UTILIZES SAW MILL WASTE.

A [illegible] to convert the waste of saw mills [illegible] wrapping paper and fibre board has been invented, which [illegible] Southern [illegible] its mills at Bogalusa, La., and has begun [illegible] that will [illegible] dollar [illegible] The company first [illegible] from the raw material [illegible] pulp in the process. This pulp is then worked up into wrapping paper and fibre board. The latter [illegible] will largely take the place of lumber for making boxes and crates. It is made in any thickness desired, and tests have proved that possesses greater strength and durability than the timber used today for this purpose. It can be sold much cheaper than lumber. A box factory is to be operated in connection with the new enterprise.

The company figures that the byproducts secured from the raw material will yield a return sufficient to more than cover the cost of reducing it to pulp. This means that the company can manufacture wrapping paper at a cost no other mill can approach. The capacity of the Bogalusa plant, which will be in operation about July 1 next, will be 50 tons of paper every 24 hours. The mill is being constructed with a view to increasing the product to 100 tons a day as soon as practicable. A feature of the process is that any soft wood can be used.

Another mill will be erected next year at Hattiesburg, Miss., as the company has closed a contract for the refuse of the saw mills operating in that vicinity.

The company is negotiating with a dozen big lumber companies who are figuring on putting in plants of their own on a royalty basis.

COLONEL MOSBY.

Every now and then it is the sad duty of the press to record the death of some well-known leader of the Lost Cause, but it is a far pleasanter thing to announce the fact that some are still living to a hale and hearty old age.

Among the latter may be named Col. John S. Mosby, who has just passed the seventy-sixth milestone of life in good health and surrounded by his friends.

While there were perhaps greater military leaders than Colonel Mosby there was in the entire Southern army no more striking or picturesque figure than the leader of the famous "Mosby's guerillas," a band of picked cavalry whose special duty it was to flit like a bird from one part of the scene of hostilities to another, here, there and everywhere, now making an unexpected attack upon the enemy's flank, now cutting the line of communications, and always a source of almost supernatural dread to the Northern armies.

Though small in numbers his command was a picked body, and so great did its prestige become that we are told that young men in the regular Southern line would resign commissions to accept places as privates in the guerillas. It is also said that they never carried rifles, but trusted to a brace of horse pistols and their abilities as marksmen.

But this is of the past; the present fact is that Colonel Mosby is still enjoying good health at a ripe old age.

HOW TO MAKE HENS LAY IN WINTER.

A farmer has some Leghorn hens running about his place during the spring and summer, and the women folk had raised quite a number of pullets. Down at the barn he had a sort of a side loft, in which he had stored a lot of oats in the bundle. The hens, and the pullets, as they matured, and as the season grew colder and the outside forage was cut off, took to working in the oats up in the loft, for their daily bread. They had kept this going for some time before our friend noticed it, then he noticed collections of eggs in the nests in the various troughs at the stables and was wondering what had charmed the hens up to laying so.

He was [illegible] and practical [illegible] the Leghorns [illegible] oat loft, and seeing them [illegible] the nests, singing, [illegible] he soon came to [illegible] said to his [illegible] "I'll keep them at it [illegible]"

[illegible] had a stack of [illegible] in the corner [illegible] with fresh oats [illegible] all the winter.

It was in February—nearly March [illegible] told me about it, and he [illegible]

[illegible] farm sketch [illegible] It necessarily take a bunch of Leghorns to lay at a good profit in winter. Under such conditions any good, healthy lot of hens or pullets will do it. The farm flock will do it. Your flock and mine will, and their feed need not necessarily be oats either. But the situation, and the incentive to scratch for the grain, and to happy contended conditions of the flock must be developed [illegible]

AS TO "SPURNING."

[illegible] George [illegible] Seawell [illegible]

Now if Mr. Seawell is half the [illegible] people believe him [illegible] he would spurn the offer after the unpardonable treatment he received at the hands of the President last spring.

Whoever heard of a North Carolina Republican spurning an office that had a salary? The only thing Seawell spurns is the fellow who keeps him from the pie counter.

One thing that aspirants have all agreed upon, and that is to skin Skinner and annex it themselves.—News and Observer.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.
I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors, or Growths; also pains in head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney, and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in young Ladies, Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust.
