by the President of this great tailoring concern, and it comes tagged on to your Royal suit when I deliver it to you.

The Policy insures this to you: That your suit will satisfy you in every respect; that it is absolutely All Pure Wool, with not a thread of cotton in it; that the trimmings and materials are of the best; that the Woolen has been fully shrunk before it left the Royal shops, so that it cannot shrink on your back; that the suit will look good, not for a day or a month, but will hold its Style and Fit until completely worn out.

And on top of that, mind you, this Insurance Policy says that if the suit falls short of the guarantee, you need not accept it or pay a penny for it.

What's the use of taking risks in your clothes buying when you can get a guarantee like this?
